FRENCH FIND HUGE GRAFT

Buyers of Army Supplies Discover Cases Full of Baby Clothing.

ASTOUNDING revelations of graft, amounting into millions of dollars, in supplies shipped to the American forces overseas during the war have just been made in taking an inventory on goods bought by the French from the United States.

A full mile of cases marked "bottles of ink" or "canned food" were found to be camouflaged, only the top layer of each containing cans of food or bottles of ink. The rest of the cans or bottles were empty.

More than 50,000 cases of baby underwear, baby socks and baby bonnets were found, and the French are wondering what the Americans intended these for. Hundreds of thousands of pairs of "woolen" underclothes were found to be cotton of the poorest quality, while a vast number of cases designated as containing clothing were either empty or filled with a jumble of material in the worst possible condition.

It is estimated that it will take more than five years to sell the stocks piled up at the Glevos depot alone. Meanwhile, due to the insufficiency of stocks to handle the stocks, millions of dollars' worth of supplies are rusting and spoiling.

RUSS "SET STAGE" TO GIVE PROSPEROUS AIR

Moscow Made to Appear Busy to Deceive the English Visitors.

An attempt to make Moscow look a busy and prosperous city during the visit to that city of the English labor delegates is told by the Lettish information bureau, whose press bureau at Riga has a special correspondent attached to the peace delegation in Moscow.

"The various institutions in soviet Russia had for a long time been busy in making preparations for the reception of the English labor delegates in order to show them Russia in attractive colors," says the correspondent.

In Petrograd where, as a rule, almost no people are seen in the streets, all the officials were ordered to take part in the reception. Theatrical representations and grandiose banquets were organized with the participation of actresses from the Mariinski and Alexandrovski theaters. The delegates were taken to Moscow in a special train, accompanied by Tcherkess soldiers in bright uniforms.

In Moscow, the day before the arrival of the English delegates, all the papers published strict orders issued by the military and civil commissaries setting out what everybody had to do and how to behave. On May 17 the tramway service in the city was suspended, all the cars being taken to the neighborhood of the Nikolayevsk station, where, gayly decorated, they moved to and fro, trying to convey to the visitors the idea of busy traffic.

In the station all the motor cars from Moscow were mobilized, even the highest commissaries having to walk. On May 18 a parade was organized, but no private persons were allowed to be present. This is the way the bolsheviks organized the tragedy-comedy of the communistic paradise in order to deceive the English visitors as to the real state of soviet Russia.

WOULD SEND STEEL ROCKET TO MOON

The moon is the latest field selected for the planting of American rockets. This time Professor Goddard comes to the fore with a steel instrument (which he is shown holding in his hand) capable of traveling at an average speed of 8,000 feet a second in exploding gas. With a rocket of this kind the professor believes he will have little difficulty in landing a message on the moon.

As It Seemed to Her.

Dorothy was taken to see the circus. She was very much interested in everything, especially the acrobats. On returning home she was excitedly giving an account of what she had seen, ending up with: "And there were some people flyin' in the air with their bathin' suits on."

Would Please Him.

Lindsay had the little hen fast and was trying to bring her head close to the ground. "What might you be trying to do?" exclaimed her father coming upon the small girl in the yard. "I'm trying to make this hen say her prayers." "Well," said the parent sadly, "I hope she'll say: 'Now I lay me.'"
