FIREST PERRY FEED

The latter part of July finds us in the season most dreaded by those whose duty it is to guard and preserve the forest.

The forestry department is making even more strenuous efforts this September to prevent the blaze from gaining headway.

You may think a little fire will not harm much of the timber you surround you; you may even think burning off a little brush will help.

We must care for the forests of our great-grand-children, for a time when the forest is today's blaze would not harm will have fallen to decay.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Henry G. Hanson

Mrs. Henry G. Hanson, nee Marion Alice Gale, passed away Monday morning, July 26, at 11 o'clock. The cause of her death was bright's disease, with which she had been afflicted for over two years.

Mrs. Hanson was born June 1, 1874, in Palmyra, Wis. Most of her childhood days were spent in La Crosse, Wis., where she attended the public schools, graduating from La Crosse high school in the class of 1895.

After a year spent in associated charitable work she married Mr. Henry G. Hanson on October 18, 1906. Since then she has adorned the name, she with her husband serving fields as follows: Two and one-half years at Marion, Mont.; three years and eight months at Conrad, Mont.; a year of post graduate study at Auburn, N. Y.; one year and three months in the Fourth Presbyterian church of Portland, Ore.; nine months at Astoria, Ore., and the last 11 months in Grants Pass.

Although her life she has been known for her deep faith, wholesome spiritual nature, fostered by a steady, joyful, abiding faith in her Father in college she was a member of the Y. W. C. A., acting throughout the greater part of her course. As the mistress of the house, she not only joyously made the home a place of peace and attractiveness, but entered with zeal into the work of the church where she lived.

Her public services were extensive especially in two directions. The first was toward the young people. They were always welcome in her home, and she always had an open ear to their joys or their sorrows. Until her sickness prevented her she almost constantly taught a Sunday school class, but her heart was especially with the boys and girls of high school age, with whom she felt peculiarly at home. Many a problem, serious or joyful, secular or spiritual, did they bring to her for solution.

Her second interest outside the home was World Missions. During her years in Portland she was not only interested in the local missionary society, but took a prominent part in the Portland Presbyterian society of which she for several years was first vice president.

Although gone from the bounds of that Presbytery she continued as one of its vice presidents to the time of her death. Up to the last she maintained her deep faith and concentration her unflinching contemplation of the future. For her religion was the natural part of every opportunity of life. For her the Father was real until the moment came.

She leaves to survive her the husband, Mr. Henry G. Hanson of Bethany Presbyterian church of Grants Pass, to whom she was in the broad sense of the word a real helpmate for nearly 23 years, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lathrop F. Gale, who are making their home at the home, a sister, Mrs. T. F. Ludwig of Whiteville, Ind., and a brother, Charles J. Gale, of Charleston, Wisc. The funeral services will take place from Bethany Presbyterian church, Grants Pass, on Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock, with interment at Grants Hill cemetery. It is requested that no flowers be sent.

Spy "Policeman" Gets Results

Electricity to Locate Metal

The idea of using current transmitted through the earth as a means of locating metal ores is familiar, the belief being that the greater conductivity of these metallic regions can be clearly indicated, and the area mapped out, says the Scientific American. The location of all deposits, which according to the Electrical Review is now being investigated electrically, presents a serious problem.

In this case the insulating properties of the oil beneath the current, and all-bearing regions are detected accordingly. In view of the great depth to which it is often necessary to bore for oil—of that only rarely coincidentally with an almost infinite area above—the method would seem to have possibilities in dealing with surface oil tracts.

That Decided Him

George was in a dependent mood. "Dar, Mabel, dear," he said, "marriage is out of the question just now. You seem to have forgotten that I'm a poor clerk on a meager salary."
