JOIN THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The chamber of commerce proposes a membership campaign. Such a body as the commercial organization of a community should not need membership campaigns to bring into it those of our citizens who ought to belong, and whose patriotic duty it is to belong. But experience teaches that it is necessary in every locality, and as it is both a necessity and a custom, Grants Pass must follow the usual custom, and stage a membership campaign. There are 140 of our citizens now members of the chamber of commerce. There should be a membership of at least 400. An energetic campaign to cover the period of a week should find the membership at that number when it is completed. Many most excellent citizens will not take the initiative in the matter, and await the coming of the solicitor. The solicitor is coming. Get ready for him—or beat him to it.

The local chamber of commerce has not been hearing its work with banners and brass, but it has been an active and an effective organization just the same. Its board of directors has had many meetings at which matters having to do with the public welfare have been forwarded and brought to issue. It is rather a thankless task, but one which the public spirited must perform. When a community comes to the point that it will not give support to its commercial organization, it is well on the way to the civic cemetery. But there is no question about the results that the contemplated membership campaign will produce in Grants Pass. The spirit of the people is right. When they are all enrolled under the banner of civic progress, there will be an awakening that will surprise the natives. There is strength in numbers, and every man is needed. Get into the firing line. Don't stand back and criticize the shooting of the fellows who are doing their level best, and who are hitting the bullseye oftener than you think. They are ready to turn the gun over to you if you want, but there must be men to man the guns.

Many Crews at Work—

W. A. Moore left this morning for Yoncolla to oversee some work being done there by the Shattuck construction company. Mr. Moore states that the company now has three crews at work on the roadbed of the Southern Pacific in Oregon, and one in California. The three Oregon camps are located at Yoncolla, Isadora and Divide. They have 45 mules and equipment on the job in each place, the work being the reshoulder of the roadbed. The Shattuck company has the contract for the repair or maintenance of the road from Fresno to Portland, work being started last year. A crew is now at Roseburg, Calif. It is expected that the work will continue all summer.

LADIES' CIRCLE HAS PLEASANT EVENING

The Ladies' Progressive Literary Circle of the West side has adjourned to meet again in the fall at the call of the president. An entertainment was given by the circle ladies Wednesday evening, June 16th, at the home of B. C. Hydon, 415 West G street, to which their husbands and a number of friends were invited. About 45 guests were present.

The greater part of the program was devoted to music, the opening number being an instrumental solo by Mrs. Harry Powers. Others who entertained the company with music were Mrs. Grant Orme and children, Lewis and Katherine; Miss Dora Hydon and her grandfather, H. C. Hydon, and Mr. Champlin. An excellent paper, written by one of the circle ladies, Mrs. Arthur Lanfear, who is now in the east, was read by Mrs. Lewman. Recitations by Mr. Wiley, Goldie Leroman and Margaret Carlson. An interesting history of the circle by Miss Ellen Lomas. The humorous part of the program was ably handled by Mr. Champlin.

The chairman of the refreshment committee was Mrs. J. D. Wurstaugh, who was assisted by the hostess, Mrs. Hydon, also Mrs. Willmarth, Mrs. Morrison and Miss Lomas. Other members of the circle who assisted in various ways were Mesdames Champlin, Chailson, Alfred, Dukes, Metzger, Masaker and Cole. Sandwiches, pickles, cake and coffee were served.

ECUADOR HAS FEW SCHOOLS

Colleges in South American Country Out of All Proportion to Primary Institutions.

If the proportion of whites in the population of a country is to be taken as an indication of its intellectual status, then one might fairly expect only a very moderate intellectual achievement from Ecuador. One of the smallest of Andean countries, with its few mountain towns linked with the rest of the world practically not otherwise than through its one important seaport, its entire population is only about 1½ million, and of this number all are Indians and blacks excepting the four hundred thousand of mixed origin and a mere one hundred thousand whites.

At best, the twelve hundred primary schools, with a nominal attendance of eighty thousand, do not begin to account for all the children of school age, and the thirty or forty secondary schools have to do with no more than forty-five hundred pupils, all told.

Like all Andean countries, however, Ecuador gives preference to all who assume to follow a professional career, and for higher instruction she counts the three universities of Quito, Guayaquil and Cuenca, with six provincial schools of trades and professions.

Officers Copy d'Annunzio.

Gabriele d'Annunzio's bald head has set the fashion for the officers of his little army in Fiume, many of whom have shaved their craniums and are endeavoring to grow miniature Vandike beards as copies of the poet's chin adornment.

The Fiume aviators have adopted the craze with greater zeal than other branches and call themselves "Iron Heads." Youthful officers in their teens and early twenties have shaved their heads and are wearing little pointed beards in an effort to look as much like the poet as they can.

Mixed uniforms of French horizon blue and Italian gray green are worn by d'Annunzio's men with great pride.

Increase in Japan's Coal Output. Shipping and Engineering notes with interest that the output of coal in Japan during the first 11 months of 1919 was put at 25,825,000 tons, showing an increase of 2,740,000 tons, or about 10 per cent, as compared with the corresponding period of the previous year, in spite of the pessimistic reports made from time to time of the gradual exhaustion of the mines. This was attributed to the revival of old mines and the increase in the number of new mines, owing to the profitable prices obtaining, although the output in Kyushu, which constitutes 60 per cent of the total output, did not materially change.
