L. J. Reed and children spent Friday in the city from Leland, shopping and visiting.

Mrs. Catherine Marquis spent the day in town yesterday shopping. She returned in the late afternoon to her home at Rogue River.

It's had enough to come back home "busted," but when the newspapers sarcastically advertise the fact—well, see Thomas Meighan in "Back Home and Broke" at the Rivoli theatre April 25 and 26. 79

Mrs. Bert Bigelow and children were Williams visitors who spent Friday shopping in the city.

Peter Hoffman, who makes his home in Carlton, Colo., is a visitor in the city at the home of E. C. Bell. Mr. Hoffman expects to spend an indefinite time visiting here, as he is very favorably impressed with the climate.

Marion Mine arrived in Grants Pass Friday, to spend several days.

Rev. W. E. Witter, M. D. D. D. and wife, of Golahati, Assam, India, who have been spending the week as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Roat, left this morning for Corvallis where they will visit with Mrs. Witter's son, Howard Bars, an instructor in the O. A. C. They will later continue to their home in Rochester, N. Y.

Attending Conference—

A party left Friday by motor for Eugene, and are in attendance at the sessions of the Epworth League convention which holds until Sunday evening. Those who went as delegates from Grants Pass were the Misses Bertha Green, Ruth Pratt and Elizabeth Fifield, and Chester Williams and Wado Harmon.

Legion Makes Protest—

Aroused by the fact that the I. W. W. has been holding daily meetings in the Scandinavian hall, Klamath Falls to plan a strike in the lumber industry on May 1, the American legion post of that city on threat of a boycott, Wednesday obtained a written promise from the Scandinavian society, owner of the building, that the I. W. W. will no longer be permitted to use the hall.

Frost Is Feared—

With frost warnings sent out from Portland and a light snowfall in the low mountains last night, a frost is feared by farmers when the weather clears off. The wind, which has been from the northwest for the past two days, has been extremely chilly and some apprehension on the part of those who have fruit which might be damaged. Fair weather is the forecast for tonight.

Office Is Opened—

J. H. Harvey has opened an office in the Masonic building in which he will carry on his work in map making, stickers and such other designing that he is now specializing in. Mr. Harvey turned out the Caves windshield sticker, the Grants Pass 80-mile radius map and other road maps which are in demand.

Traffic Violations—

A number of motorists, some of them local, have been intercepted while turning their cars in the middle of the block within the past few days. Fines have not been given in these cases, but the men were given a detailed explanation of the laws which govern traffic. Signs are to be printed in the near future, say police officials, stating that turns are to be made only at intersections. The signs, which are to be about 14 by 24 inches, will be placed at the city limits, both north and south, and will be placed at noticeable points about the city.
