

The Fears that Haunt the Fireside

Three great fears walk with men from their work to their homes and sit with them by their firesides at night. They break rudely into conversations of husbands and wives, causing sudden silences. They thrust themselves between the faces of men and their little ones with quick stabs of apprehension. Three gnawing fears:

- the fear of loss of health
- the fear of the loss of the job
- the fear of dependent old age.

But these fears can be banished forever. The way is simple and plain. One thing can offset a decline in earning power, and that is money. Open an account in this strong bank. Save a part of all you earn and deposit it here for safety. Diligently create a competence and then face the future unafraid. Thus may peace and contentment fill your life.

DUTCHMAN RIDICULES AMERICAN CONDITIONS

Amsterdam, Feb. 23.—An unflattering view of America is given in an interview in the Amsterdam Telegraaf by William Oudegeest, widely known in labor circles, and leader of the Dutch labor party, who recently returned from attending the international labor congress at Washington.

Among other things, according to the Telegraaf, Mr. Oudegeest found that in the United States:

Politics are at this moment on a level with those of 1849 in Holland. Economically, America has got to the stage of 1886.

In the light of culture the American still lives in the 18th century.

"One gets the impression," the Telegraaf quotes Mr. Oudegeest as saying, "when he is in America, that he is in the closing days of nobility, when the peasants thought their noble lords the only things of importance in this world, but with the difference that the bankers and great business men take the place of the junkies and barons."

"General education is very low. People do not read."

ADVERTISEMENT FOR CONSTRUCTION WORK GRANTS PASS IRRIGATION DISTRICT

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Directors of the Grants Pass Irrigation District at their office in the Court House, Grants Pass, Oregon, until 11 a. m. February 24, 1929, for the excavation and construction of 16 miles canals and laterals, and six miles sub-laterals, including approximately 43,000 yards, excavation; 650 lineal feet of flumes, bridges, conduits, turnouts, pipe lines and other structures; also the furnishing and installation of four pumping plants.

For particulars, address Tom R. Pearce, Project Engineer.

Proposals for any or all schedules will be received but the Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Signed, GEO. A. HAMILTON, Secretary.

Flu Situation Improves—

The flu situation locally has taken a turn for the better today, with the quarantine restrictions removed from 18 homes, and with fewer new cases than on previous days. If the improvement continues for the next few days, the schools will no doubt open again next Monday.

Changes Location—

Mrs. Moss has now changed her office to 208½ North Sixth street, in the Public Service Building, being three doors north of her former office. 06

In Lowden's Interests—

Geo. D. Orput, of Portland, is spending a few days in the city in the interests of the candidacy of Governor Lowden, for the presidency of the United States. Mr. Orput states that he is finding much Lowden sentiment in Oregon, and he confidently predicts the nomination of his favorite.

Collins and Climate Hit Medford—

Benjamin M. Collins of Grants Pass, the well known former Medford and Jacksonville man, arrived in the city last night, shook and stomped the snow off himself in the Holland lobby and without a blush calmly wrote after his name on the register the slogan "It's the Climate."—Medford Mail Tribune.

Poor Outlook for Fishing—

P. H. Daley, fish and game warden of this county says that he has never seen the Rogue river as low as it has been lately during his 30 years of life in the valley. The water is clear as crystal. Unless there is a lot more rain and a heavy fall of snow in the mountains within the next month or two the outlook for salmon and steel head fishing is very dubious as the big fish don't run when the water is low. There will be plenty of sport, however, for the amateurs in catching the little fish, as the river is still full of them. —Medford Sun.

Leonard Vines Passes Away—

Leonard Jarvey Vines, of Leland, aged 34 years, died at the Good Samaritan hospital, in this city, early this morning. He was stricken a week ago with a mysterious attack that seemed to affect his brain, though he had so far made recovery that he was out of the hospital yesterday. He was later taken suddenly worse, and died in a short time. He was a single man, and leaves a father and mother and one brother and three sisters. The brother and one sister are at Leland, the other sisters residing in Montana. He arrived here from Montana about three weeks ago. The funeral will be held at the Hall Chapel at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon, with interment at the Granite Hill cemetery, with the services conducted by Ensign Stranglin.

Troubles, Troubles, Troubles

We borrow most of our troubles. We anticipate them and worry; we imagine all kinds of dire calamities; we see fate just around the corner, ready to smite us with the bludgeon of failure, but when we turn the corner we find that fate has not even touched us. We fret and fume to no purpose and waste our energies.
