Grows Fine Produce—Cauliflower and celery, grown near Grants Pass, is now being marketed at local stores. O. V. Davis, who has six acres of garden land on Orchard avenue, has planted a half acre of each of the above crops to test them out. The heads of cauliflower are white and firm and the celery is well bleached with fairly long stems. Mr. Davis is having no trouble marketing his crop here and says that the prospects are excellent.

Protecting Men's Rights—The habeas corpus act was passed in 1879, and provided that a prisoner or witness must be presented in person before the judge or tribunal.

Unlucky Magpie—The superstition that magpies are unlucky is based on the belief that they are the only birds which did not go into the ark with Noah.

River Is Still Up—The Rogue did not show much inclination to drop during the night, although it did recede to some extent over the high point reached early Thursday morning. The river is now muddy and shows plainly where the name Rogue was derived. The accepted version is that the name Rogue is a perversion of the French word "rouge" meaning red. And the river now has that color.

Home of Half-Million Gulls—Havingglass, on the coast of Cumberland, England, is one of the greatest haunts of seagulls (commonly called gullies) on the British coast. Their breeding season ended with the last days of June. These beautiful birds are of the black-headed variety, and the chief game warden estimates that there are over 500,000 birds, which is regarded as a most conservative estimate. The gallery is situated on the Muncaster Castle estate.
