THE BOK PEACE AWARD

If the Bok peace award has no other effect on the American nation than the awakening of the people that there must be some concentration looking toward the establishment of peace on a permanent foundation, it shall have accomplished its purpose. The citizens of the country today started their voting on the question. Whether this plan is the one that shall be sanctioned by the great majority is not known and cannot be known until the votes are sent in and counted.

The problem of peace does not affect any one particular group but should extend to the entire population. Nations have made a study of war, have organized armies and navies and have even maintained schools where the art of scientific killing is fully elaborated upon.
Scientists are pensioned by the governments to devise gases to kill entire populations, guns which will throw their death-dealing missiles for miles and submarines which can creep up in the dark on an unsuspecting enemy. Yet there is no such determined effort to find a way to peace. It is said that a huge military machine will prevent war and insure peace, but the instance of Germany in 1914 is an indication that military power is dangerous. Perhaps the Bok award can create the interest that shall set in motion a great clamor for perpetual peace.

There never was a more opportune time to start the peace idea than now, when the wounds of the Great War are still open and when its hardships are still fresh in the memory of those who took part. The only way to make wars impossible is to create a universal feeling against them. That comes only when the entire people shall come to the conclusion that wars are useless and an economic waste.

The American nation is given an opportunity to start its education along peace lines. A full plan is submitted by the Bok program. A perusal of this, or better, a concentrated study, will make clear some of the means by which peace might be obtained. It may not meet the approval of some. These should send in their ballot as well as those who favor it. Only in that way can the opinion of the great mass of thinking Americans be ascertained.

INCOME TAX TIPS

No. 6.

In computing his net income for the year 1923 a taxpayer may deduct from gross income all losses, incurred not only in his business, trade or profession, but in any
"transaction entered into for profit" not compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

To be allowed, losses not incurred in trade or business must conform closely to the wording of the statute.
For example, a loss incurred in the sale of a taxpayer's home, which at the time of purchase was bought without intention of resale, is not deductible because it was not a transaction entered into for profit.
Losses sustained in the operation of a farm as a business venture are deductible. If sustained in the operation of a farm operated merely for the pleasure or convenience of the taxpayer, such losses are not deductible.

COMMUNICATED

Editor of the Courier:

To answer the many inquiries that come to me concerning a paper that was distributed all over town last week, announcing the date of Christ's return under the name of "Adventist Reform Church", I wish to say that Seventh Day Adventists are not in harmony with such teachings, and never have been. Never in all the history of the Seventh Day Adventist church was there a day set by them as a denomination, and it cannot be found in any authentic paper printed by them. Our teaching would forbid a day setting as we hold that in the year 1844 as the last date given or will be given as a date marking the time of the end.
This date came at the end of the two thousand, three hundred days, in the Prophecy of Daniel.

T. H. THUEMMLER,
Minister of S. D. A. church.

Circle Ladies Attention—

The Ladies' Progressive Literary Circle will hold the first meeting of the New Year at the home of Miss Ellen Lomas, 325 W. 1 St., Thursday afternoon, January 10, at 2 o'clock.
Roll call will be answered with New Year thoughts and each member be prepared with a current event. The ladies are asked to start the New Year right and all be present with their friends at this meeting.

WORKING GIRL MUST HAVE HER SILK ROSE, SHE SAYS

Pittsburgh, Jan. 7.—(I. N. S.)— The silk stocking is one of life's necessities—just the same as food, lip-sticks and powder.

So says Miss Violet Groening, of Carnegie Institute of Technology, here. Miss Groening makes her claim in a budget designed for the $20-a-week working girl.

A $30 Winter coat, a $20 sport dress, two $20 silk dresses and one $20 woolen dress, with a $5 separate skirt; a $3 sweater, three wash blouses and one silk blouse, with three hats for a total of $25 are all the outer garments Miss Groening says any business girl needs.

Wasting Time.

"Some of' deshere politicians does waste a heap of time," said Uncle Eben. "One of' dem stopped an lectured to me for two hours, same as if I had to be persuaded to vote de Republican ticket."

$100,000 PEACE PLAN PRIZE AWARDED

Advocates Entering World Court and Cooperation With League Without Full Membership at Present—Suggests League Membership Be Opened to All Nations and Provides for Development of International Law.

The American Peace Award brought forth 22,165 plans and many thousands of letters. Since many of the plans were the composite work of organizations, universities, etc., a single plan often represented the views of hundreds or thousands of individuals. The content of these plans is therefore an index of the true feeling and judgment of hundreds of thousands of American citizens.

These plans come from every group in American life. Some are obviously from lifelong students of history and international law. Some are from persons who have studied little, but who have themselves seen and felt the horror of war—or who are even now living out its tragedy.

But among them all are these dominant currents: that, if war is honestly to be prevented, there must be a face-about on the part of the nations in their attitude toward it; that by some progressive agreement the manufacture and purchase of the munitions of war must be limited or stopped; that while no political mechanism alone will insure cooperation among the nations, there must be some machinery of cooperation if the will to cooperate is to be made effective; that mutual counsel among the nations is the real hope for bringing about the disavowal of war by the open avowal of its real causes and open discussion of them; and finally that there must be some means of defining, recording, interpreting and developing the law of nations.

Statement of Jury of Award

The Jury of Award realizes that there is no one approach to world peace, and that it is necessary to recognize not merely political but also psychological and economic factors.

I. ENTER THE PERMANENT COURT

That the United States adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice for the reasons and under the conditions stated by Secretary Hughes and President Harding in February, 1923.

II. COOPERATE WITH THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS, WITHOUT FULL MEMBERSHIP AT PRESENT

That without becoming a member of the League of Nations as at present constituted, the United States Government should extend its present cooperation with the League and propose participation in the work of its Assembly and Council under the following conditions and reservations:

Safeguarding of Monroe Doctrine

1. The United States accepts the League of Nations as an instrument of mutual counsel, but it will assume no obligation to interfere with political questions of policy or internal administration of any foreign state.

In uniting its efforts with those of other States for the preservation of peace and the promotion of the common welfare, the United States insists upon the safeguarding of the Monroe Doctrine and does not abandon its traditional attitude concerning American independence of the Old World and does not consent to submit its long established policy concerning questions regarded by it as purely American to the recommendation or decision of other Powers.

No Military or Economic Force

2. That the only kind of compulsion which nations can freely engage to apply to each other in the name of Peace is that which arises from conference, from moral judgment, from full publicity, and from the power of public opinion.

The United States would assume no obligations under Article X in its present form, or under Article XVI in its present form in the Covenant, or in its amended form as now proposed, unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action.

The United States proposes that Articles X and XVI be either dropped altogether or so amended and changed as to eliminate any suggestion of a general agreement to use coercion for obtaining conformity to the pledges of the Covenant.

No Obligations Under Versailles Treaty

3. That the United States will accept no responsibilities under the Treaty of Versailles unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action.

League Open to All Nations

4. The United States Government proposes that Article I of the Covenant be construed and applied, or, if necessary, re-drafted, so that admission to the League shall be assured to any self-governing State that wishes to join and that receives the favorable vote of two-thirds of the Assembly.

Development of International Law

5. As a condition of its participation in the work and counsels of the League, the United States asks that the Assembly and Council consent—or obtain authority—to begin collaboration for the revision and development of international law, employing for this purpose the aid of a commission of jurists. This Commission would be directed to formulate anew existing rules of the law of nations, to reconcile divergent opinions, to consider points hitherto inadequately provided for but vital to the maintenance of international justice, and in general to define the social rights and duties of States. The recommendations of the Commission would be presented from time to time, in proper form for consideration, to the Assembly as to a recommending if not a law-making body.

Author's Name Not to Be Revealed Until After Referendum

In order that the vote may be taken solely upon the merits of the plan, the Policy Committee, with the acquiescence of Mr. Bok, has decided not to disclose the authorship of the plan until after the referendum. The identity is unknown to the members of the Jury of Award and the Policy Committee, except one delegated member.
