Tonight and Friday fair, moderate westerly winds.

GET IN THE GAME

The campaign is on for funds to finance the auditorium for use as a fair building and for community purposes. A manager has been secured to put the enterprise over, but without help from others, Mr. Borland will be unable to make it a success.

Every civic organization in the county has endorsed the building and its purposes. The American Legion showed its faith and interest in the move, when the local post subscribed for 10 shares of the stock.

Bread to Clean Watches.

There is no more novel use to which bread is put than that in vogue in some of the great watch factories where more than forty loaves of fresh bread were used daily in pre-war times.

Waiting List.

A Pennsylvania authority is advocating the general establishment of goat farms. Good; the next thing will be the establishment of general disposition to be the goat.

Fall, Secretary of the Interior, Is Now Touring the National Parks

Medford, Aug. 11.—(A. P.)—Secretary of the Interior Fall, will arrive next Monday in Medford, on his round touring the national parks.

Unsolved Mystery of Nature.

The exact principle which causes a magnet to take hold of metals and cling to them with a force which overcomes the principle of gravity is, like electricity, one of Nature's unsolved mysteries, the Detroit News remarks.

The most logical explanation would appear to be that an electrically-treated piece of iron gives off a force analogous to that given off by radium, in that it will affect other pieces of metal without materially lessening its own power.

The name "magnet" is derived from the mineral "magnette." This, in turn, is so called because it was first discovered in Magnesia. Magnette is a natural magnet, of which lodestone is one of the best known varieties.

Their Wedding Day.

When we were married, my husband and I thought we had planned carefully to elude the sendoff our set was sure to give us. We had a quiet family wedding and knowing our friends would be at the depot to see us off on our trip with the usual embarrassing attentions bestowed on newlyweds, we decided to outwit them by boarding the train at the water tank, where it stopped before pulling into the station.

"Mascot" idea is spreading. The collection of "mascots" to guard against any and every form of bad luck it said to be spreading in popularity.

OUTLAW ELK ADOPTED BY BROTHERHOOD RULER

Yellowstone Park, Wyo., Aug. 11.—"Bill," the outlaw elk of Yellowstone, has been adopted by members of New York Lodge B. P. O. E. Bill had been in, disgrace. His crime lay in being too tame.

Also his tastes degenerated. They became almost goat-like. The day came when no laundry hanging from the backyard clothesline was safe from his appetite. His special taste was for little silken dainties. So they locked Bill up in a corral and there he has remained.

Then came the crowd of New York Elks, visiting the park on their way home from their recent Los Angeles convention. A group of them visited the corral, where a number of calves are also kept.

"Hello, Bill!" cried one to an approaching group. Bill knows his name, and thinking he was being summoned, hurried up for food.

So surprised was Patrick McGrath, exalted ruler of the New York lodge, that he dropped a slip of paper he had been holding, with other mail, in his hand. It was a membership application.

Now Bill has a particular fondness for scraps of paper and many a magazine hero and telephone number have disappeared down his throat. A moment later and Bill had a membership tucked inside of him.

After that there was nothing left but to bestow some sort of honor on the outcast. Accordingly he was officially appointed western mascot of the lodge. And they arranged a special banquet for him.

Time's Wondrous Changes.

Archeologists believe that even in the Stone age direct maritime relations existed between northern Jutland and the distant countries to the south.

The unqualified seal of approval is on the stupendous drama, "Half a Chance." It features Mahlon Hamilton and Lillian Rich. It is adapted from the celebrated novel by Frederic S. Isham.

Each climax is like a bolt of lightning, vivid and surprising. Each clash of mind or body is a tense battle, packed with enthralling interest. And the romance is as alluring as lavender and old rose. Rare entertainment indeed—a gigantic production—one to lift and exalt you. See it at the Rivoli Theater tonight.
