THE CLIMAX

of perfection in farming means an elimination of the methods which make drudgery, which consume time, and which retard progress.

THE McCORMICK

eliminates all of these in that part of farming which pertains to harvesting grain and grass. Besides this, it does more—it brings to its owner contentment and satisfaction in his work, all of which creates vim and vigor, energy and enthusiasm; in other words, a new life on the farm.

The McCormick is a machine for practical purposes—it is the machine you want. Call and examine the McCormick line of harvesting machines.

Recall Not Liked—"I don't approve of any official being recalled," explained Fred Williams, state public service commissioner, a victim of the recall, "and I don't intend to be personal when I make the statement." Mr. Williams is not worrying, apparently, over the fact that he has been forcefully separated from a perfectly good state job. When the recallers became noisy Mr. Williams announced that he would not be a candidate in the primaries to succeed himself, but even this did not satisfy the recall managers, so instead of permitting Commissioner Williams to fill out the remaining few months of his term, they voted to oust him instantly, and in a few days Mr. Williams will be officially off the payroll. Mr. Williams is registered at the Hotel Oregon.—Oregonian.

Baby Clinic Popular—

Forty-five babies were taken to the clinic held yesterday at the Methodist church. They were examined by Doctors Loughridge, Billick and Marks. Assisting in the weighing and measuring were Mrs. C. A. Thomas, Mrs. George Fox, Mrs. Scott Hamilton and Mrs. E. E. Cargill. A baby clinic will be held at Provolt on Thursday to which mothers of the Murphy and Williams districts are invited to take their babies to be examined.

Western Hotel Sold—

The Western Hotel has been sold and J. E. Verdin has taken charge until next Thursday, when the new owner will arrive from Portland. Mrs. E. D. Yenny, who has had the hotel for the past year, has purchased the Idaho Apartments in Portland and will take charge immediately. Higgins brothers traded the property off for a ranch in Portland having been the original purchasers from Mrs. Yenny.

All Set For Game—

Jud Pernoll's pitching wing is all in shape for tomorrow's tussle with the Leland nine, and he expects to put them out in one, two, three order. The Leland team has imported a pitcher from California in an attempt to wrest the game from the locals, who have not yet been defeated this season. The game will be played in the new ball park at the fair grounds and the bleachers have been screened for the protection of the fans.

BORN

FALL—To Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fall, of this city, Saturday, June 3, a daughter.

AUTOCRAT HAD UNHAPPY LIFE

Mighty Czar Could Find No One in His Dominions That Would Tell Him the Truth.

A dramatic little story that illumines in a flash the strangely unwholesome life that the czar of Russia had to live in the 44 days he is to be found in Mr. James L. Ford's book, "Forty-Odd Years in the Literary Shop." Mr. Ford had an intimate acquaintance with Baron de Grimm, whose father had been the tutor of Alexander II of Russia, and who himself had been an intimate friend of the czar.

From De Grimm, he writes, I gained an idea of the isolation of an autocrat and the atmosphere of dread, suspicion and uncertainty that surrounds an autocratic court. When the Czar Alexander II sent his son to the Riviera for the sake of his health he received from the young man's attendants only vague reports in regard to his condition, although couriers arrived daily with letters. On one occasion the soldier who brought the post bag was ushered into the presence of the czar, who after a hasty glance at his correspondence exclaimed: "There is no letter from my son, and it is some days since I have heard from him!"

"But, sire," exclaimed the soldier, "he is no longer able to write!"

"Not able to write!" exclaimed the sovereign of all the Russias. "Will nobody ever tell me anything?" And it may be remembered that Nicholas II uttered a like despairing cry when the news of the January massacre, which his courtiers had sedulously kept from him, finally reached his ears.—Youth's Companion.

"WHO'S WHO" WINS PASSPORT

Writer's Somewhat Caustic Comment on Authorities Would Seem to Have Some Justification.

A man who applied in New York for a passport recently was told that he must have a certificate of birth before the document could be issued. He had a passport issued during the war bearing the vise of several European countries. That passport bore the date of his birth. The passport was rejected because it was issued before 1917.

There was no time to send to Chicago for a copy of the certificate of birth. A certificate of baptism was offered and rejected, the explanation being that he might not have been baptized for years after his birth.

"What is your business?" asked the clerk. The applicant said that he was a writer. "Are you in 'Who's Who'?" was the next query and the answer was in the affirmative.

"That settles it," said the clerk. He got a copy of "Who's Who" and found that the brief biography gave the date of birth. The application was indorsed. "See 'Who's Who' edition of 1921, page empty under" and the document was forwarded to Washington with the assurance that the passport would be back in a few days. "The government," said the writer afterward, "will not take its own document and would not take my word, but accepted a printed biographical sketch which presumably I had written."

Ancient Superstition. The ancient Egyptians believed that epidemics were brought by flying serpents. In consequence they paid great homage to the ibis, a bird which gave useful service by destroying snakes.

For the Young Business Man

Some day the young business man will be a big business man. Right now, perhaps, there isn't any money profit in carrying his checking account. But some day, as that account grows, and as the owner grows with it, the bank will be repaid for having counseled the young man and cooperated with him in his business success.

So, this bank invites the young business man who wishes to grow. We have seen many a small account grow into a large one and have earned the thanks for helpful service cheerfully rendered at all times.

We want your account. But, what is more, we want you as a growing business man to associate yourself with this bank.
