minimum of time marked him for an end. Smith carrying the ball on end around is the most effective wide play against an opponent. Smith and Howard Bears on the defensive ends make a combination no team has solved this season.

Stephen Woodin plays a steady game at right end, and keeps his place through sheer nerve and fight, as he weighs only 128 pounds. Woodin's grit is undefeatable.

Malden LeRoy is playing his second season at tackle, and can be depended upon to open a hole for a smash and to stop any plays on his side of the line.

Leonard Kendall at left tackle is improving steadily as the season progresses and will give Lebanon plenty to worry about on her line plays.

LeRoy Heston plays a good game at tackle or guard, his grit and fight making up for his lack of weight. Heston has a tradition to live up to, his uncle having been an All-American center.

Royston Lacey is a valuable man anywhere in the line, from end to guard, and can be depended upon to take care of his man wherever he is. Lacey has the fight and determination that guarantee a man a place in the battle.

Landa Gillette, the 145-pound center is the surprise of the season. His light weight in pounds, however is more than made up in the weight with which he hits an opponent. Gillette has time and again saved his team many yards by a cannon-ball tackle that stopped the play right where he hit it.

Among the reserve forces for replacements are Floyd Bailey, Harold Isham and Eugene Murphy, all of whom have shown ability in games this season. Bailey has an unaccountable ability to keep his feet while running with the ball and is not afraid to leave his feet to dump an opponent if a team-mate has the ball. Isham will develop into one of the best open field runners seen here, his sharp dodging in the Cottage Grove game showing his capability. Murphy plays hard and is dependable.

Others who will develop into first-string players for next season are Harold Lundburg, in the line, Ernest Calhoun, a mid-line player, Arthur Close, a back, and Waldo Baker, an end. These men deserve a share of whatever credit is due the regular eleven for their faithful "sticking to it" through the season has helped make possible the victories of their comrades.

Discuss Oil Plans—

A delegation of men from Medford came over this morning to discuss oil prospecting operations with people here who are interested in the development of possible oil fields in the Rogue valley. It had been expected to hold a meeting here of interested parties, but the Shrine doings being the whole thing just now, the meeting will be held at some later date.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mashburn returned this morning from their trip to St. Louis. They spent the past week in Portland and enjoyed the festivities of the Shrine ceremonial. Mr. Mashburn says it is amazing to see the rush of business in all sections of the country through which he traveled.

Surveyors Are at Work—

Dan McFarland, surveyor, is now in charge of the work of making the cross-section survey for the gravity ditch below town for the extension of the line from the Golden Drift dam. As soon as the survey is completed, bids for the work will be called for.
