THE HOUSING SHORTAGE

A remedy for the present housing shortage is needed badly in Grants Pass. People coming here to locate are unable, many times, to find places for rent, especially places that they want.

There is a serious shortage of houses that can be secured by the newcomers and as a result many of them are forced to seek locations in other localities.

A problem thus presents itself and is one which must be settled within the next few months.

There is a good opening for a man to construct a number of houses which could be rented.

Rents are high here and it would be a paying investment if several homes could be built. New places would be in demand for as soon as it is known that a house is for rent it finds many takers.

It should not be impossible to interest some person in this enterprise.

Grants Pass wants more people but to get those people it must provide some place for them to live.

The few apartment houses are filled unless these places are secured new residents cannot be brought here.

Daily News Letter

Gossip & Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population

Los Angeles, Sept. 21.—(I. N. S.)

Traffic and its solution—ever a thorn in the side of Los Angeles—is still the most menacing problem of officials here to face.

Various methods by which the traffic, which continually keeps the downtown streets clogged, have been suggested. Some of these plans have been given a trial, but were of no apparent satisfaction.

Chief of Police Vollmer, the "sentimental cop" brought here from Berkeley to reign over the police department, suggests that the only way to regulate traffic is to take it out of the hands of the police department and place it under the supervision of an entirely new branch of the city government, created for that particular purpose.

Under the arrangement suggested by Chief Vollmer the new department of the city government would be supervised by a traffic commission of traffic engineers. Special traffic officers, he claims, would replace the present police officers in that particular work.

"Regulation of traffic does not belong in the police department," the chief said. "It is not even police work. Prevention and detection of crime is the work of the police department."

"I strongly favor a new division of the municipal government to take over the traffic entirely. This would divorce it from the police department. My idea is for the creation of a traffic commission composed of traffic engineers, which would have full responsibility for traffic regulation."

"Police officers could be relieved from traffic duty entirely and in their place be detailed specially trained traffic officers, who would have no connection with the police department. The officers would wear different uniforms than the police and would have the authority to enforce traffic laws only."

Chief Vollmer said there were numerous reasons why the traffic problem should be taken from the police department and cited the following:

The widening and lengthening of city streets is strictly a traffic problem, still the chief of police has nothing to say about it. He should not; a chief of police does not know anything about the widening of a street.

The granting of electric street railway franchises and bus lines is in the discretion of the city council. That is a traffic question and the action of the council may seriously handicap police efforts to regulate traffic. The chief of police has nothing to say regarding the granting of such franchises; still he is required to regulate traffic.

Miners Stage Contest—In regular Oregon weather with an Oregon mist falling over pleasure-seeking fair ground crowds, the old timers in the gold panning game worked off old jealousies at the fair grounds this afternoon.

With big pans and gold bearing gravel they decided who were the best miners among them. E. T. McKinstry came out winner in the first competition and was awarded a miner's pick for his efforts. A second competition set A. Walker up beside him as contender for the championship crowd. Second place in the first contest was won by R. W. Fairfield who received a quartz glass, and third was taken by F. T. Roper who won a pair of wool socks. C. A. Dusenberry took second in the second contest and received a safety razor.

AMERICANS SEEK ATTENTION Visitors to Europe Announce Their Own Importance

Berlin, Sept. 21.—(A. P.)—Europe has been visited by so many self-styled Colonel Houses in the last two years that a broad smile spreads over the faces of all Americans living in the European capitals every time the advance publicity man of some visiting American announces that the "Colonel House" of the present administration is traveling through Europe to study the reparations problems for the president and will arrive in a few days.

Foreign officials, however, especially those of the countries which are eager to have American aid, take the gum-shoe men from the United States more seriously. Frequently Americans gain much attention by heralding their own importance through press agents who let foreign newspaper men know "in strictest secrecy" of the highly confidential relations between their principal and members of the administration.

Scarcely a day passes that some American does not arrive in Central Europe with a ballyho and a plan for curing all the ills that Europe is heir to. Speeches are made and interviews are granted which are supposed to set forth the views of the American government and the American people, regardless of the fact that the speakers have generally never been elected to any office in the United States and frequently have never been heard of outside of their own country.

False hopes are created by such unauthorized statements and Americans are kept in a constant stew explaining that the president and Mr. Hughes have a monopoly on the voicing of American government policy, and are not in the habit of delegating this task to wandering Americans who turn their attention to curing Europe of its ailments after they have exhausted the novelty of sight-seeing and done all the spas.
