covery will be tedious because of the bone being so badly crushed.

Rehearsals for the Christmas program will begin this week. Tierna Sheehan and Mrs. James Lindsay, with helpers, have charge this year which bespeaks a good entertainment, if all are willing to co-operate. Unless parents keep the dates of the rehearsals in mind and help the children to be there on time, the committee cannot make it a success.

V. H. Sherb, who is spending the winter with his son Joseph, received announcement this week of the marriage of his daughter, Edna to Clifford Vandemark, both of Los Angeles.

WARNS AGAINST RUNNING ENGINE IN CLOSED GARAGE

In an effort to minimize the danger from carbon monoxide poisoning which wipes out a number of lives in the United States every winter the California State Automobile association today issued a warning to motor car owners on what the approach of colder weather means in connection with this danger.

In California where practically every motor car owner owns his own home and private garage, a knowledge of this danger is most important, according to Louis P. Signer, well known service expert and manager of the association's free mechanical first aid and towing service.

When an automobile engine is operated in close quarters the carbon monoxide from its exhaust frequently collects in sufficient quantities to overcome the person in the garage and every motorist should avoid warming up the motor or running it for any reason in a closed building.

If it is necessary to warm up the engine before starting on the road, be sure that the garage doors are wide open and back out into your driveway as soon as possible, Signer warned. Never for any reason run the engine in the garage with the doors closed or work under the car with the engine running even if the doors are open.
