

Grants Pass Daily Courier

Grants Pass—Gateway to the Oregon Caves

VOL. XV., No. 42. GRANTS PASS, JOSEPHINE COUNTY, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1924. WHOLE NUMBER 3642.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE WINS SWEEPING VICTORY AT POLLS ON TUESDAY

HAS 371 ELECTORAL VOTES; RETURNS CONTINUE TO ROLL IN FROM STATES

Congressional Contests Slow But Republicans Have Net Gain of 12—Also Appear to Have Three to Four Senate Gain Today

New York, Nov. 5.—(A. P.)—Returns from the states continued to roll in today, and served only to swell the tide upon which Coolidge is riding to an apparent and overwhelming victory. Congressional contests were slow and are still insufficient to show whether Coolidge will have a real working majority. The republicans had made a net gain of 12 in the house and apparently three or four in the senate.

The electoral vote stands: Coolidge—Arizona 3, California 13, Colorado 6, Connecticut 7, Delaware 3, Idaho 4, Illinois 29, Indiana 13, Iowa 13, Kansas 10, Kentucky 12, Maine 6, Maryland 8, Massachusetts 18, Michigan 15, Minnesota 12, Missouri 18, Montana 4, Nebraska 8, New Hampshire 4, New Jersey 14, New York 45, Ohio 24, Oregon 5, Pennsylvania 38, Rhode Island 5, South Dakota 5, Utah 4, Vermont 4, Washington 8, West Virginia 8, Wyoming 3; total, 371.

Davis—Alabama 12, Arkansas 9, Florida 6, Georgia 14, Louisiana 10, Mississippi 10, New Mexico 3, North Carolina 12, Oklahoma 10, South Carolina 9, Tennessee 12, Texas 29, Virginia 12; total, 139.

LaPollette—Wisconsin 13. Doubtful—Nevada 3, North Dakota 5; total 8.

Washington, Nov. 5.—(U. P.)—Calvin Coolidge of Vermont became twenty-ninth president of the United States through the death of his predecessor and was nominated in his own right by the Cleveland convention.

His accession to the presidency was the capstone of a long life of public service, that includes the steps of city councillor, clerk of courts, mayor, state representative, state senator, president of the state senate, lieutenant governor and vice-president.

All these offices except the last were held by him in his adopted town of Northampton and in his adopted state of Massachusetts. To him Massachusetts is home, but his heart still turns to the hills of Vermont where he lived as a boy.

Calvin Coolidge, significantly enough to those who read things in terms of omens, was born on the Fourth of July morning, 1872, in the tiny mountain hamlet of Plymouth, Vermont.

Behind his cradle stretched generations of a Puritan inheritance on one side and Protestant Irish on the other. The Coolidges trace their descent in the United States from a family of Coolidges who settled in Watertown, Mass., in 1830, though the line is not clear between them and John Coolidge, who settled Plymouth in 1780.

His mother, Victoria Josephine Moor, sprung from that sturdy Irish stock which did much to transform the wildernesses of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine to fertile fields in the late 1600's and early 1700's.

Thus, the heritage of Calvin Coolidge was English-Irish. The household into which he was born was of the purest New England type, notable for its frugality, its God-fearing devotion to principles of conduct and religion, sheltered, back in that mountain nook, from the relaxation that tainted the same heritage of families in the more populous Massachusetts lowlands.

The Boston force at the time was under a special commission, dependent on the governor's office. Their head was a special police commissioner responsible to the governor.

Coolidge, though in town, with the situation hourly growing more menacing, refused to interfere with the police commissioner whose duty it was to handle the trouble. His position was that he refused to compromise the authority of the law.

All the night of the 9th, the disorders proceeded. Early on the morning of the 10th, the police commissioner appealed for state troops. Coolidge ordered the troops to report at once, declared martial law and issued a proclamation taking over command of the police. He ultimately brought order out of chaos.

It has been claimed that Mayor Peters of Boston, alarmed by the delay of the governor, ordered out the troops himself under an ancient law never before used, and that the governor followed his lead later. The Democratic national committee sponsored this statement in the campaign just ended and offered $1000 reward to any one disproving the statement. It was denied by Coolidge's friends and associates of the strike days.

The upshot of the strike was that Coolidge was established in the public mind as the apostle of law and order. Thousands of congratulatory messages were sent him, including one from President Wilson.

The elections followed shortly thereafter and Coolidge was reelected governor by an enormous majority and inaugurated on January 9, 1920.

Meanwhile, the presidential bee was buzzing, not with Coolidge, but with his ever-present friend, Stearns. Stearns and a little organization labored hard to stir up sentiment throughout New England for Coolidge and went to the 1920 convention with a bloc of votes that totaled 29 on the first ballot, and reached a high point of 32 on the second. The Harding landslide, however, wiped out the only chance Coolidge had—in a deal—before he got any further, but he secured second place.

At 9 p. m., the night after Harding was named, Wallace MacCamant, of Oregon, placed Calvin Coolidge in nomination. A stampede ensued and Coolidge was given the place. He was officially notified at Northampton, July 27.

Coolidge's contribution to the campaign was a tour of the border states. He spoke in Maryland, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina. Republican victories in Maryland and ing, refused to interfere with the police commissioner whose duty it was to handle the trouble. His position was that he refused to compromise the authority of the law.

All the night of the 9th, the disorders proceeded. Early on the morning of the 10th, the police commissioner appealed for state troops. Coolidge ordered the troops to report at once, declared martial law and issued a proclamation taking over command of the police. He ultimately brought order out of chaos.

It has been claimed that Mayor Peters of Boston, alarmed by the delay of the governor, ordered out the troops himself under an ancient law never before used, and that the governor followed his lead later. The Democratic national committee sponsored this statement in the campaign just ended and offered $1000 reward to any one disproving the statement. It was denied by Coolidge's friends and associates of the strike days.

The upshot of the strike was that Coolidge was established in the public mind as the apostle of law and order. Thousands of congratulatory messages were sent him, including one from President Wilson.

The elections followed shortly thereafter and Coolidge was reelected governor by an enormous majority and inaugurated on January 9, 1920.

Meanwhile, the presidential bee was buzzing, not with Coolidge, but with his ever-present friend, Stearns. Stearns and a little organization labored hard to stir up sentiment throughout New England for Coolidge and went to the 1920 convention with a bloc of votes that totaled 29 on the first ballot, and reached a high point of 32 on the second. The Harding landslide, however, wiped out the only chance Coolidge had—in a deal—before he got any further, but he secured second place.

At 9 p. m., the night after Harding was named, Wallace MacCamant, of Oregon, placed Calvin Coolidge in nomination. A stampede ensued and Coolidge was given the place. He was officially notified at Northampton, July 27.

Coolidge's contribution to the campaign was a tour of the border states. He spoke in Maryland, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina. Republican victories in Maryland and

Washington, Nov. 5.—(U. P.)—Calvin Coolidge of Vermont became twenty-ninth president of the United States through the death of his predecessor and was nominated in his own right by the Cleveland convention.

His accession to the presidency was the capstone of a long life of public service, that includes the steps of city councillor, clerk of courts, mayor, state representative, state senator, president of the state senate, lieutenant governor and vice-president.

All these offices except the last were held by him in his adopted town of Northampton and in his adopted state of Massachusetts. To him Massachusetts is home, but his heart still turns to the hills of Vermont where he lived as a boy.

Calvin Coolidge, significantly enough to those who read things in terms of omens, was born on the Fourth of July morning, 1872, in the tiny mountain hamlet of Plymouth, Vermont.

Behind his cradle stretched generations of a Puritan inheritance on one side and Protestant Irish on the other. The Coolidges trace their descent in the United States from a family of Coolidges who settled in Watertown, Mass., in 1830, though the line is not clear between them and John Coolidge, who settled Plymouth in 1780.

His mother, Victoria Josephine Moor, sprung from that sturdy Irish stock which did much to transform the wildernesses of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine to fertile fields in the late 1600's and early 1700's.

Thus, the heritage of Calvin Coolidge was English-Irish. The household into which he was born was of the purest New England type, notable for its frugality, its God-fearing devotion to principles of conduct and religion, sheltered, back in that mountain nook, from the relaxation that tainted the same heritage of families in the more populous Massachusetts lowlands.

The Boston force at the time was under a special commission, dependent on the governor's office. Their head was a special police commissioner responsible to the governor.

Coolidge, though in town, with the situation hourly growing more menacing, refused to interfere with the police commissioner whose duty it was to handle the trouble. His position was that he refused to compromise the authority of the law.

All the night of the 9th, the disorders proceeded. Early on the morning of the 10th, the police commissioner appealed for state troops. Coolidge ordered the troops to report at once, declared martial law and issued a proclamation taking over command of the police. He ultimately brought order out of chaos.

It has been claimed that Mayor Peters of Boston, alarmed by the delay of the governor, ordered out the troops himself under an ancient law never before used, and that the governor followed his lead later. The Democratic national committee sponsored this statement in the campaign just ended and offered $1000 reward to any one disproving the statement. It was denied by Coolidge's friends and associates of the strike days.

The upshot of the strike was that Coolidge was established in the public mind as the apostle of law and order. Thousands of congratulatory messages were sent him, including one from President Wilson.

The elections followed shortly thereafter and Coolidge was reelected governor by an enormous majority and inaugurated on January 9, 1920.

Meanwhile, the presidential bee was buzzing, not with Coolidge, but with his ever-present friend, Stearns. Stearns and a little organization labored hard to stir up sentiment throughout New England for Coolidge and went to the 1920 convention with a bloc of votes that totaled 29 on the first ballot, and reached a high point of 32 on the second. The Harding landslide, however, wiped out the only chance Coolidge had—in a deal—before he got any further, but he secured second place.

At 9 p. m., the night after Harding was named, Wallace MacCamant, of Oregon, placed Calvin Coolidge in nomination. A stampede ensued and Coolidge was given the place. He was officially notified at Northampton, July 27.

Coolidge's contribution to the campaign was a tour of the border states. He spoke in Maryland, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina. Republican victories in Maryland and

Washington, Nov. 5.—(U. P.)—Calvin Coolidge of Vermont became twenty-ninth president of the United States through the death of his predecessor and was nominated in his own right by the Cleveland convention.

His accession to the presidency was the capstone of a long life of public service, that includes the steps of city councillor, clerk of courts, mayor, state representative, state senator, president of the state senate, lieutenant governor and vice-president.

All these offices except the last were held by him in his adopted town of Northampton and in his adopted state of Massachusetts. To him Massachusetts is home, but his heart still turns to the hills of Vermont where he lived as a boy.

Calvin Coolidge, significantly enough to those who read things in terms of omens, was born on the Fourth of July morning, 1872, in the tiny mountain hamlet of Plymouth, Vermont.

Behind his cradle stretched generations of a Puritan inheritance on one side and Protestant Irish on the other. The Coolidges trace their descent in the United States from a family of Coolidges who settled in Watertown, Mass., in 1830, though the line is not clear between them and John Coolidge, who settled Plymouth in 1780.

His mother, Victoria Josephine Moor, sprung from that sturdy Irish stock which did much to transform the wildernesses of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine to fertile fields in the late 1600's and early 1700's.

Thus, the heritage of Calvin Coolidge was English-Irish. The household into which he was born was of the purest New England type, notable for its frugality, its God-fearing devotion to principles of conduct and religion, sheltered, back in that mountain nook, from the relaxation that tainted the same heritage of families in the more populous Massachusetts lowlands.

The Boston force at the time was under a special commission, dependent on the governor's office. Their head was a special police commissioner responsible to the governor.

Coolidge, though in town, with the situation hourly growing more menacing, refused to interfere with the police commissioner whose duty it was to handle the trouble. His position was that he refused to compromise the authority of the law.

All the night of the 9th, the disorders proceeded. Early on the morning of the 10th, the police commissioner appealed for state troops. Coolidge ordered the troops to report at once, declared martial law and issued a proclamation taking over command of the police. He ultimately brought order out of chaos.

It has been claimed that Mayor Peters of Boston, alarmed by the delay of the governor, ordered out the troops himself under an ancient law never before used, and that the governor followed his lead later. The Democratic national committee sponsored this statement in the campaign just ended and offered $1000 reward to any one disproving the statement. It was denied by Coolidge's friends and associates of the strike days.

The upshot of the strike was that Coolidge was established in the public mind as the apostle of law and order. Thousands of congratulatory messages were sent him, including one from President Wilson.

The elections followed shortly thereafter and Coolidge was reelected governor by an enormous majority and inaugurated on January 9, 1920.

Meanwhile, the presidential bee was buzzing, not with Coolidge, but with his ever-present friend, Stearns. Stearns and a little organization labored hard to stir up sentiment throughout New England for Coolidge and went to the 1920 convention with a bloc of votes that totaled 29 on the first ballot, and reached a high point of 32 on the second. The Harding landslide, however, wiped out the only chance Coolidge had—in a deal—before he got any further, but he secured second place.

At 9 p. m., the night after Harding was named, Wallace MacCamant, of Oregon, placed Calvin Coolidge in nomination. A stampede ensued and Coolidge was given the place. He was officially notified at Northampton, July 27.

Coolidge's contribution to the campaign was a tour of the border states. He spoke in Maryland, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina. Republican victories in Maryland and

Washington, Nov. 5.—(U. P.)—Calvin Coolidge of Vermont became twenty-ninth president of the United States through the death of his predecessor and was nominated in his own right by the Cleveland convention.

His accession to the presidency was the capstone of a long life of public service, that includes the steps of city councillor, clerk of courts, mayor, state representative, state senator, president of the state senate, lieutenant governor and vice-president.

All these offices except the last were held by him in his adopted town of Northampton and in his adopted state of Massachusetts. To him Massachusetts is home, but his heart still turns to the hills of Vermont where he lived as a boy.

Calvin Coolidge, significantly enough to those who read things in terms of omens, was born on the Fourth of July morning, 1872, in the tiny mountain hamlet of Plymouth, Vermont.

Behind his cradle stretched generations of a Puritan inheritance on one side and Protestant Irish on the other. The Coolidges trace their descent in the United States from a family of Coolidges who settled in Watertown, Mass., in 1830, though the line is not clear between them and John Coolidge, who settled Plymouth in 1780.

His mother, Victoria Josephine Moor, sprung from that sturdy Irish stock which did much to transform the wildernesses of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine to fertile fields in the late 1600's and early 1700's.

Thus, the heritage of Calvin Coolidge was English-Irish. The household into which he was born was of the purest New England type, notable for its frugality, its God-fearing devotion to principles of conduct and religion, sheltered, back in that mountain nook, from the relaxation that tainted the same heritage of families in the more populous Massachusetts lowlands.

The Boston force at the time was under a special commission, dependent on the governor's office. Their head was a special police commissioner responsible to the governor.

Coolidge, though in town, with the situation hourly growing more menacing, refused to interfere with the police commissioner whose duty it was to handle the trouble. His position was that he refused to compromise the authority of the law.

All the night of the 9th, the disorders proceeded. Early on the morning of the 10th, the police commissioner appealed for state troops. Coolidge ordered the troops to report at once, declared martial law and issued a proclamation taking over command of the police. He ultimately brought order out of chaos.

It has been claimed that Mayor Peters of Boston, alarmed by the delay of the governor, ordered out the troops himself under an ancient law never before used, and that the governor followed his lead later. The Democratic national committee sponsored this statement in the campaign just ended and offered $1000 reward to any one disproving the statement. It was denied by Coolidge's friends and associates of the strike days.

The upshot of the strike was that Coolidge was established in the public mind as the apostle of law and order. Thousands of congratulatory messages were sent him, including one from President Wilson.

The elections followed shortly thereafter and Coolidge was reelected governor by an enormous majority and inaugurated on January 9, 1920.

Meanwhile, the presidential bee was buzzing, not with Coolidge, but with his ever-present friend, Stearns. Stearns and a little organization labored hard to stir up sentiment throughout New England for Coolidge and went to the 1920 convention with a bloc of votes that totaled 29 on the first ballot, and reached a high point of 32 on the second. The Harding landslide, however, wiped out the only chance Coolidge had—in a deal—before he got any further, but he secured second place.

At 9 p. m., the night after Harding was named, Wallace MacCamant, of Oregon, placed Calvin Coolidge in nomination. A stampede ensued and Coolidge was given the place. He was officially notified at Northampton, July 27.

Coolidge's contribution to the campaign was a tour of the border states. He spoke in Maryland, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina. Republican victories in Maryland and

Washington, Nov. 5.—(U. P.)—Calvin Coolidge of Vermont became twenty-ninth president of the United States through the death of his predecessor and was nominated in his own right by the Cleveland convention.

His accession to the presidency was the capstone of a long life of public service, that includes the steps of city councillor, clerk of courts, mayor, state representative, state senator, president of the state senate, lieutenant governor and vice-president.

All these offices except the last were held by him in his adopted town of Northampton and in his adopted state of Massachusetts. To him Massachusetts is home, but his heart still turns to the hills of Vermont where he lived as a boy.

Calvin Coolidge, significantly enough to those who read things in terms of omens, was born on the Fourth of July morning, 1872, in the tiny mountain hamlet of Plymouth, Vermont.

Behind his cradle stretched generations of a Puritan inheritance on one side and Protestant Irish on the other. The Coolidges trace their descent in the United States from a family of Coolidges who settled in Watertown, Mass., in 1830, though the line is not clear between them and John Coolidge, who settled Plymouth in 1780.

His mother, Victoria Josephine Moor, sprung from that sturdy Irish stock which did much to transform the wildernesses of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine to fertile fields in the late 1600's and early 1700's.

Thus, the heritage of Calvin Coolidge was English-Irish. The household into which he was born was of the purest New England type, notable for its frugality, its God-fearing devotion to principles of conduct and religion, sheltered, back in that mountain nook, from the relaxation that tainted the same heritage of families in the more populous Massachusetts lowlands.

The Boston force at the time was under a special commission, dependent on the governor's office. Their head was a special police commissioner responsible to the governor.

Coolidge, though in town, with the situation hourly growing more menacing, refused to interfere with the police commissioner whose duty it was to handle the trouble. His position was that he refused to compromise the authority of the law.

All the night of the 9th, the disorders proceeded. Early on the morning of the 10th, the police commissioner appealed for state troops. Coolidge ordered the troops to report at once, declared martial law and issued a proclamation taking over command of the police. He ultimately brought order out of chaos.

It has been claimed that Mayor Peters of Boston, alarmed by the delay of the governor, ordered out the troops himself under an ancient law never before used, and that the governor followed his lead later. The Democratic national committee sponsored this statement in the campaign just ended and offered $1000 reward to any one disproving the statement. It was denied by Coolidge's friends and associates of the strike days.

The upshot of the strike was that Coolidge was established in the public mind as the apostle of law and order. Thousands of congratulatory messages were sent him, including one from President Wilson.

The elections followed shortly thereafter and Coolidge was reelected governor by an enormous majority and inaugurated on January 9, 1920.

Meanwhile, the presidential bee was buzzing, not with Coolidge, but with his ever-present friend, Stearns. Stearns and a little organization labored hard to stir up sentiment throughout New England for Coolidge and went to the 1920 convention with a bloc of votes that totaled 29 on the first ballot, and reached a high point of 32 on the second. The Harding landslide, however, wiped out the only chance Coolidge had—in a deal—before he got any further, but he secured second place.

At 9 p. m., the night after Harding was named, Wallace MacCamant, of Oregon, placed Calvin Coolidge in nomination. A stampede ensued and Coolidge was given the place. He was officially notified at Northampton, July 27.

Coolidge's contribution to the campaign was a tour of the border states. He spoke in Maryland, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina. Republican victories in Maryland and

CONVICT MAKES HIS ESCAPE FROM PRISON

Salem, Nov. 5.—Driving Tom Holman's automobile which was parked at the curb while the owner was visiting his step-father, Warden A. M. Dalrymple, William Crosby, a convict, escaped from the penitentiary shortly after 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Crosby was received at the penitentiary from Multnomah county on November 29, 1921, to serve 25 years for assault and robbery while armed with a dangerous weapon. During the temporary governorship of Roy Ritner, Crosby's sentence was reduced to six years.

PRESIDENT RECEIVES DAVIS CONGRATULATION

Washington, Nov. 5.—(A. P.)—"Permit me to congratulate you," John W. Davis telegraphed President Coolidge today, on your sweeping victory and to express the hope that your administration may, by its success, inure to the welfare of the country."

The president sent this reply: "Please accept my thanks for your message and my appreciation of the patriotic sentiments you express."

New York, Nov. 5.—(A. P.)—"John W. Davis, in a public statement issued today, accepted the outcome of the election "without any vain regret or bitterness," and said it was his honest hope that "the administration of President Coolidge may prove to be successful and beneficial to the country."

CLOSE RESULT MARKS VOTING COUNTY JOBS

CRAMER AND HAYES ARE GIVEN MAJORITIES IN RACES FOR OFFICE

STATE G. O. P. TICKET CARRIES

All State and National Republican Offices Are Filled—The Vote in City for Councilman

In two bitterly contested elections, Theo. P. Cramer was elected to re- (Continued on Page Three)

COOLIDGE PLEDGES SELF TO SERVICE OF COUNTRY

Washington, Nov. 5.—(A. P.)—"It doesn't seem possible to me," President Coolidge said in a statement to newspapermen today, "to make an adequate expression concerning the presidency. No other honor equals it, and no other responsibility approaches it. When conferred by the overwhelming choice of the American people and the vote of the electoral college, these are made all the greater. I can only express my simple thanks to all those who have contributed to this result and plainly acknowledge it has been brought to pass through the work of a divine providence, of which I am but one instrument. Such powers as I have I dedicate to the service of all my country and all my countrymen."

OREGON GOES OVER STRONG FOR COOLIDGE

PRESIDENT WINS DECISIVELY OVER OTHER CANDIDATES IN STATE

M'NARY GIVEN BIG MAJORITY

Income Tax Repealed—Oleo Bill Defeated—Hawley Returned From This District to Congress

Portland, Ore., Nov. 5.—(A. P.)—As complete returns were tabulated today President Coolidge's lead in Oregon was increased.

The election of M. E. Crumpacker, republican, as representative from the third congressional district was apparently assured when 311 complete precincts out of 467 in the district were tabulated. Crumpacker had 29,852, Elton Watkins, democrat, 22,950. This gives Oregon a solid republican delegation in congress, Representative W. C. Hawley, of the first district, and N. J. Sinnott, of the second district, having safe leads.

Oregon voters apparently defeated the income tax law which was adopted by popular vote two years ago. With returns from 839 complete precincts tabulated the vote stood: for repeal 71,560, against repeal 49,421. The people by referendum rejected a state law banning oleomargarine, 914 precincts showing 78,616 to 40,160 for killing the bill.

A compulsory workmen's compensation law proposed by initiative was rejected 69,991 to 35,435.

Measures approved were for requiring a literacy test for voters, a bill for licensing naturopaths, a constitutional amendment providing a state bonus for women who served in the war department during the World War and an amendment providing for public thoroughfares for products of farms, mines and forests.

In the close race for supreme court judgeship, O. P. Coshaw forged ahead of Perry R. Kelly, on returns from 819 complete precincts.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 5.—(A. P.)—Oregon went decisively for President Coolidge. McNary had a big lead for senator. Hawley, in the first district, Sinnott in the second and Crumpacker in the third were elected to congress. Thos. B. Kay had a big lead for state treasurer over Jefferson Myers. Kozer was reelected secretary of state and Van Winkle attorney general. Belt was elected as supreme court justice. There is a close race between Coshaw and Kelly for the second judgeship. The income tax was repealed and the oleomargarine law defeated.

One thousand and six precincts gave Coolidge 80,700, Davis 37,376 and LaPollette 35,925; McNary 93,997 and Miller 35,999. One thousand and ninety nine precincts gave Kay 86,391, and Myers 52,821. Eight hundred and nineteen gave Belt 74,727, Coshaw 50,554 and Kelly 45,337.

UNOFFICIAL COUNT GENERAL ELECTION FOR JOSEPHINE COUNTY, NOVEMBER 4, 1924

	Grants Pass No. 1	Grants Pass No. 2	Grants Pass No. 3	Grants Pass No. 4	Grants Pass No. 5	Grants Pass No. 6	Grants Pass No. 7	Grants Pass No. 8	Grants Pass No. 9	Grants Pass No. 10	Grants Pass No. 11	Grants Pass No. 12	Grants Pass No. 13	Grants Pass No. 14	Grants Pass No. 15	Grants Pass No. 16	Grants Pass No. 17	Grants Pass No. 18	Grants Pass No. 19	Grants Pass No. 20	Grants Pass No. 21	Grants Pass No. 22	Grants Pass No. 23	Grants Pass No. 24	Grants Pass No. 25	Grants Pass No. 26	Grants Pass No. 27	Grants Pass No. 28	Grants Pass No. 29	Grants Pass No. 30	Grants Pass No. 31	Grants Pass No. 32	Grants Pass No. 33	Grants Pass No. 34	Grants Pass No. 35	Grants Pass No. 36	Grants Pass No. 37	Grants Pass No. 38	Grants Pass No. 39	Grants Pass No. 40	Grants Pass No. 41	Grants Pass No. 42	Grants Pass No. 43	Grants Pass No. 44	Grants Pass No. 45	Grants Pass No. 46	Grants Pass No. 47	Grants Pass No. 48	Grants Pass No. 49	Grants Pass No. 50	Grants Pass No. 51	Grants Pass No. 52	Grants Pass No. 53	Grants Pass No. 54	Grants Pass No. 55	Grants Pass No. 56	Grants Pass No. 57	Grants Pass No. 58	Grants Pass No. 59	Grants Pass No. 60	Grants Pass No. 61	Grants Pass No. 62	Grants Pass No. 63	Grants Pass No. 64	Grants Pass No. 65	Grants Pass No. 66	Grants Pass No. 67	Grants Pass No. 68	Grants Pass No. 69	Grants Pass No. 70	Grants Pass No. 71	Grants Pass No. 72	Grants Pass No. 73	Grants Pass No. 74	Grants Pass No. 75	Grants Pass No. 76	Grants Pass No. 77	Grants Pass No. 78	Grants Pass No. 79	Grants Pass No. 80	Grants Pass No. 81	Grants Pass No. 82	Grants Pass No. 83	Grants Pass No. 84	Grants Pass No. 85	Grants Pass No. 86	Grants Pass No. 87	Grants Pass No. 88	Grants Pass No. 89	Grants Pass No. 90	Grants Pass No. 91	Grants Pass No. 92	Grants Pass No. 93	Grants Pass No. 94	Grants Pass No. 95	Grants Pass No. 96	Grants Pass No. 97	Grants Pass No. 98	Grants Pass No. 99	Grants Pass No. 100	Grants Pass No. 101	Grants Pass No. 102	Grants Pass No. 103	Grants Pass No. 104	Grants Pass No. 105	Grants Pass No. 106	Grants Pass No. 107	Grants Pass No. 108	Grants Pass No. 109	Grants Pass No. 110	Grants Pass No. 111	Grants Pass No. 112	Grants Pass No. 113	Grants Pass No. 114	Grants Pass No. 115	Grants Pass No. 116	Grants Pass No. 117	Grants Pass No. 118	Grants Pass No. 119	Grants Pass No. 120	Grants Pass No. 121	Grants Pass No. 122	Grants Pass No. 123	Grants Pass No. 124	Grants Pass No. 125	Grants Pass No. 126	Grants Pass No. 127	Grants Pass No. 128	Grants Pass No. 129	Grants Pass No. 130	Grants Pass No. 131	Grants Pass No. 132	Grants Pass No. 133	Grants Pass No. 134	Grants Pass No. 135	Grants Pass No. 136	Grants Pass No. 137	Grants Pass No. 138	Grants Pass No. 139	Grants Pass No. 140	Grants Pass No. 141	Grants Pass No. 142	Grants Pass No. 143	Grants Pass No. 144	Grants Pass No. 145	Grants Pass No. 146	Grants Pass No. 147	Grants Pass No. 148	Grants Pass No. 149	Grants Pass No. 150	Grants Pass No. 151	Grants Pass No. 152	Grants Pass No. 153	Grants Pass No. 154	Grants Pass No. 155	Grants Pass No. 156	Grants Pass No. 157	Grants Pass No. 158	Grants Pass No. 159	Grants Pass No. 160	Grants Pass No. 161	Grants Pass No. 162	Grants Pass No. 163	Grants Pass No. 164	Grants Pass No. 165	Grants Pass No. 166	Grants Pass No. 167	Grants Pass No. 168	Grants Pass No. 169	Grants Pass No. 170	Grants Pass No. 171	Grants Pass No. 172	Grants Pass No. 173	Grants Pass No. 174	Grants Pass No. 175	Grants Pass No. 176	Grants Pass No. 177	Grants Pass No. 178	Grants Pass No. 179	Grants Pass No. 180	Grants Pass No. 181	Grants Pass No. 182	Grants Pass No. 183	Grants Pass No. 184	Grants Pass No. 185	Grants Pass No. 186	Grants Pass No. 187	Grants Pass No. 188	Grants Pass No. 189	Grants Pass No. 190	Grants Pass No. 191	Grants Pass No. 192	Grants Pass No. 193	Grants Pass No. 194	Grants Pass No. 195	Grants Pass No. 196	Grants Pass No. 197	Grants Pass No. 198	Grants Pass No. 199	Grants Pass No. 200	Grants Pass No. 201	Grants Pass No. 202	Grants Pass No. 203	Grants Pass No. 204	Grants Pass No. 205	Grants Pass No. 206	Grants Pass No. 207	Grants Pass No. 208	Grants Pass No. 209	Grants Pass No. 210	Grants Pass No. 211	Grants Pass No. 212	Grants Pass No. 213	Grants Pass No. 214	Grants Pass No. 215	Grants Pass No. 216	Grants Pass No. 217	Grants Pass No. 218	Grants Pass No. 219	Grants Pass No. 220	Grants Pass No. 221	Grants Pass No. 222	Grants Pass No. 223	Grants Pass No. 224	Grants Pass No. 225	Grants Pass No. 226	Grants Pass No. 227	Grants Pass No. 228	Grants Pass No. 229	Grants Pass No. 230	Grants Pass No. 231	Grants Pass No. 232	Grants Pass No. 233	Grants Pass No. 234	Grants Pass No. 235	Grants Pass No. 236	Grants Pass No. 237	Grants Pass No. 238	Grants Pass No. 239	Grants Pass No. 240	Grants Pass No. 241	Grants Pass No. 242	Grants Pass No. 243	Grants Pass No. 244	Grants Pass No. 245	Grants Pass No. 246	Grants Pass No. 247	Grants Pass No. 248	Grants Pass No. 249	Grants Pass No. 250	Grants Pass No. 251	Grants Pass No. 252	Grants Pass No. 253	Grants Pass No. 254	Grants Pass No. 255	Grants Pass No. 256	Grants Pass No. 257	Grants Pass No. 258	Grants Pass No. 259	Grants Pass No. 260	Grants Pass No. 261	Grants Pass No. 262	Grants Pass No. 263	Grants Pass No. 264	Grants Pass No. 265	Grants Pass No. 266	Grants Pass No. 267	Grants Pass No. 268	Grants Pass No. 269	Grants Pass No. 270	Grants Pass No. 271	Grants Pass No. 272	Grants Pass No. 273	Grants Pass No. 274	Grants Pass No. 275	Grants Pass No. 276	Grants Pass No. 277	Grants Pass No. 278	Grants Pass No. 279	Grants Pass No. 280	Grants Pass No. 281	Grants Pass No. 282	Grants Pass No. 283	Grants Pass No. 284	Grants Pass No. 285	Grants Pass No. 286	Grants Pass No. 287	Grants Pass No. 288	Grants Pass No. 289	Grants Pass No. 290	Grants Pass No. 291	Grants Pass No. 292	Grants Pass No. 293	Grants Pass No. 294	Grants Pass No. 295	Grants Pass No. 296	Grants Pass No. 297	Grants Pass No. 298	Grants Pass No. 299	Grants Pass No. 300	Grants Pass No. 301	Grants Pass No. 302	Grants Pass No. 303	Grants Pass No. 304	Grants Pass No. 305	Grants Pass No. 306	Grants Pass No. 307	Grants Pass No. 308	Grants Pass No. 309	Grants Pass No. 310	Grants Pass No. 311	Grants Pass No. 312	Grants Pass No. 313	Grants Pass No. 314	Grants Pass No. 315	Grants Pass No. 316	Grants Pass No. 317	Grants Pass No. 318	Grants Pass No. 319	Grants Pass No. 320	Grants Pass No. 321	Grants Pass No. 322	Grants Pass No. 323	Grants Pass No. 324	Grants Pass No. 325	Grants Pass No. 326	Grants Pass No. 327	Grants Pass No. 328	Grants Pass No. 329	Grants Pass No. 330	Grants Pass No. 331	Grants Pass No. 332	Grants Pass No. 333	Grants Pass No. 334	Grants Pass No. 335	Grants Pass No. 336	Grants Pass No. 337	Grants Pass No. 338	Grants Pass No. 339	Grants Pass No. 340	Grants
--	-------------------	-------------------	-------------------	-------------------	-------------------	-------------------	-------------------	-------------------	-------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	---------------------	--------