“Movie: 12 Years a Slave”

The true story of Solomon Northup — a free man in the North who was kidnapped and became enslaved in the South — is told in director Steve McQueen’s superb 2013 telling of Northup’s own book, with Chiwetel Ejiofor excellent in the central role. Co-star Lupita Nyong’o earned awards for her wrenching portrayal of another slave. Michael Fassbender, Sarah Paulson and Brad Pitt also star.

“Movie: Here Comes the Boom”

Kevin James as a Mixed Martial Arts fighter? Unlikely, to be sure, but also reasonably fun in this 2012 comedy that suggests how far teachers will go to protect programs in their curriculum. That’s the setup as James plays such an instructor, who takes up fighting to raise the funds to keep students’ music playing in his high school. Salma Hayek and Henry Winkler also star.

“Movie: Burning”

From Australian filmmaker Eva Orner (“Chasing Asylum”) comes this documentary about the catastrophic Australian bushfires of 2019-20, which torched more than 59 million acres, killed an estimated three billion animals and affected millions of Australians. The story is told from the perspectives of victims of the fires, activists and scientists. (ORIGINAL)

“Harlem”

From “Girls Trip” creator Tracy Oliver comes this 10-episode comedy series that’s set in the title neighborhood in Manhattan and follows four stylish and ambitious girlfriends as they pursue the next stages of their careers, relationships and dreams. Meagan Good, Grace Byers, Shoniqua Shandai, Jerrie Johnson and Tyler LePley head the cast. (ORIGINAL)
