Scholarships offered to graduating girls

Chapter AX of the PEO Sisterhood will award academic scholarships to two graduating senior girls from high schools in Baker County and North Powder in the spring of 2019.

Applications are to arrive no later than 8 a.m. March 1, 2019, to Dorothy Mason, P.O. Box 446, Baker City, OR 97814. Baker High School students must return applications to the high school office by 8 a.m. March 1.

The applications are available in the guidance office at high schools in Baker County (Baker, Pine-Eagle, Burnt River and Huntington) and North Powder.

All women students from Baker County or North Powder, who plan to enroll in an accredited college or university, are eligible to apply, a press release announcing the application process stated. The scholarships are awarded on the basis of academic achievement, goals, activities, financial need and personal character.

The two scholarships are named for three Baker women.

The Gertrude Fortner-Rose Haskell Scholarship was named for two charter members of Chapter AX who strongly believed in higher education for women.

The Mildred F. Rogers Chapter AX PEO Scholarship was established in 2000 by her daughter and her grandchildren. Mrs. Rogers was a longtime member of Chapter AX, being initiated in 1951 and holding the office of president in 1952. She was a descendent of Oregon Trail pioneer grandparents and lived her entire life in Baker City. Always a loyal citizen, she gave of herself to the community of Baker City and to its people, so that future generations would have the opportunity to appreciate life as she had, the press release stated. She died at age 100.

The PEO sisterhood is an international philanthropic educational organization, which was founded in 1869 at Iowa Wesleyan College in Mount Pleasant, Iowa. PEO promotes educational opportunities for women through a variety of scholarship and grant opportunities. The PEO sisterhood owns and supports Cottey College in Nevada, Missouri. Chapter AX was organized in 1932 in Baker City.

More information about the scholarships is available by calling Dorothy Mason at 541-523-7642.

BAKER CITY HISTORY

Remembering merchants of the '30s

By Phyllis Badgley
For the Baker City Herald

Among Baker City merchants I recall Ray and Roy Miller, who owned a garage at the corner of Broadway and Fourth streets. Their auto repair section was in the rear area. The front portion featured a drive up gasoline pump. Gasoline sold for 22 cents a gallon.

Brother Harvey Miller was employed there. He was interested in airplanes and spent hours at the Baker City Airport. Harvey's father-in-law, Carl Cloud, operated a barber shop on Main Street. Cloud also sold real estate.

Montgomery Ward Co. occupied the northwest corner of Broadway and

First streets. Mr. Boggess was manager, Elsie Best served customers at the catalog desk, and Mrs. Crabill clerked the ladies clothing department. Bob Samuels managed the tire department adjacent to the alley.

Local merchant Charles Langrell owned Langrell's Trading Post, on Broadway between Second and Third streets. "Charlie" was known for his honest and fair business. He served on the Baker School Board. Langrell's legacy continued to influence Baker City through his son, Grier, who established a mortuary, and his grandson, Richard, who built the Always Welcome Inn motel.

Ed Beers established a popular ice cream outlet at Broadway and Second.

His advertisement of "24 Flavors" was popular, because most confectioneries offered only vanilla, strawberry and chocolate.

George Foster managed East Oregon Savings & Loan. Established in the 2000 block of Broadway, it employed Don Guyer and L.V. Hammond. Upon return from duty in World War II, Don Guyer served as officer in Pioneer Savings Bank at the corner of First and Broadway.

That location earlier was the home of Weis Furniture Company. Henry Weis, owner, employed Ralph Holcomb as a carpet and linoleum layer. Holcomb become well known and later established his own business.

BREWING

Barley Brown's owner Tyler Brown said he couldn't ignore the terrible damage the Camp Fire inflicted. He noted that Oregon is also vulnerable to wildfires. He said that many craft brewers also admire the history of Sierra Nevada.

Sierra Nevada provided all participating breweries with a suggested recipe. Barley's version of Resilience Butte County Proud IPA follows the suggested recipe about 90 percent, the main difference being that the Baker City brewery used a local malt.

Barley Brown's brewed four barrels of the beer, and is down to its last keg of the brew at the tap house.

The beer uses Centennial and Cascade hops, which Brown said were much more popular in the 1990s. The beer has a taste reminiscent of other Sierra Nevada beers, he said.

This is not the first time

Barley Brown's has collaborated with Sierra Nevada. In 2015, local brewers visited a Sierra Nevada facility in North Carolina. The all-expenses-paid visit was part of Beer Camp Across America. Barley's and four other breweries from across the West worked together to create Moxee-Mron IPA, which they released in 2016.

As for the Camp Fire fundraiser, more than 17,000 barrels of the Resilience IPA have been brewed. A barrel equates to 31 gallons, which means more than 520,000 gallons of the beer have been brewed.

The money raised from sales of Resilience IPA is meant for long-term support of those affected by the fire, and Sierra Nevada will distribute the money to partner organizations working with fire victims.

The Barley's version of Resilience IPA will only be served on draft locally, but Sierra Nevada will be canning and selling its version at stores around the country.

RESCUE

The road is not plowed during winter, said Ashley McClay, public information officer for the Baker County Sheriff's Office.

The man, whom McClay declined to identify due to a federal health privacy law, hurt his back. She did not know the circumstances.

The Search and Rescue Team traveled about two miles by snowmobile and four-wheeler to reach the man's home, McClay said.

The Baker County Dispatch Center received a phone call requesting medical aid at 9:43 a.m. from 38858 Pinus Creek Loop. The property is owned by Carroll Blackshire of Wallula, Washington, according to the Assessor's Office.

Baker County Emergency Management and the BLM assisted in the effort.

OBITUARIES

Sharlene Cole

Baker City, 1932-2019

Speaking of reading, she spent her latter years, when the body was not able to move as easily, literally consuming mystery and murder books, including true life and historical novels with every waking moment. Another time-consuming habit that she practiced for over 40 years was that of writing a detailed journal every single day of the year, rarely missing an entry.

Besides her five children, she is survived by numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren and a special friend, Dagmar Cole.

She was preceded in death by her son, Rance E. Cole (infant death); her parents, Dorothy Ollie Neumann, Valeen, Eckleberry; her father, Howard P. Valeen and stepfather, Malcolm Frank Eckleberry; and her husband of 47 years, Raymond G. Cole, who died June 4, 1999.

Her life verse was Philippians 1:6, "Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ." Her favorite color(s) were red and black, with her favorite flower being the rose. Her motto was simply to try and "live for the Lord," doing her best to represent him with her life.

Any donations made in her honor should be directed to Heart 'N Home Hospice or the McEwen Fellowship in Sumpter through Tami's Pine Valley Funeral Home & Cremation Services, P.O. Box 543, Halfway, OR 97834. Online condolences may be made at www.tamispinevalleyfuneralhome.com
