THE REMEDY FOR UNREST

The world's only salvation from the social and economic chaos from which it is now emerging is work, says Former Premier Clemenceau, with his customary gift for thrusting through non-essentials to the heart of a problem.

Unfortunately there are too many people, even in the United States, who seem to think that the world is to be saved by quitting work.

There is another large class of people who seem to think that the world can be saved by talk.

If everybody of every class would simply buckle down and do a real day's work six days a week for a few months, the whole situation would change like magic. Increased production would make the necessities of life so much more plentiful that prices would fall automatically.

Moreover, honest, hard work, steady but not exhausting, would of itself help to drive away the brooding fancies and smoldering grudges that have been poisoning the minds of too many laborers and capitalists. Imaginary wrongs would right themselves, and it would be easier to remedy whatever real wrongs exist.

Plant a "pickle-bush"

Of course, the small boy meant a cucumber vine—but, just the same, the idea is good. You can easily raise the most tempting table-delicacies, right in your own yard. It's just a matter of making a selection of Morse's Seeds—always dependable—readily available.

Five cents a packet at grocers, florists, drug and hardware stores, etc., everywhere.

If Your Child Has a Cold, Cough, Croup—

YOU CAN'T BEAR to see your baby strangling and struggling with croup, or an older child in the paroxysms of whooping cough, or suffering with a distressing cough that strains and racks the whole body—as a so-called "common cold" often does. Neither can a careful mother bear to give a child a medicine which she fears may contain morphine, chloroform or other harmful drugs. Fortunately, the problem is solved for such mothers by

Foley's Honey and Tar COMPOUND

It is just what children ought to have for feverish colds, coughs, "snuffles," and that tight, wheezing breathing. It stops croup, too. It eases and checks whooping cough, moccles cough and bronchial coughs.

Grateful Father Tells What It Did W. E. Curry, 130 Up 6th St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "I have a little girl 9 years who has a good deal of trouble with croup. I have used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, giving it to her according to directions, and obtaining instant relief for her. My wife and I use it whenever bothered with a bad cold or cough, and I will say that it is the best remedy for a bad cold, cough, throat trouble or croup that I ever saw." Parents who use Foley's Honey and Tar know it is safe and no harm will come even if an overdose should be given by accident. It tastes good and children like it. It won't upset the delicate stomachs of young children, delicate persons or elderly people.

SOLD EVERYWHERE

Ford THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford truck is just another arm and hand to the business man, adding through its manifold usefulness to the possible volume of his business, and at the same time doubling the value of every hour.

Another Hand for Business

In so many ways its all round utility serves the urgent demands of business—big and little—the retailer and wholesaler, the manufacturer and consumer, the contractor and farmer. Everywhere where business exists there is a present want for Ford trucks. Consider the price $550, without body, f. o. b. Detroit. Let's talk it over with you.

C. L. Hobart Company

Read what a great authority in the shoe world had to say regarding

Edmond's Foot Fitter

"From Chicago we next visited Milwaukee, and saw a most wonderful development in the boot trade, and came against the most striking and unique proposition we met in the States in connection with our trade, a firm doing a turnover of twenty-four hundred pairs per day, and making only one boot (men's) on one last, of one material, one color (a kind of chocolate) cut by one pattern, one finish, and sold at one price. This is the most pronounced instance of specialization we saw in the states. It must have taken some courage and pluck to embark on it, but the venture has proved successful. It has taken on, and a large factory is in course of construction to meet the constantly increasing demand for this boot. I felt constrained to take off my hat to Mr. Edmonds, the principal, as he personally piloted us through his works."
