A PLACE TO VOTE NO

The casting of the ballot under our form of government is a privilege, though a privilege that duty says we should meet. The American voter ought to go to the polls and cast his ballot because of the privilege rather than because it is a legal requirement. There is upon the ballot to be determined by the electors of Oregon next Tuesday a measure that would make voting in this state compulsory. A compulsory ballot would really defeat the purpose of the right of franchise guaranteed under the constitution, for while we might lead the voter up to the trough, there would be no assurance that the ballot he would cast would be either a wise one or one that would give the real thought of the nation. Some people are too ignorant to cast an intelligent vote. Let them stay at home. Others would vote all the isms of the catholicism if led up to the ballot box by the nose, taking out revenge upon authority by this means. The better way will be to educate the people in the duty which they owe their country, the duty of making a study of the ballot, its men and its measures, and then casting an intelligent vote. Compulsory voting would be un-American.

TOMBS THAT ARE INDIVIDUAL

Resting Places of Chinese Rulers So Constructed as to Reveal Character of Occupants.

At the Tung Ling, or Eastern Tombs of the Manchus, nature has worked hand in hand with man to produce a harmonious whole, writes Roy Chapman Andrews in Asia Magazine. Most of the trees about the tombs have been planted, but they have been so cleverly chosen and placed that they look as if they had grown just where, in nature's scheme of things, they ought to be. There is nothing glaringly artificial in the appearance of the park.

Although the tombs are alike in general plan, they are at the same time as individual as were the emperors themselves. Each is a subtle expression of the character of the one who sleeps beneath the yellow roof. The tomb of Ch'ien-Lung, the artist emperor, lies not far away from that of the empress dowager. Stately, beautiful in its simplicity, it is an indication of his life and deeds. In striking contrast is the palace built by the empress, for her eternal dwelling. Extravagantly decorated, vaingloriously declaring to the world the millions spent upon it, it represents admirably the personality of the iron-willed ruler who in life held her place by force and intrigue and lavish expenditure and who was determined to be known, even in death as the greatest of the great. But a hundred years from now when Ch'ien-Lung's mausoleum, like the painting of an old master, has been made even more beautiful by the touch of age, that of the empress will be worn and tarnished.

Flattering. Modern photography appears to be an art that enables us to see ourselves as others do not see us.—Boston Transcript.

GRANTS PASS PLEASED

BY QUICK RESULTS
Everyone is pleased with the quick results of simple witchhazel, camphor, hydrastis, etc., as mixed in Lavoptik eye wash. One man's eyes were so badly strained he could not read without pain. Two applications relieved him. A lady with weak, inflamed eyes was greatly helped by ONE bottle. We guaranteed a small bottle of Lavoptik to help ANY CASE weak, strained or inflamed eyes. Public opinion is a fickle thing. Did you ever notice how many cocksure candidates retire from politics after an election.
