PROPAGANDA OF THE RADICALS

The sending of one ship load of radicals out of the country, and the rounding up of 5000 others with the assurance that they will follow in the wake of the soviet ark, brings to attention the efforts constantly put forth by this element to break down the government.

While there was, according to the U. S. attorney general, no adequate law for dealing with these propagandists, or one that will suppress the journals that are published to carry their doctrine throughout the land, the federal authorities now seem to have found a most satisfactory solution to the problem. Deportation puts the viper at a distance and his poison becomes impotent. What is this doctrine that has brought the wrath of a nation down upon the 'reds'? Here are a few gentle utterances taken from newspapers published openly throughout the United States during recent months, and distributed through the mails:

From an anarchist publication: "The senile fossils ruling the United States see red. Smelling their destruction, they have decided to check the storm by passing the deportation law affecting all foreign radicals. Do not think that only foreigners are anarchists. We have a great number right here at home. Deportation will not stop the storm from reaching these shores. The storm is within, and very soon it will leap and crash and annihilate you in blood and fire. Deport us! We will dynamite you."

From an Italian publication in New York: "Will you be meek and slavish? Will you remain under the iron heel of your masters? Or will you tear your way by the revolution to a better and happier life?"

From a socialist paper published in Wilmington, Del.: "Onward against the economic, political and religious tyranny. Workingmen, arise! Have no pity. Long live socialist Russia! Long live the social revolution!"

From a Chicago I. W. W. organ, printed in German: "Until our demands are complied with, we caution the bosses and the present rulers of America, that there will be no peace. We will strive for a revolution and we will carry it through to the end, until every remembrance of you is obliterated."

From a Ukrainian socialist paper in New York: "Welcome to the heroes of communism on this great day! Welcome now, European comrades, carriers of the red banner of the revolution. Down with capitalism! Long live social revolution! Long live the dictatorship of the proletariat!"

From a socialist paper in Boston: "The working class must organize for the purpose of waging unceasing warfare against the capitalist class and its instrument of oppression by any action that has for its object the overthrow of the political state of the master class and the substitution of the dictatorship of the proletariat."

From a Hungarian I. W. W. publication: "Brothers, take out your red cards, and fight with us for an industrial republic. We must take possession of the instruments of production. Seize industry with all that belongs to it. We must put an end to private ownership."

From a New York bolshevik paper: "The real cause of the war was the damned trinity, law, ownership and state. Down with law! Down with ownership! Down with the state! Let this be the death of the three-headed monster. Live anarchism! It is in anarchy that humanity will find happiness and eternal well-being."

From an Italian publication in New York: "Will you be meek and slavish? Will you remain under the iron heel of your masters? Or will you tear your way by the revolution to a better and happier life?"

Utterances of that character go beyond the limits of free speech, and are the cause of the assassinations of presidents and of attempts upon all our institutions of authority.

Recently several airplanes were moving over the Circle, and the usual crowd had stopped to watch them. An old woman in the crowd began counting. "One, two, three, four, five," she counted. "Five of those things."

Then she turned to the man nearest her. "Did you ever see the like?" she asked. "Five of those things. Why, pretty soon the atmosphere here will be just lousy with them."—Indianapolis News.

Oiling Machines.
Many women oil their own machines frequently and carefully, as they should, but they forget to put a big drop of oil once a month in each end of the treadle. The machine runs with one-third the expenditure of effort if this is regularly done.

SCHOOLS OF ALASKA ARE MAKING PROGRESS

Cordova, Alaska, Jan. 5.—Schools in Alaska, with few exceptions, are in excellent condition and the educational outlook in the territory is exceedingly bright, according to L. D. Henderson, superintendent of the Alaska schools, who recently returned to Juneau from a trip through the territory. Alaskans seem to be united, he said, in making the schools as effective as possible.

While in Fairbanks, Mr. Henderson visited the site of the Alaska Agricultural College and School of Mines. "The college building is a well-constructed, carefully planned structure," he said. "I hope that in the near future a flourishing school will be in operation."

"Business conditions in the interior and to the westward, while still suffering to some extent from the depressing effects of the war, are by no means discouraging," he said. "Many communities, while temporarily somewhat depleted in population, still display evidence that they have solid backing."

NORMAL FORCE NOW OPERATES

When asked concerning their plans for the future.

"We are going along as usual, making and selling steel," say the employers in answer to a similar question.

W. Z. Foster, secretary of the national steel strike committee, is in charge of headquarters here, and receiving reports from organizers in all parts of the district, who are charged with the duty of preventing desertions.

Another section has been organized to provide food for needy strikers and their families. Canteens have been opened, and every week food is distributed. As the strike lengthens the number of persons in need of relief increases, but officials of the committee insist they have met every call made upon them.

Efforts to obtain the exact number who are still out have been unsuccessful, as the strike leaders have been unable to determine the exact number of men who have entered other industries, the number who have returned to their old places in the mills, or the number who have returned to their native lands. Their best calculations, however, place the number still on strike at more than 100,000.

This position is supported by leading independents who declare that the unskilled labor situation in the industry is serious, and men for this class of work are hard to find.

The Carnegie Steel Company, however, has no complaint on this score, its records for the third week in December, the last reports available, showing 51,000 men on the payrolls as against a normal force of 52,600.

Meeting of strikers now are permitted if sanctioned by local authorities.

FISH AND GAME DISCUSSED

should be most deeply interested in.

Representative Sidler received a telegram from the governor Sunday urging upon him the importance of the meeting at Salem today, but Mr. Sidler answered that business would prevent his attendance. A delegation from Medford and Ashland passed through the city last evening en route for Salem to be present at the meeting. Senator Thomas, a member of the senate fish and game committee, was with the delegation. He stated that the people of the southern portion of the valley wished Representative Sidler to again introduce his bill of the last session, the same measure as the one vetoed by Governor Withycombe. This bill would prevent the use of seines on the Rogue. Thomas also stated that a constitutional amendment was to be presented closing the Rogue to commercial fishing. It is evident from the drift of discussion that a crisis has been reached in the Rogue question, as well as in all matters pertaining to fish and game within the state.
