HUGO

Wednesday morning the Shattuck Construction company unloaded about 80 mules and have established camp west of the depot and are now crowding the work of grading for the lengthening of the Southern Pacific passing track. We understand when completed this will be one of the longest sidings in Southern Oregon, being of about 74 cars capacity. George Moldt left Thursday morning for Chicago to join his family and visit relatives.

RELIC GIVEN MR. PAGE

An ancient umbrella stand and hat tree, used in the corridors of the capitol in the forties, has been found and restored by clerical workers in the house of representatives and presented recently by them as a wedding anniversary gift to William Tyler Page, clerk of the house. Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, John C. Calhoun and John Quincy Adams, who served in the house after he was president, are some of the notables who used the tree. On it now rests an ancient woolly topper once worn by "Uncle Joe" Cannon. Mr. Page will take the relic to his home in Lexington, Ky.

Possible End of the World.

The earth has rotated at its present rate ever since it first took shape out of a molten mass. The centrifugal force constantly generated by its motion has produced a swelling all around the equator 13 miles thick. If the motion were suddenly stopped this bulge would collapse under its own weight, and as its ramifications pervade the structure of the continents all the land of the earth would be carried down with it. The seas would flow away from the equator and deluge the lands near the poles. Volcanoes would burst out at weak spots, and the whole earth would become a land of fire.

Broad Street Once a Canal.

Broad street was once a canal. New York city was taken by the English in 1664, and their first map, called "The Duke's Plan," after James, duke of York, the brother of King Charles II, to whom his royal brother most kindly presented the city, and who changed the name from New Amsterdam to New York in his honor, shows little change from that of 1642, according to the Merchants' association. In the year 1672 the English filled in the old canal and made the present Broad street by dragging down the red sand from the higher ground along Broadway and Wall street.
