“Movie: E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial”

Steven Spielberg’s 1982 sci-fi fantasy remains one of the most beloved films of modern times, with the bug-eyed title alien character and his 7-year-old co-star, Drew Barrymore, sharing the prize for adorability. Henry Thomas (“Legends of the Fall”) stars as the little boy who bonds with the stranded alien and helps him “phone home.” Dee Wallace and Peter Coyote also star.

“Range Rider”

Post-World War II Hollywood stuntman Jock Mahoney starred in this 1951-53 syndicated Western that cast him as a character known only as Range Rider, who had a reputation for fairness, fighting ability and shooting accuracy that was known far and wide, even by local tribes. Dickie Jones, Al Wyatt Sr. and Bob Woodward also starred in this black-and-white series.

“Movie: Patriots Day”

Mark Wahlberg and director Peter Berg teamed up for their third collaboration for this 2016 fact-based thriller based on a 2013 American tragedy, when sibling terrorists detonated two bombs during April’s Boston Marathon. Wahlberg stars as Boston Police Sgt. Tommy Saunders, who was involved in the subsequent investigation. Kevin Bacon, John Goodman, J.K. Simmons and Michelle Monaghan also star in the action thriller.

“Them”

Terror in America is the focus of this anthology series from executive producers Little Marvin and Lena Waithe, with its first season being set in 1950s Los Angeles, where a Black family faces malevolent forces both earthly and otherworldly after moving there from North Carolina. Deborah Ayorinde, Ashley Thomas, Alison Pill, Shahadi Wright Joseph, Melody Hurd and Ryan Kwanten head the cast. (ORIGINAL)
