TURNING BACK THE PAGES

50 YEARS AGO from the Democrat-Herald December 13, 1969

HUNTINGTON — The Locomotives maintained a precarious slim lead over the Midvale Rangers and went the distance with two points to spare. The Locos won 73-71 here in high school basketball action Friday night.

25 YEARS AGO from the Baker City Herald December 13, 1994

Two Baker City residents concerned that the proposed Leo Adler Memorial Parkway could mean more vandalism and other crime and less privacy were among the 60 or so people who spoke at a meeting Monday night in the Baker High School Commons.

10 YEARS AGO from the Baker City Herald December 14, 2009

Huntington business owners and school and city officials worry that temporary layoffs of 68 workers scheduled this afternoon at the Ash Grove cement plant could become permanent under tightening of mercury emission rules.

ONE YEAR AGO from the Baker City Herald December 14, 2018

Baker City's revenue from its ambulance service has rebounded from the one-year dip that city officials cited as partial justification for the $3 per household monthly public safety fee imposed starting July 1, 2017.

That fee, approved by the City Council, remains in effect. The fee, which is $6 per month for businesses, raises about $180,000 per year for the city's general fund, which includes the fire and police departments.

City officials said during the spring of 2017 that the public safety fee was necessary to prevent the possible layoffs of two employees in the police department and two in the fire department.

Ambulance revenue, which totaled about $789,000 for the fiscal year that ended June 30, 2018, equates to about 44 percent of the fire department's annual budget of about $1.8 million.

City Manager Fred Warner Jr. said that although ambulance revenues have improved since the one-year decline, he doesn't intend to propose that the City Council either reduce or eliminate the fee.

About Robert Gambs

Dielman compiled the following information to accompany the Gambs collection:

Robert N. Gambs was born in Baker in 1917 and graduated from Baker High School in 1934. He attended Eastern Oregon College for a couple of years, then took over an existing photography studio in Baker. He married Beth MacFarlane, a 1937 graduate of BHS.

During WWII Robert enlisted in the Navy and served as an aerial photographer, flying on PBV "flying boats" out of Pensacola, Florida. After the war Robert returned to his photography business.

In 1950 the family moved to Eugene where Robert attended the University of Oregon. In 1952 he was awarded a bachelor of science degree. The Gambs family moved to Portland in 1955.

Robert worked for the 3M company in its copy machine division, and later worked as a management analyst for the State of Oregon in the 1970s. He also worked for the Continental Casualty Co. documenting damages as the result of car wrecks.

At the time of entering this record in 2019, Beth at age 99 was living with her son, Jon and wife, Karen, in Vancouver, Washington. Robert died in 1996 at age 79 and is buried in Willamette National Cemetery in Portland, which is limited to veterans and family members.
