THE TRAIN ROBBERS

A train robbery is a serious enough crime, but when the robbers combine with it one of the most cold blooded murders ever recorded in the Northwest, the crime becomes almost too great to comprehend.

With their hands in the air at the command of the robbers, the engineer and fireman were killed because they might be able to identify the bandits. The brakeman was killed without warning, a fusillade of shots greeting him as he was returning to his train to find out what was wrong.

The county and state officials are bending every effort to catch those connected with the crime. They have a hard task as the bandits had provided for every emergency, even to wearing cross-toed moccasins, which make a trail impossible to follow by bloodhounds.

1923 AND THE FARMER

There are some who would like to prove that the American farmer is slowly headed toward bankruptcy. But these men are faced with facts which show that the farmer is not only holding his own but is advancing his interests.

E. T. Meredith, former secretary of the department of agriculture, says: "The grain farmer is in better condition now than he was a year ago, to say nothing of the live-stock farmer, dairyman, and general farmer. "The facts, from the United States Department of Agriculture, show that on July 1, 1922, the price of corn per bushel on the farm was 62.2 cents, and on the same date this year it was 86.5 cents per bushel.

DAILY NEWS LETTER
Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population

London, Oct. 13.—(I. N. S.)—One department of the British administration that always functions perfectly and never makes a mistake is that known as the "government hospital-ity fund." Its resources are unlimited, and it aims at—and always gets—the best.

of thinking for themselves. And Downing Street has been made fully aware during the last few months that Canada, Australia and South Africa have not been entirely pleased with Britain's handling of European politics.

British diplomacy, in its tortuous way, has altered little in the last two hundred years. But it will now be faced by new ideas, expounded by types of brain uncommon in Britain.

The Rhur deadlock affected Dominion trade and industry as much as those of Britain, and the idea that young, vigorous and keen-witted men like these premiers will sit still and acquiesce in the British policy of standing by and saying nothing, is, to say the least, unlikely.

Many internal changes are likely within the British political system within the next few months. No party, not even the Tory or the Labor party, is in a very united state, and new groupings are possible at any moment.

The latest possibility is that Winston Churchill, unable to keep out of the limelight for long together, is likely to attempt the formation of a new center party. Invigorated by a long rest and the financial success of his war books, this brilliant Anglo-American contemplates the merging of the moderate sections of the Tory, Liberal and Labor parties, which is expected to meet with considerable support throughout Britain and likely to become a weighty factor in English politics.

Hostility to present foreign policy and moderate social reform, combined with drastic pruning of governmental expenditure, would be the chief planks of the platform.

VETERANS MAY GAIN VICTORY IN BONUS VOTE

WILL WIELD INFLUENCE WHEN CONGRESS MEETS NEXT DECEMBER

EFFORTS ARE CONSOLIDATED

Greater Power Will Be Exerted Than At Any Time Since War Over—Will Aid Disabled

Washington, Oct. 13.—(I. N. S.)—Veterans of the World War, through the consolidated efforts of their various organizations, are expected to wield a more powerful influence when Congress convenes in December than they have any time since the 6,000,000 men and women received their discharges from the army and navy and returned to civil life.

The power of the World War veterans has steadily strengthened during the last few months, since all recognized national veterans' organizations came together in Washington at the suggestion of the Disabled American Veterans and, for the first time since peace was declared, gathered around the council table to work out in common legislation to solve the problem of the disabled.

through needless overhead expenses. Following the Initiative of the Disabled American Veterans, national representatives of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, United Spanish War Veterans and the Military Order of the World War are now working on a modification of the laws of the Veterans' Bureau for the purpose of preparing a general measure that will clear up all matters of dispute through legislation.

Case this bill is completed it is planned to have a former service man introduce it in Congress upon the opening day of the next session, and then every veterans' organization will go squarely behind the measure.

The alliance of veterans' organizations, leaders point out, is wholly bi-partisan and is expected to receive its greatest active strength in both Senate and House from former service men who now hold seats. The number of former soldiers in Congress is steadily increasing, and such combinations as Representative Roy at Johnson (Republican), of South Dakota, and Lamar Jerrers (Democrat), of Alabama, are expected to give aggressive support on the floor should there be a disposition to delay the action which the veterans will demand, veteran leaders assert.

Odd Way of Drawing Water.

I took notes while we were at Epa, New Guinea, of a rather curious method of drawing water from the communal spring, half a mile from the village, writes Reginald Pound in the Wide World Magazine. Twice a day the women went down in chattering groups to the spring, carrying bamboo pipes 12 feet long.

Blueberries an Inch Thick.

A blueberry an inch in diameter is not a dream but a possibility. At the government testing plantation at Whiteoak, N. J., about 25,000 hybrids have been fruited. Berries three-fourths of an inch in diameter have been produced on many of them, and one of them this year reached almost seven-eighths of an inch.

Gas From Oil.

Government chemists in the Philippines have made an illuminating gas from coconut oil.
