Baker will be troubled by even less air pollution when Ellingson Lumber Company installs a pollution arrester on its plywood mill wigwam burner this week.

Although the Oregon Department of Environmental Quality has not approved installation of what is called the "Lausmann process air pollution control unit" in the wigwam burner, Ellingson will go ahead with the installation hoping it will get approval after it is installed.

RICHLAND — The City of Richland has received a $20,000 federal grant to replace downtown sidewalks and to help build a shelter at the community park.

David Schmitt, Pine District Ranger, announced the U.S. Forest Service Rural Community Assistance Program grant Friday.

The newest of two lightning fires burning in the Eagle Cap Wilderness has turned out to be the more active one.

The Pot Creek fire was reported Saturday near the Minam River, about 13 air miles east of Cove. It has burned about 120 acres, producing a smoke plume visible at times from Baker City. The older blaze, about two miles to the northwest on Jim White Ridge, has remained at about 5 acres for the past couple weeks.

ONE YEAR AGO

from the Baker City Herald
August 27, 2020

The Indian Creek fire scorched grass that would have fattened the Charolais cattle that Jeff Romans' family owns, but Romans was still thankful about one aspect of the blaze.

Its timing. Had the fire started not on Aug. 16 but a week or so later, Romans, whose family's ranch is at Westfall, about 50 air miles south of Baker City, would have had a much bigger problem.

More than a hundred newborn calves likely would have been in the path of the fire, Romans said, and possibly unable to flee the flames.

Some of the Romans family's purebred Charolais deliver their calves in late winter and early spring, as is typical in the region, but part of the herd is bred to calve in late summer.

And that's the part of the herd — about 175 cows — that was grazing on a Bureau of Land Management allotment when the Indian Creek fire started late on the morning of Aug. 16 just north of Highway 20 between Juntura and Vale. That's about 30 miles southwest of the Romans Ranch.

Westfall is an unincorporated town about 10 miles north of Harper, which is near Highway 20 about 22 miles west of Vale.

Romans said he was home that Sunday when he saw smoke billowing around 1 p.m.

He said he drove to the area that evening and by then the fire, the cause of which is still under investigation, had burned onto part of the allotment where his family's cattle were grazing.

OBITUARIES

'Cory' Pace

Spokane, Washington

Coriantumr M.

"Cory" Pace, 58, of Spokane, Washington, went to be with his Lord Jesus on Aug. 8, 2021, at his home.

There will be no service. Arrangements are by Gray's West & Co. Pioneer Chapel.

Even as a young boy he could fix just about anything. He also worked with wood, not just building and construction but carving and creating beautiful objects.

A member of Orchard Christian Fellowship, he built rock walls to beautify the church grounds, gathering and selecting each rock to install by hand.

He had a kind heart and tried to help others as he could. He was an artist and liked to nourish plants and people and was a good cook. He "adopted" a tree on the parking strip outside his apartment window.

He loved the outdoors, especially the area around St. George, Utah. In his younger years he rock climbed all over the red rock country of southern Utah. He rode his bike for miles, exploring the area around Spokane and chose to be baptized in the Spokane River.

Cory was much loved and will be forever in our hearts, his family said.

Cory is survived by his mother and stepfather, Karel and Elgin Dyer of Baker City; his father and stepmother, Larry and Veronica Pace of Texas; his brother, Paul S. Pace of Utah; his beloved son, "Cory" S. Pace of Utah; his friend, Vivian Romero of Spokane; his niece, Larissa, and her husband, Chad Laucomer of Oregon; and numerous aunts, uncles and cousins.

He was preceded in death by his brother, Larry B. Pace Jr.; his nephew, Jeremy B. Pace; both sets of grandparents; three uncles, one aunt and other loved ones.

Memorial donations can be made to any Salvation Army location of your choice.

David Coughlin

Formerly of Baker City, 1944-2021

David Coughlin died peacefully on Aug. 11, 2021, after living an incredibly full 77 years.

A celebration of this diverse and marvelous life will take place on Sunday, Sept. 19 at 4 p.m. at Quail Ridge Golf Course, 2801

Cory Pace

Indiana Ave. in Baker City.

Dave was born on March 7, 1944.

He graduated from Dartmouth in the class of 1966, then Willamette School of Law in 1969. He practiced law in Baker City until 2017 when he retired and ultimately moved to Bend in 2021.

Dave was a true risk taker who broke the mold at every turn. After being raised in Portland's Dunthorpe neighborhood and forming true friendships that would last a lifetime, he ventured from Portland society to embark on his own journey ... A journey that would lead him to create a thriving law practice in Northeastern Oregon, to hang off the side of Mt. McKinley in a bivouac, to claw his way through thousands of swimmers in the Mediterranean in the Triathlon World Championships, to marry the love of his life in a beautiful mountain meadow, to catch a touchdown against Princeton that would show up on the cover of the next day's New York Times, to cycle the Alps Tour de France routes, to skipper a sailboat in the British Virgin Islands, and to be caught in two Alaska avalanches. Never a moment missed!

He would describe his greatest achievement as being a father who devoted himself to the betterment and success of his daughter, Jennifer. Beyond that, he aided thousands through legal crises and mentored children in the SMART reading program while also serving as the community's volunteer swim coach and forming the town's first gym. He believed not only education, but also dedicated hard work was the key to success ... beliefs formulated from his adoration of his own mentor, Joe Loprinzi, at the Multnomah Athletic Club.

He will be remembered for his intelligence, integrity, kindness, fairness, and overall class.

To Dave Coughlin, life was an adventure to be 100% lived.

He is survived by his beautiful wife of 50 years, Lisa, and his daughter Jennifer. While he meant a great deal to many, he meant the world to these two people. However, in the end he was seemingly most fond of his handsome grandson, Jackson, and his dog, Ranger.
