You might not be able to dine in, but you can still eat out

Be safe, but don't be bored with your meals

■ Many businesses selling food, drinks and sweets remain open in Northeast Oregon. A safe (and delicious) way to support the local economy is to try out what they offer. With innovation and hard work, these shops are practicing social distancing while providing an array of options: walk up, drive-thru, curbside pickup and contactless delivery. Union County businesses are listed here — Baker and Wallowa counties' offerings were published in the April 23 GO! and can be found at www.lagrandeobserver.com under the "coronavirus" tab — EO Media Group has made this online content free to all.
