

The music rides on

Ben Lonergan/East Oregonian, File

Dennis Zimmerman sounds the drum as a member of the Pendleton Mounted Band during the 2019 Pendleton Fourth of July Parade.

Cowboy Mounted Band dates to 1911

By Jennifer Colton
Go! Magazine

PENDLETON — There are only two active mounted bands in the United States, and one of them is in Eastern Oregon.

The Pendleton Cowboy

Mounted Band is a lot like a marching band ... if the musicians were riding horses instead of marching.

Originally founded in 1911, the Pendleton Cowboy Mounted Band was revived in 1985 and has performed on horseback every year since, with the exception of 2020. After a one-year hiatus due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the band is back in the saddle this year for its 35th season.

"We're excited to be back on horses, playing again," musical director Randy Morgan said. "It's fun to play an instrument — it's even more fun to play an instrument and ride at the same time."

Members travel from across the Pacific Northwest to practice, ride and play with the band each year.

Cattle Rancher Neva Hascall said it's a diverse but close-knit bunch.

"We have become more than just a group of people on horseback playing instruments," she said. "We are a family, supporting each other through times of happiness and grief, good friends who genuinely care about each other."

The band members range from retired teachers and current students to railroad workers and doctors. The youngest is 17, and the eldest member is "somewhere in their 70s" — one of the many who have played with the band since its revival in 1985.

Keeping the band moving also takes more than just musicians.

"We also have a very active ground crew, usually made up of family members who provide support from helping us get on our cowboy gear, grooming, helping saddle, feeding and making pizza runs," Hascall said. "We also have outriders who help wrangle horses and ride with us during performances. Their job is eyes on always to notice potential problems and help fix the issue before it becomes an accident and a horse or rider is injured."

Members also include riders who carry flags — representing the band, Round-Up and USA — before the group in parades, as well as honorary members who no longer ride.

Find photos and videos of the band on its Facebook page, Pendleton Cowboy Mounted Band.

During Round-Up week, you'll be able to hear the mounted band in the Westward Ho! Parade on Saturday, Sept. 17, which begins at 10 a.m., as well as in downtown Pendleton on Saturday morning and in the arena before the rodeo begins that afternoon.

If you are interested in joining the Pendleton Round-Up Mounted Band, email Amy Johnson at Pendleton. bandhorse@gmail.com. Band members must be at least 16 years old.

This Week at the Josephy Center for your protection MASKS ARE REQUIRED INDOORS

Wallowa Valley Festival of Art, September 17-19

Wednesday September 15: Walk-in-Wednesday Adult $20: 10a.m.-12p.m.
 Monday September 20: Creature Creation After School Workshop at The Place in Joseph
 Monday September 20: Intermediate and Advanced Ceramics Series: 6p.m.
 Tuesday September 21: Creature Creation After School Workshop at Wallowa Multipurpose room
 Thursday September 23: Foundations in Ceramics for Beginners Series: 10a.m.-12p.m.
 Thursday September 23: Murder at the Mission zoom discussion with author: 7p.m.

Call to Artists: Nature in the Abstract now open submissions due Midnight November 19
<https://josephy.org/event/nature-in-the-abstract-call>

We are accepting applications for paid internships deadline extended. For more information visit our website josephy.org and look under the about tab, or email DJ Lincoln at systems@josephy.org.

M. CROW

LOSTINE, OREGON

11 am to 7 pm Wednesday, Thursday, Sunday
 11 am to 8 pm Friday and Saturday
 541-569-2285

SCRATCH MADE
 BEER
 PIZZA
 DENIM
 AND MORE

GLACIER COLD • FAWN FRESH