NAME IS IMPORTANT THING

Writer of Boys' Stories Must Select Those of His Hero and Villain With Care.

It is wonderful how much depends upon getting effective names for both hero and villain in boys' stories, writes a literary correspondent. Certain names, and particularly certain combinations of names, make a subtle appeal to the writer and actually help him in his work. Jim, Joe, Bill, Dick, Tom, and Harry are names still as much in common use as ever they were. Yet if the writer of a boys' story is going to use one of them he must be careful to combine it with a surname that is of a less common order. For instance, you could call your hero Dick Sterne, but Harry Jenkins would be simply unthinkable. The youth of the present day have the critical faculty highly developed and, to the best of my belief, prefer names that are a little out of the common. Personally, I generally call my hero Roger, Basil, Owen, Digby, Roy, Boyd, or by some name of similar type. It is worth remembering that the hero's name should, if possible, be short. Also his nationality should always be indicated by his name. Desmond, for instance, for an Irish boy; Douglas for a Scot; while Bud or Hank will indicate an American.

Ibi Sin Started It. The first known portrait of a human being has been discovered among the University of Pennsylvania's collection of clay tablets from Babylonia. It is said to be a picture of Ibi Sin, the last king of Ur.

This information is interesting but too indefinite. There is a lot we'd like to know about it. For instance, is it a portrait of Ibi Sin as he looked in his first dress suit; or a likeness of old Ibi taken in his lodge regalia, or a picture of Mr. Sin before or after taking somebody's famous spring tonic? We know little about Ibi Sin, but if he really was the first man to establish the custom of being photographed on any and all occasions we'll say his last name was well chosen.—Detroit Free Press.

Nature's Ready-Made Cement. In some parts of the United States natural cement rocks are found which contain nearly the proper proportions of materials to produce Portland cement; but even in these localities it is generally necessary to add either limestone or shale in order to get the proper mixture.

NOTICE OF SALE OF GOVERNMENT TIMBER

General Land Office, Washington, D. C., April 16, 1921. Notice is hereby given that subject to the conditions and limitations of the Acts of June 9, 1916, (39 Stat. 218), and June 4, 1920 (41 Stat. 758), and the instructions of the Secretary of the Interior of September 15, 1917, and June 22, 1920, the timber on the following lands will be sold June 3, 1921, at 10 o'clock a. m., at public auction at the United States Land Office at Roseburg, Oregon, to the highest bidder at not less than the appraised value as shown by this notice, sale to be subject to the approval of the Secretary of the Interior. The purchase price, with an additional sum of one-fifth of one percent thereof, being commissions allowed, must be deposited at time of sale; money to be returned if sale is not approved, otherwise patent will issue for the timber which must be removed within ten years. Bids will be received from citizens of the United States, associations of such citizens and corporations organized under the laws of the United States or any state, territory or district thereof only. Upon application of a qualified purchaser, the timber on any legal subdivision will be offered separately before being included in any offer of a larger unit.
