THE PRICE OF SUGAR

A local merchant has made the plea that consumers of sugar forego the using of that commodity for a period of 30 days.

A boycott on the use of sugar for a month would force the price down to a point where it would be within reason, it is thought, if the people of the whole nation could be made to see the necessity of such a move.

According to the merchant who advocates the boycott on the commodity, others in his same line of business would be glad to see some such action.

PLEA IS UPHOLD

which was spent informally, a large pink and white box was wheeled near Miss Geisler's chair, and when touched, out jumped the Jack-in-the-box. Little Johnny Hampshire, as Jack handed the honor guest the gifts which the box contained. Gifts of every nature were given the bride to be, for use in the future household, all of them being chosen for their beauty and usefulness.

Miss Helen Ellis gave a vocal selection, accompanied by Miss Anna Calvert and Miss Bessie Noble played the music for a contest, the blank spaces of a poem being filled by names of popular songs.

Cocoa and French pastry were served the guests, who numbered over 50 persons, and a large wedding cake adorned with a bride and groom was given Miss Geisler to cut.

Members of W. C. T. U. Guests of Literary Circle

The home of Mrs. E. A. Wade, on G street Thursday afternoon, April 19th, was the scene of a very enthusiastic meeting, the occasion being the prohibition meeting previously announced by the Ladies Progressive Literary Circle.

The W. C. T. U. was represented by a goodly number of earnest members and each one responded to the call for a speech in a very gracious manner. The Circle ladies were pleased at the cheerful response of the W. C. T. U. ladies to the invitation issued and hope they will become members of the L. P. L. C. in response to a cordial invitation from Mrs. J. J. Berry, 624 South Fifth street, the Circle ladies will meet at her home Thursday afternoon, May 3rd, at 2 o'clock.

Pleasant Evening Spent Friday at R. J. Bostul Home

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Bostul entertained on Friday evening, honoring the birthday of Mrs. J. H. Hathaway, and also the presence of the later's guest, Mrs. E. A. Chetham who is visiting in the city from Healdsburg, Calif. Visiting and conversation made the evening hours pass pleasantly, and refreshments of sherbert and wafers were served at a late hour.

Meeting of Neighbors of Woodcraft Is Interesting

An unusually large attendance was present at the meeting of Azalia Circle, Neighbors of Woodcraft at their regular meeting last night. During the business session, delegates were elected to attend the convention of district number 12, to be held in Marshfield on August 14 and 15. The following women were chosen to represent the local order: Mrs. P. B. Whitney, Mrs. Anna Stinebaugh, Mrs. O. Meisner, Mrs. Clara Bailey, Mrs. Mary Deau and Mrs. Lucinda Slover.

Children's Party Entertains Young Ladies

A real fun party was enjoyed last Saturday night by six young ladies, friends of Mrs. Harold Bechtel at her home on B street. The participants came dressed in costumes best suited for children of about ten years of age, and they are all said to have played up to their costumes. Games which required chewing gum, animal
