

Cash Vanishes

Cash vanishes before you realize it. Gone forever—often spent on impulse—rarely a receipt—never a record.

Though your income be small, a checking account is the best way of caring for it. A pass book and check book are ready for you here. Will you not accept them?

Granddaughter Gives Sensation—

An article was published in the San Francisco Chronicle concerning the mild sensation the five-year-old granddaughter of C. N. Boynton of this city, is creating in the Bay City. Although she is still very young, Baby Boyington is giving public performances playing on the huge orchestral organ at the California theater, the largest moving picture house in San Francisco. The organ on which she plays, is said to be the largest in the world. The child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boynton, were married here about eight years ago. Mrs. Boynton is a famous organist and Mr. Boynton is one of the southern cities' best known organ builders.

Didn't Like Trails—

Christ Mertens returned yesterday from Gold Beach, where he spent several weeks looking over the country for a location. Mr. Mertens' home is in Massfield, Wash., where he says they have good roads. The transition to the mountain trails of Curry and Coos counties did not prove very alluring to Mr. Mertens so he got out in the quickest way possible. When he came over the mountains from the coast there was about a foot and a half of snow, he says, and they were forced to get out with shovels.

HALF-SOLE ABUSED, RUN FLAT, OVERLOADED, WITHOUT RIM HOLD—YET TEN MEN CAN'T PULL IT LOOSE.

A Half-Sole, carrying double its normal load, was run flat—not even a tube in it—for six miles, and there was not the slightest separation. Ten men couldn't pull the Half-Sole from the carcass. In another test the Half-Sole was trimmed off the rim, put on by AMALGAMATION process and run 1500 miles without loosening at any point.
