PRESIDENT HARDING'S ILLNESS

Last Saturday when President Harding passed through Grants Pass a large crowd had collected to hear him. Much disappointment and in some cases, a little criticism, was voiced over the failure of the chief executive to appear. It was only natural that the people should want to see their chief executive and had it been possible Mr. Harding would undoubtedly have appeared. But the president was ill—how ill his party would not divulge. Probably the president himself would not admit that he was sick. The sympathy of the people of Grants Pass, of the west and of the whole nation is extended to Mr. Harding.

The sickness was brought on, without doubt, by the desire of the president to make the "swing around the circle" that he felt was owed to the people of the nation. He wanted to find out first hand what the conditions are now in the country and in Alaska and the demands upon his energy proved too great a strain. It will be remembered that it was on a similar trip that former President Woodrow Wilson was taken ill. The average person does not realize the great tax on the strength of a president who makes the number of speeches that Mr. Harding did and who gives his time without stint to the demands made upon him.

It is a great risk to the man who does as Mr. Harding does. He is called upon for talks everywhere and everywhere he tried to be the real American that he is known to be, by appearing. He did not want to disappoint those who expected to hear him. It might be wise to limit the excursions such as Mr. Harding made for, no matter how badly the people may desire to hear their president, too great a risk is incurred.

Nephew Found Here—

When W. C. Barker went into the DeGaulle and Bureau barber shop he noticed the name Albert Barker on the license of one of the barbers.
A little questioning brought out the fact that Albert Barker, who is a recent arrival in Grants Pass, was a nephew of Mr. Barker. He had never seen his nephew and had not seen or heard of his brother since 1896, when they were in Ogden, Utah, although he had conducted a search for him. Mr. and Mrs. Barker came here from Portland a few weeks ago and are now making their home in Grants Pass.

Recovered From Stomach Trouble

"Had stomach trouble three years and finally was in bed eight weeks with terrible cramps," writes A. L.
Lyons, Dayton, Ohio. "The doctors did not help me and I could hold nothing on my stomach. Tried Foley Cathartic Tablets and now as a well man. Can eat anything." Sour stomach, headache, bad breath, biliousness and other digestive disorders quickly overcome with Foley Cathartic Tablets. Do not gripe, pair or nauseate. Couch's Pharmacy. (Adv.)

TOBACCO FARMERS ARE
AFTER INDEPENDENCE

Kingstree, S. C., July 31.—(I. N. S.)—Two thousand tobacco farmers who listened to an address by United States Senator E. D. Smith, of South Carolina, at a great barbecue held in celebration of the success of the Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association in its first year of marketing, have begun discussion of ways and means of attaining economic independence.

The senator hinted strongly at the dominion of South Carolina tobacco markets by British financial interests, and mentioned the Imperial Tobacco Company, of Great Britain, as a powerful factor in setting the price for the labor of the farmers and their children.

"We fought England because we had taxation without representation; fought for it, and won, yet when you come to selling the product that the education of your children depends on, you haven't any more to say about it than a Hottentot in Africa.
We sit down here like dumb, driven beasts and allow all others to dictate what we sell it for. We sit down here and allow others to dictate to us what our wives and daughters are worth," declared Senator Smith.

The senator's intimation that an-tagonism of the Imperial Tobacco Company of Great Britain to cooperative marketing is thwarting efforts of thousands of South Carolina farmers to improve their living conditions injected a new note into the war between the exponents of modern marketing methods and the old system of auctioning off tobacco.

The smouldering resentment of more than a thousand organized tobacco farmers against the British company, which buys approximately one-third of the South Carolina tobacco crop, but has declined to purchase any of the product raised by half of the South Carolina planters who compose the Tobacco Cooperative Association, has been fanned to a flame.

MARRIAGES IN CANADA
ARE DECLARED SUCCESS

Ottawa, Ont., July 31.—(A. P.)— Marriages in Canada are successful, and families still are loyal to the "till death do us part" tradition. Divorces granted in the Dominion numbered only 544 in 1922, or two-thirds of one per cent of all the marriages contracted, according to a report just compiled by the Dominion bureau of statistics.

Based on population, the report shows, divorces numbered seven to every 100,000 persons. Divorces in the United States, according to official figures for the last year on record, numbered 112 to every 100, 000 people.

"The 1922 figures," says the report, "probably indicate that the wave of divorce due to the war has reached its highest point and is now on the decline. Total decrees granted last year showed a reduction of four compared with 1921. The remarkably low per cent of divorces shows the stability of Canadian homes and institutions."

Of the total divorces granted, husbands received 316, or about 60 per cent and wives 228, or about 40 per cent. British Columbia led in decrees issued, with 138, followed by Alberta with 129 and Manitoba with 97. One province, Prince Edward Island granted no divorces. Only one divorce has been granted in this province since 1868, and that was in 1922.

The greater per cent of the divorced were residents of cities. Comparatively few applications were made among the agricultural population.

STORY OF EXECUTION
OF CZAR IS RELATED

Chicago, July 31.—(I. N. S.)— Supposedly authentic details of the slaying of the late Russian Czar Nicholas and his family by the Soviet authorities have been received here, according to information made public by Meyer Zolotaroff, affiliated with a Russian newspaper in this city.

According to this information, the Czar and his family were slain immediately after the Bolshevik revolution, in 1917, and their bodies burned.

"After the arrest the Czar and his family were taken to Ekaterinburg, Siberia. A short time later they were shot to death by the Soviet authorities. Authentic particulars of the murders have just been obtained by A. S. Izgoev, a Russian author," Zolotaroff explained.

"Under a strong military guard the royal family was confined in a specifically constructed building when Nicholas the Second became excited and shouted:

"Until now all were fine people, and now the terrorists start!" he was informed he was only a plain prisoner. The former Czar had nothing to say after this incident. However, the Czarina protested many times against the life she was forced to live.

"Rumors soon spread over the city that the Czecho-Slovaks were on their way to Ekaterinburg to save the royal family. This started the Soviet there discussing the fate of the Czar. At a meeting in July the royal family was sentenced to death.

"Late at night a darkened automobile containing the executioners went to the prison. Taking the Czar and his wife and children downstairs, the executioners placed them against a wall in the basement.
It was then that they were informed of their fate.

"A volley of pistol shots answered the Czar's question: 'You are going to take us somewhere?' Within a few moments the horrible deed had been performed. So quiet was the execution that the guards did not know until two days later what had occurred.

"The bodies were all burned. It is said that Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch was killed by the extreme communists, L. Miasnikow."

PERFECT
ACCOMPANIMENTS, TOO, ON THE
GULBRANSEN

Soft and sweet, and in perfect time, is the accompaniment played on a Gulbransen.
A mere striking of notes would be out of place. The accompaniment must be gentle and dainty—delicately shaded—with here and there a dash of brilliance to add color to the performance.

Playing accompaniments is a good test of an instrument—and one that, when you make it, will increase your admiration of the Gulbransen.
What nimble fingers do in playing the piano, and gaining expression, you do with a music roll and the sensitive "pedal-touch" of the Gulbransen.

UNVEIL RODNEY STATUE

This statue of Caesar Rodney was unveiled in Rodney square, Wilmington, Del., on Independence day to commemorate the break-neck ride of 80 miles made by him from Dover to Philadelphia to affix his name to the Declaration of Independence and at the same time save the vote of Delaware. The statue is the work of the well-known sculptor, James Edward Kelly, and it was unveiled by six-year-old Eliza Rodney, a lineal descendant.
