LATINS FAVOR THE AIRPLANE

South America Wild Over Flying, Ac-cording to Opera Singer Just Returned From Tour.

South America has caught the aerial fever hard, according to Madam Grace Fjorde, just returned from a grand opera circuit of the Latin-American republics.

"In Lima, where I sang in the palace at a concert arranged by President Leguia, I learned the rich young men of Peru all own airplanes in which they daily fly out and back from the capital city to their haciendas," she said. "The President's son told me he shortly intended to make a flight to the United States, crossing Ecuador, the Panama canal, the Central Amer-ican republics and Mexico. Events like the opera and bull fights, and even offerings of the shops, are advertised by dodgers dropped from flying ma-chines."

Madam Fjorde is the first woman to fly over Lima. She went up with Cap-tain Moore, an American, who is the head of the Curtiss Flying school there.

The sister continent Brazil comes naturally to the art of flying and is the home of Santos Dumont, the pioneer aviator. In a few weeks Fred Lewisohn, New York banker, who owns extensive platinum properties in the upper mountain ranges beyond Benuventura, in the republic of Co-lombia, expects to lead an expedition in a several thousand mile flight over the Andes. This aerial excursion will start from Panama and use a plane equipped for nine passengers. Engi-neers, photographers and writers will be in the party.

PART OF BUILDING STANDING

Famous Colonnade Row, in New York, Erected in 1833, Has Not En-tirely Disappeared.

On the menu card of a restaurant in New York this is printed: "With-in these historic walls were sheltered Dickens, Bryant, Washington Irving, a President of the United States (John Tyler) and many other distinguished patrons." The statement is not ex-aggerated. Part of Colonnade row, a beautiful structure erected nearly a century ago, still stands, and Joseph Conte's restaurant occupies the greater part of it.

Colonnade row and the building oc-cupied for years by the Author's League of America, at Seventeenth street and Irving place, are all that remain of Washington Irving's re-sidence in Manhattan, for long ago passed the house on William street where he was born, and the house near the Battery, where he lived im-mediately after his return in 1832 from seventeen years of wandering in Eu-rope.

Colonnade row, originally known as La Grange terrace, was built in 1838. The buildings earned their sobriquet on account of the facade pillars, archi-tecturally most attractive, that adorn the structures.

Paulding, Halleck, Cooper and other writers of the period frequented the place. Poe was too poor to be in the then fashionable neighborhood. John Tyler lived at 430 Lafayette street, in "the row," and events attending his wedding took place there.—New York Sun.

Not Easily Discouraged.

The prize-winner, so far as hopefull-ness is concerned, has been discovered down on Broad street, New York, where a large office is maintained by a company which quite openly admits that they have not done a single bit of business in three years.

The firm is an importing and export-ing one, whose sole commerce before 1917 was with Russia, and since the defection of that country the office has been maintained, and the wages paid to the force in hopes of some arrangement being made so that trade relations can be reopened. So far nothing has happened, and the head of the firm has gone to Russia to try and help things along. Meanwhile the of-fice is opened each day and the force sits around reading the papers and, like Dickens' famous Mr. Micawber, "waiting for something to turn up."

Prospects of Medical Study in China.

Recent reports state that in all China there are found to be fewer than 2,000 physicians. What a small proportion of the population of 400,000,000 Chinese people can receive sci-entific treatment in case of illness or injury. In an effort to ascertain the exact number of students looking to-ward medicine, a survey has recently been made of the middle schools of China. In 153 of the institutions re-ported, there are 36,005 students, and of these 1,153 stated that they were planning to study medicine. Since this is only about 20 per cent of all middle schools, the total number who may en-ter on the study of medicine will be considerably larger.

New Rembrandt Found.

An early Rembrandt, the authenti-city of which is vouched for by several well-known experts, has been dis-covered in a little town in the Harz. The picture, which is said to have been painted in the year 1630 or 1631, is executed upon an octagonal oak panel measuring twenty-two inches in height by sixteen inches in width. The sub-ject is an old man of distinguished appearance. The picture is still in its original pine wood frame overlaid with horn, which is declared by one expert to have been specially made according to Rembrandt's instructions.—Berlin Correspondence of London Times.

Mysterious Pains and Aches

Make Life Hard to Bear for Many Grants Pass Women

Too many women mistake their pains and aches for troubles peculiar to the sex. More often disordered kidneys are causing the aching back, dizzy spells, headaches and irregular urination. Kidney weakness be-comes dangerous if neglected. Use a time-tried kidney remedy—Doan's Kidney Pills. Hosts of people testify to their merit. Read a Grants Pass case:

Mrs. Mary E. Jones, 103 W. G St., says: "I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. About a year ago my kidneys were out of order. The 'flu' weakened my kidneys. I had dull nagging backaches and felt so tired and dull mornings I could hardly get started at my housework. My kidneys didn't act right, either. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them as directed. They helped me wonderfully, strengthening my kidneys and relieving the aches and pains. I felt better in every way and give the credit to Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Jones had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Pueblo-Type Cottages Are Cement.

All the quaint charm of the old Pueblo style of architecture is preserved in concrete in a series of little cot-tages now under construction in Mon-rovia, Cal. The one-story buildings are most remarkable for their complete use of cement, woodwork being prac-tically eliminated. Even the roofs are concrete, and the doors are made of magnesite, according to an illustrated article in the January Popular Me-chanics Magazine. The poured walls, five inches thick, inclose a web of waterproofing material, while the cement floors are stained in Spanish-leather effect, waxed and polished. The little structures are wholly fireproof, and easy cleaning is assured by the absence of moldings, casing and base-boards. Inclosed courts off the kitch-en and sleeping chambers, partly roofed and partly screened, provide outdoor protection and privacy.

Jud Tunkins on Economy.

Jud Tunkins says economy is like a piece of music. It may turn out fine, but the person who practices it can't be very entertaining for the time being.

Spring Suits in Great Variety

NEW models in suits for spring reveal much ingenuity in design-ing as well as some departures from style features that have proved popu-lar during the past winter. Embroid-eries are retained and braids are fea-tured. Skirts vary in width from me-dium to wide—that is, wide by com-parison with those that have been pop-ular with very young women, and in the displays so far extremely short skirts are conspicuous by their ab-sence. There are many straight coats, varying greatly in length. Some of them barely cover the waist line and others are finger-tip length, with many gradations between. As a rule, skirts are plain. Belts are made of the ma-terials and are narrow and incon-spicuous.

If one's ambition is to acquire a suit that is unlike anything that has been owned before, the suit at the left of the two shown above, will prove interesting. The body of the ingeni-ously cut coat appears to be merely a slashed cape, the slashes forming rounded panels, below the waist line, that overlap. They are trimmed with narrow braid. The collar promises to be the most popular type in spring suits and the skirt carries out the panel arrangement suggested by the coat. Soutache and other braids com-mand admiration by the exquisite ex-actness in workmanship with which they are applied.

The suit at the right is typical of the box-coat model, straight in front, with a slight flare at the back, where it is a little longer than in front. The skirt is an extreme in length and width—more ample than the average. Silk embroidery in two colors and soft shades finishes this handsome model. In the matter of decoration, it re-mains to be proven which will be best liked, but embroideries have the lead just now.
