

Safety First

You often hear that slogan. It is true with banking as with railroad or any other public enterprise.

It is safety first for our depositors. That's why we are so careful about our loans and our reserves. That's why we carry fire and burglar insurance. That's why our depositors have confidence in this Bank.

Timely Reminders —

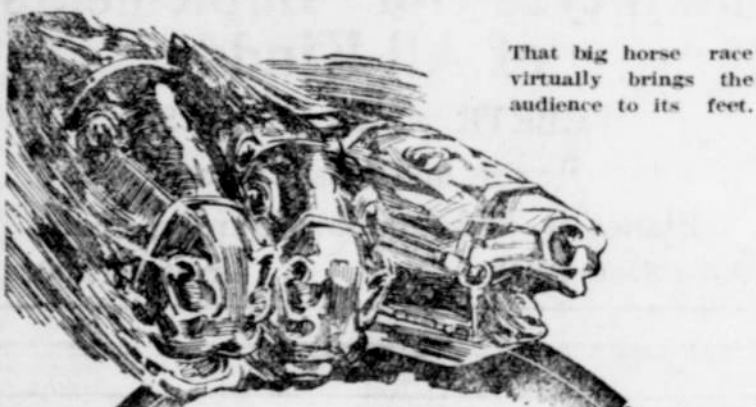

The hay crop is coming along nicely. And within a few weeks now you'll be needing dependable haying equipment. Such as:
A McCormick or Deering Mower or Hay Rake
And maybe a Tedder
Side Delivery Rake,
Combined Side Rake and Tedder
Sweep Rake, Stacker or Gearless Hay Loader,
Bearing the name International.
So you can get all your hay cut, stacked and under cover ahead of the weather.

This line of hay tools is certainly worth looking over—and buying. What do you think?

SALVATION ARMY AIDS IN ARKANSAS TORNADO

One of the major activities of the Salvation Army is its emergency relief department. The effectiveness of this department was demonstrated during April when cyclones swept northwestern Texas and continued their havoc into Arkansas killing several hundred people and wounding men, women and children by the scores. Many were left entirely homeless, intense suffering and sickness followed, and the property loss ran into millions of dollars. The town of Texarkana and Melissa suffered worst.

The Salvation Army at the first notice of the disaster sent its relief agency into the storm-swept area and remained on the job day and night caring for the wounded, nursing the sick and providing food, clothing and shelter.

This kind of service is nothing new for the Salvation Army. They have done the same thing hundreds of times as was noticeable during the flood at Corpus Christi, the California earthquake and in our great forest fires.

The emergency relief department is maintained to meet just such catastrophes. Is not such service worth while? A percentage of the Oregon budget in the home service fund goes to emergency relief.

"TACTILISM" THE LATEST ART

Pictures Can Be "Seen" by Touch, is Declaration Made by Inventor of New Fad.

Among the things that "have their day and cease to be," artistic extravagances hold a prominent place. The wild vagaries of impressionists, cubists and futurists one by one eclipse what has gone before.

"Tactilism" is the name of a new "art" invented by Signor Marinetti, the Italian futurist, who, recently, to a large audience of painters, art critics and society people in Paris, explained its principles. It is a method of conveying impressions through the sense of touch, "which has hitherto been neglected by the arts."

Marinetti told how he had tried to establish a series of conventions, which could be easily learned, by which different touches would bring forth definite ideas. For instance, something rough, spiky and hot to the touch would give the idea of the Sahara. The seas would be conjured up by something smooth and cold, like silver paper, and Paris by a mixture of silk and velvet. It is an evidence of the readiness of the day to take up anything new that this adventurous futurist pioneer is now the lion of the season. He intends to be in Paris for some weeks, but has already received so many invitations to attend fashionable receptions and evening parties that he confesses that he hardly knows how to cram in all his appointments.

O. S. Blanchard Breaks Arm

O. S. Blanchard went fishing yesterday and returned home with a broken arm, but the fishing had nothing to do with the injury. Mr. Blanchard and family, E. H. Balsiger and family and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Swope spent the day on Deer creek, and when entertainment began to lag O. S. appeared with a ladder and commenced acrobatic stunts. He was able to balance himself on the ladder and place both feet on the fourth rung. Finally this was equalled by another of the party and Mr. Blanchard had to set a new mark, but he missed his footing and the ladder came down on top of him. The large bone in his right forearm was broken and split, but the smaller bone was uninjured. First aid was applied and Mr. Blanchard drove his car home with only his left hand in service.

Worth 50c—
We allow you 50c for your old hat to apply on new one, grade $1.50 and up. Peerless Clothing Co. 78
