WHERE ESKIMO IS SUPERIOR

Home Life Declared by Stefansson to Be Practically Ideal—Hospitable in the Extreme.

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, in writing of his 13 months' stay among the Eskimos, tells of their great kindness to a guest who could not pay for his keep, says Harper's, a stranger whose purpose among them they did not know, thus:

"In an Eskimo home I have never heard an unpleasant word between a man and his wife, never seen a child punished nor an old person treated inconsiderately. The household affairs are carried on in an orderly way and the good behavior of the children is remarked by practically every traveler. "In many things we are the superiors of the Eskimo and in a few we are his inferiors. The moral value of some of his superiority is small. He can make better garments against cold than our tailors and furriers; he can thrive in barren wastes where a New Englander would starve.

"But of some of his superiority the moral value is great. He has developed individual quality further than we, he is less selfish, more helpful to his fellows, kinder to his wife, gentler to his child, more reticent about the faults of his neighbor than any but the finest and best of our race.

"When I tried to express thanks for their kindness in my fragmentary Eskimo, they were more surprised than pleased.

"Do, then, in the white man's land, some starve and shiver while others eat much and are warmly clad?"

"To that question I said 'No,' although I knew I was lying. I was afraid the competitive system could not be explained to them satisfactorily; neither was I, being the poorest among them, very anxious to try justifying it."

Halt a Stricken Country.

Haiti's many revolutions have sadly interfered with the normal life of the people. On the trails of the country districts one passes a never-ending stream of women—mile after mile and nothing but the female of the species—most of them with baskets on their heads.

BATTLE BETWEEN TOOTH PASTES

Who Will Settle the Argument. Let Your Druggist Be the Referee

It must be perplexing to the reader to decide which of the claims are logical and which are unsupported when he reads the glowing advertisements of the various manufacturers of Tooth Paste.

One maker's product lays stress on the flavor. Another claims to "remove the film." Still another leaves a "clean-feeling." Another calls attention to the teeth of wild animals and is reputed to be highly antiseptic.

After reading all carefully, the intelligent person decides to refer the matter to the court of last resort for the true answer. The Druggist is the one whom the physicians and dentist relies upon to furnish expert advice on the action of chemicals. Why, therefore, is he not the person for you to trust? Long years of patient training and a knowledge of the relative value of the various ingredients in all chemical products have fitted him to express an opinion. He knows because he is qualified to know.

Something over 28,000 druggists and physicians in this country belong to national association known as the American Druggists Syndicate. The national formula committee of this great association met annually in conference for 10 consecutive years in order to select the best formulas for household remedies to be manufactured in their own great laboratories maintained at Long Island City.

One of their well known preparations is A.D.S. Peredix Tooth Paste which has been endorsed by leading dentists in every state of the nation. Your druggist will tell you that it enjoys a fast repeating sale and its claim as a perfect product is briefly stated when he tells you that "besides doing all that any other tooth paste can do, Peredix whitens like peroxide."

Large production of this remarkable preparation enables you to still purchase the large tube at the old price—25 cents. Try a tube today and be convinced.
