A Thorough Test

One to Convince the Most Skeptical Grants Pass Reader

The test of time is the test that counts. Doan's Kidney Pills have made their reputation by effective action. The following case is typical.

Grants Pass residents should be convinced. The testimony is confirmed—the proof complete. Testimony like this cannot be ignored.

Mrs. J. Boesch, 209 Foundry St., Grants Pass, says: "I can never speak too highly in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills for I have never found anything equal for backache and kidney trouble. Since taking Doan's Kidney Pills I am bothered but very little with my back or kidneys."

The above statement was given March 20, 1916, and on March 24, 1920, Mrs. Boesch said: "I am glad to repeat all I said in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills. I have had no return of kidney trouble and always recommend them to anyone I hear speak of kidney complaint."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Boesch had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Old Saw Traced to Cervantes.

"Dead men tell no tales," was one of the many wise old saws in the immortal "Don Quixote" of the greatest of Spanish writers, Miguel de Cervantes (1547-1616), sometimes translated as "Death is deaf." The words "Dead men tell no tales" also occur in a poem called "The Pilgrim of Glencoe," by the Scottish poet, Thomas Campbell (1777-1844). "Dead men bite not," is an old saying, long current in Scotland. In Holland and in Germany they say "Dead dogs bite not." "That dead men rise up never" is a line from "The Garden of Proserpine," by the English poet Algernon Charles Swinburne (1837-1900). The meaning, in whatever form, is obvious enough: That when a man is dead, he is dangerous to nobody.

Sources of Dickens' Names.

It seems surprising that the name of Dickens' characters, odd though they were, should be found in real life; for it was from life that many of them were taken. Some, as is known, were copied from the names of signs over business places; but that was not the novelist's only source of selection. John Forster, his biographer, found among his papers, a carefully drawn list of names, with the sources from which he obtained them. Some of the names are too extravagant for anything but reality: Jolly Stick, Bill Marigold, George Muzzle, William Why, Robert Gospel, Robbin Scrabba, Sarah Goldsacks, Catherine Two, Sophia Doodday, Rosetta Dust and Sally Gimblett.

Salt May Be Cause of Cancer.

Dr. Joseph De Stephano has recently advanced the theory that the use of salt may be the cause of cancer, and he quotes some instances that seem to indicate that such is the case. Some other physicians however take issue with him and the statement is made that in Italy where salt is eaten in great quantities there is very little cancer.

Heart Trouble Not Fatal.

Heart disease is not the barrier to an active life of usefulness as has always been supposed, said Dr. Frederick Brush to the National Society for the Promotion of Occupational Therapy. Nothing is gained and much lost by telling cardiac patients not to work, not to carry, not to play, and so on. Under proper supervision the person with heart trouble can take a large part in active life.

Washington Shaft Country's Tribute to Her Great Son

The two great monuments in the United States, of the many hundreds that have been erected in all parts of our country, are the Bunker Hill monument, in Boston, dedicated in 1843, a shaft to commemorate the beginning of our fight for independence, and the Washington monument, at Washington, erected to the memory of him who had been most instrumental in bringing about the result.

For 30 years after Washington's death the project was, every now and then, suggested, but nothing definite happened until September, 1833, when the Washington National Monument society was formed, with Chief Justice John Marshall, then 73 years old, as president. It was not until three years later that advertisements were inserted inviting designs from American artists.

An effort was made to secure the funds by popular subscription and by 1847 $87,000 was in hand and preparation for construction was begun. Congress, by resolution, granted a site where the monument now stands and the cornerstone was laid on the Fourth of July, 1848, in the presence of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the government, foreign ministers and officers and a vast concourse of citizens from all parts of the Union.

The work of erection progressed steadily until 1854, when the shaft had reached a height of 156 feet and had cost $300,000. The treasury of the society now being exhausted, a memorial was presented to congress asking it to take action in the matter. Politics in the government prevented a ready response and it was not until 1850 that the society was given a formal charter.

The Washington monument was finally finished in the winter of 1884-85, and it was decided to dedicate it upon the anniversary of the birth of the man to whom it had been erected. Consequently, on February 22, 1885, there were impressive ceremonies at the national capital, when the monument was turned over to the nation.

The formal presentation of the monument was made at the base of the grand obelisk, but owing to the raw, cold weather that existed the dedication ceremonies proper took place in the hall of the house of representatives.
