Famous Woman Astronomer.

Caroline Herschel stands out as if in protest against the theory that woman's gray matter is inferior to that of man. She was the daughter of Isaac Herschel a musician of Hanover, Germany. Her brother William came to England to seek his fortune. Caroline followed him to Bath in 1758. In time William turned his attention to astronomy. Guiding the favor of George II, he became the greatest astronomer of the age. For forty years he pursued his investigation of the heavens at Windsor, his sister Caroline his chief assistant. She discovered seven comets by means of a telescope which her brother prepared for her use. In 1798 she published a "Catalogue of the Stars," subsequently a "Catalogue of Nebulae and Star Clusters." In 1828 the Astronomical society's gold medal was given to her. She died at the age of ninety-seven years.—Chicago Journal.

Blood Turned to Water! They Gave Her Up

Oakland, Calif.—"A relative was poisoned, her blood turned to water; the doctors gave her up, said she could never be cured. She finally took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery which cured her. We consider it a miracle. I have had six operations which left me in a nervous state, with loss of sleep and appetite. I commenced using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets. My general health commenced to improve after the first bottle. I took six bottles and was cured—gained 30 pounds. I wish to give Dr. Pierce the very highest endorsement for his remedies."—MRS. MAE TRUDOW, 4024 Sutter St.

Blood Thin Kidneys Weak

Marysville, Calif.—"I needed a tonic; my blood was thin, I was run-down, my back ached, my kidneys were weak and digestion was so bad that I could not even drink milk. I remembered that mother had always depended on Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, so I decided to take it. In a short time I was greatly benefited. I continued taking it and was a well woman."—MRS. J. S. BARKER, 219 8th St.

There is but one way to have good health, and that is to put and keep your stomach in good order. This is easy to do if you take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a wonderful tonic and blood purifier, and is so safe to take, for it is made of roots and herbs and is without alcohol. All druggists. Liquid or tablets.

Electricity in Pathology.

There is much yet to be learned about the pathological effects of electricity, though a step toward better understanding was made during the World war. In the use of charged fences, it was found that the applied 1,000 volts might be fatal in some instances, and without serious action in others. Preparedness for shock often caused the results to be harmless, while unexpected exposure gave fatal effects. Experiments confirmed this. In other experiments differences were shown by different currents, a direct current producing simple shock, and an alternating current giving rise to epileptic symptoms. Victims of shock are often only apparently dead, promptly applied artificial respiration bringing complete recovery.
