'GIANT' KEARSARGE PASSES AS WARSHIP

Naval Wonder of Spanish War Days Becomes Only a Plodding Craneship.

Launched amid the Spanish war stir of 1898, the old battleship Kearsarge, then expected to revolutionize naval warfare, has passed out of the fighting line of the navy without ever having fired a gun in anger. The big ship, a giant of her own day, was thrust aside long ago as a naval "freak." Memories that lurked in her historic name, proud imaginings of her future that filled the press at her launching, could not save her. She is to become "Naval Craneship No. 1," a peaceful, plodding handmaiden to the fighting craft of today and tomorrow. Beside them she will be almost a pigmy ship. At League Island navy yard the old ship of the line is being stripped of war gear and military trappings. Guns that have fought only mimic battles are going to the scrap heap. The great superimposed turrets that housed them—a new word in naval architecture when installed—are being torn out. Cage masts must go by the board. Steel walls of the conning tower will disappear. Much of the side armor will be stripped away, and only the hull and engines will be left. On this base will rise a monster electric crane capable of lifting 250 tons. To support it the ship's sides are to be bulged to a beam of 92 feet amidships, as compared to the 72 feet of her fighting days. The lifting machine will be used to hoist aboard modern battleship sections of the three-gun turrets for 16-inch rifles, which weigh 200 tons, and the great rifles themselves. Proceeding under her own power, the former Kearsarge will go from yard to yard as needed, being used where no shore crane of sufficient size is available. She will have storage space on deck for two complete three-gun turrets and haul them to destination as well as swing them into place. Merchant sales books at Courier office.

NO "EASY MONEY"

Term Is Used as a Joke Among Real Financiers.

Great Wealth Seldom Gained Without Actual Hard Work, as Men in High Position Know.

The Ponzi case in Boston affords an excellent example of the need of a better understanding of the principles of thrift in this country. S. W. Straus, president of the American Society for Thrift, says:

It is very rare that great wealth is gained overnight. There have been occasional instances where men have found gold or struck oil or written a successful novel, or brought into being a great and useful invention, with the result that the floodgates of money have been turned loose for them; but such instances are of such rare occurrence that they can be eliminated as not within the range of possibilities for the average man.

The processes of thrift must be fulfilled in the preparation of a successful financial career.

The so-called Napoleons of finance generally meet very early Waterloo. Success in the material things of life means a slow but substantial upbuilding. First of all, the foundation must be right, just as it must be in the case of a great building.

The practice of thrift in the early years of one's life not only gives one money with which to make a start, but it gives what is even more important—business understanding. In practicing thrift, we are accumulating one of the essential functions of business success. This does not mean that through thrift alone one can build up a great fortune, but it does mean that in gaining whatever success we attain in life in a material way we must first of all learn the principles of true economy.

The fate of Ponzi and the luckless ones who are striving to regain the money they entrusted to him is just another example of the fallacy of easy money.

Something cannot be created from nothing. New capital alone must come from what is earned and saved.

If you are employed on a salary your profits are what you save, not what you earn. What you have left at the end of the month or at the end of the year constitutes your new capital. If you wish to get ahead, to get out of the rut you now feel you are in, you must build up that capital; you must create new wealth for yourself and put it to work for you.

These are the only processes through all the ages, and the only ones through which one ever will succeed in ages to come.

Historic Tennis Balls.

A historical fact that was impressed upon the minds of children of a past generation was that a certain king was playing tennis when he was told he had to ascend the throne of England. It may bring back to some the remembrance of schoolroom days when they hear that two tennis balls have been found among the dust and cobwebs of the old rafters of Westminster hall. They are said to date back to the time of Henry VIII, who was an ardent player of the "royal game." The balls are made of leather and stuffed with human hair, all balls of an early period being made in that way. The leather has burst in several places and faint traces of white may be seen on the surface. The balls are not both the same size, one being two and a half inches in diameter and the other only an inch and a half. Whom was King Harry playing with, and did he feel impatient when he sent the balls spinning into the rafters? It was not lawn tennis then.—Christian Science Monitor.

Saving European Children.

Work among the starving children of Europe is being participated in by the Young Women's Christian association of the United States through the Polish Gray Samaritans, the Polish-American girls who trained for social service in Poland under the American Y. W. C. A. and are now with the American Relief association in charge of the distribution of food to children in outlying districts of Poland. According to recent letters from them, they are feeding 1,900,000 children a day, through the food kitchens and distributing stations. The Y. W. C. A. is one of the eight organizations in the European relief council formed under the direction of Herbert Hoover for the relief of European children.

Forced to Return to Coal.

The oil-burning engines of the Canadian Pacific railway in the Canadian Rockies are now being converted to the use of coal. It is expected in a short time all the engines running west from Field, British Columbia, to Vancouver will burn coal instead of oil. The Canadian Pacific steamers in the British Columbia coast service also will be converted into coal burners. This is due to a shortage of fuel oil.

Needed Investigation.

An appropriation of $85,000 has been authorized to the bureau of standards for the investigation of measurements of public utilities, such as gas, electric light, electric power, water, telephone, central station heating and electric railway service and the solution of the problem arising in connection with standards in such service.
