EVERY COMFORT OF MODERN FLAT IS PUT ON CHASSIS OF TOURING CAR

George L. Wilder, a retired cabinetmaker, has devised a scheme to beat the landlord, and at the same time see a little of the country. He has constructed a home on wheels and from now on intends to migrate with the birds. The "flat for four" is built on the chassis of a touring car. There is a parlor, a bedroom and a bath, kitchenette and toilet as well. Running water, screened windows and every comfort of a modern flat. There is also a refrigerator that will take care of the ice and vegetables. It has everything. The photograph shows Mr. Wilder, his daughter-in-law, Mrs. H. G. Wilder, and G. B. Wilder, his grandson. Mrs. Wilder has started the evening meal on the gas stove.

SIMPLE PLAN TO PREVENT KNOCKS

Annoyance Found in Old-Model Automobiles Caused by Too High Compression.
GASKET REMEDIES TROUBLE

Composition-Board Device Raises Engine Cylinders and Eliminates Annoyance—Less Wear and Tear Thrown on Bearings.

Owners of old-model automobiles are annoyed by a knocking which occurs under a light load. This usually sounds like a carbon or advanced spark knock, while as a matter of fact too high compression is the cause. Perhaps the most simple method used to reduce high compression is by removing the cylinders and placing a thick gasket between the cylinders and the crank case.

How Scheme is Worked. Remove the cylinders. Place them on a bench, cleaning both flange and engine base thoroughly. From a sheet of flat tin make a template, which must be an exact reproduction of the base of the cylinders, except that all the openings, such as piston and bolt holes, are about one-eighth inch larger than those in the cylinders. The template is used as a pattern for marking out and forming the cylinder-raising gasket. This method permits the gasket to be made without the necessity of placing it under the cylinder after each operation to see that it is right. A copper asbestos jacket cannot be used as a pattern, because sufficient clearance is not afforded.

Procure a sheet of red composition board one-quarter inch thick, then, using the template as a pattern, mark out the cylinder and bolt holes and the outside form on the composition board, using a gasket-cutting tool, as shown

A Composition-Board Gasket Will Raise Your Engine Cylinders and Eliminate High Compression and Other Engine Knocks. Into place, as shown in Fig. 2. Care must be taken not to use too much shellac. By this means the cylinders are raised, resulting in a larger compression space and, of course, less compression is created. Further, the engine will pull much better and less wear and tear will be thrown upon the engine bearings. It will be necessary to readjust the valves after the job has been completed.—Ronald L. Prindle in Popular Science Monthly.

WOULD SELL HIMSELF

Jack Hardy, former sailor, now living in a hall bedroom in New York, has offered to sell the remainder of his natural life for not less than $3,000 cash. He is only twenty-two years old. He says he wants to turn over the $3,000 to the woman "who has been all that a mother has ever been to anyone. I am in no way legally obligated to her, and at this moment she is in no great need of the money, but my conscience points a duty."

The Public and the Telephone Company

In spite of the fact that a great majority of the telephone using public thoroughly understand the rights, duties and obligations of public service companies, we find now and then an individual who does not understand the matter.

A telephone company, in its broadest sense, is a partnership consisting of the State as an institution, the public as a group of customers, and the company. The State determines the extent to which the company may go and regulates its rates, services and practices. The company furnishes the facilities with which these rights are exercised and the services rendered. Those members of the public who constitute the customers, furnish the revenue with which the company is enabled to perform these services. No telephone company can exist without customers, and these customers must be treated with fairness both by the company and by the State. The State does not permit any undue burden to be placed upon a customer.

A public service corporation, in a broad sense, is merely an organized right to render the public a service, and in the same larger sense the service belongs to the company's customers. It follows that the customers are really the company. What benefits or harms the one has a like effect upon the other.

We are anxious that our present customers, applicants for service, and the company shall be treated fairly. To continue to extend our service under our present condition is impossible. We invite our customers, the public of Oregon, to interest themselves in our problem.
