DOG GUNNIT !!

SAY I THAT YOU WERE GOING TO BE CHEERFUL ABOUT IT

Sad Mistake.
The family was away from town. Their house was in charge of a young maid. Occasionally an old woman came in to help with the cleaning. One day the maid opened the front door and was greeted by the angry woman. "I've been ringing and ringing and rining," said the latter. "Why didn't you come?" "You kep' on so reg'lar," said the maid. "that I thought it was only the telephone."

Science Cuts Frame House Fire Risk In Half

Plan by N. L. M. A. Sketch Illustrates New Features of Fire Resistant Construction.

DANGER from fire in frame houses has been reduced fifty per cent. through improvements in construction worked out by the most competent engineers in the lumber industry. This announcement has just been made after these engineers have been working upon improved designs in frame construction during the past year with a view to reducing the fire hazard for wood houses to a minimum.

Practically no change in appearance in houses constructed by the improved methods and very little, if any, additional cost is involved, but the methods recommended by the engineers give protective features making the frame house essentially resistant to fire.

Interposing of panels and short pieces within spaces that ordinarily serve as flues for rapid spread of fire, for instance, reduces danger from this cause. Other protective improvements prevent wooden parts catching fire from chimneys, fireplaces, heating plants and steam and hot water pipes. While wood will burn and there is no such thing as a "fireproof" house within the reach of the ordinary pocketbook, the new protective measures devised by the lumber engineers offer an economical type of construction that is fire resistant and as nearly fireproof as frame construction as now developed can be made, according to their conclusions. The methods conform strictly to the scientific codes of the most progressive cities and carry a minimum of fire risk because of the necessarily slow spread of combustion in houses following the new type of construction.

All That Was Left of a Frame Dwelling Built by Old Methods.
(Numbers Correspond to Those on Sketch)

- (1) Fire stopping at all intersections of walls and partitions with floors, ceilings and roof.
- (2) Herring-bone fire stopping in partitions midway between floor levels.
- (3) Partition and wall corners framed solid.
- (4) Wall between porch attic, and house sheathed solid.
- (5) Header beams 20 inches from the fireplace breast. Incombustible hearth.
- (6) Wooden members 2 inches from chimney, space between filled with loose incombustible material.
- (7) Plaster applied directly to chimney breast.
- (8) Flue lining in chimneys.
- (9) Top of chimney 2 feet above peak of roof.
- (10) Protection over heating plant.
- (11) Roof framing 2 inches from chimney, flashed, permitting free movement of chimney.
- (12) Top of heating plant 15 inches from ceiling.
- (13) Furnace 8 feet from warm air riser.
- (14) Smoke pipe 1 1/2 times its diameter below the ceiling.
- (15) Heat pipes 6 inches below ceiling.
- (16) Doublet tin pipes, 1/2-inch air space between in partitions, kept 1 inch from all woodwork. Steam and hot water pipes 1 inch from woodwork.
- (17) Heat pipes running through floors, fire stopped with loose incombustible material.
