

On Nutrition: Keep the weight off

By BARBARA INTERMILL
Monterey Herald

L.K. from Illinois writes: "I eat well and I cook at home. I'm 5-foot-5 and 167 years old. I exercise three times a week with Silver Sneakers and golf nine holes riding a cart. I have just lost nine pounds due to health issues that are resolving themselves. How do I return to eating without gaining back those nine pounds?"

Portion control has been a downfall for me because I rationalize that what I eat is healthy, so fill my dinner size plate! Sounds like I have the answer, doesn't it! Still, I would like your comments and suggestions!"

Yes, you do have the answer, L.K. When it comes to weight gain, it really is true that we can get too much of a good thing. I actually thought you had all the answers before you clarified that you are only 67 and not 167 years old.

Your letter identifies a major challenge for us as we age. After 60, our bodies require more of certain nutrients (such as calcium). At the same time, we also need fewer calories than we did in our younger years.

How do we do that? Take a look at your current food choices. Many older Americans don't get enough vital nutrients from foods such as fruit, whole grains, dairy (high calcium) foods and vegetables, especially red and orange ones. And we tend to consume too many calories from goodies that are loaded with sugar and fat, especially the saturated type. We need to turn those tables.

That's where portion control can be a real friend. Let's say you've prepared a perfectly balanced meal: a small serving of protein such as meat, fish, poultry, eggs, soy or cheese; a cup of vegetables; a serving of a whole-grain food such as bread, crackers or brown rice; and a cup of milk or calcium-fortified soy or other beverage.

But then there's those cookies in the cabinet...

You can choose to have one or two. Or decide instead to cut fresh fruit into a pretty bowl and enjoy its natural sweet taste. That's one way to nourish your body with essential nutrients without blowing your calories for the day.

Good for you that you get regular exercise and choose healthful meals. Another strategy that will keep off the pounds is a simple one: Get on the scale once a week. If you see anything creeping up, adjust your portions down — with special attention to the low nutrient extras such as sweets, fats and alcohol.

Hope this helps. Thanks for writing.

TUESDAY, MARCH 15, 2022
YOUR BIRTHDAY by Stella Wilder

Born today, you maintain unique perspectives about all that you observe in life, and your keen intellect and incredible memory give you the capacity for critical thinking and comparative analysis that exceeds that of anyone else born under your sign. You rarely if ever encounter a problem that you have not, in some way, already anticipated and prepared for, and though you may have to meet a surprise with clever improvisation, much of what you think and how you have prepared will be instrumental in your successful navigation of whatever comes your way.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 16
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) -- You're in a very good position to see things just as they are, though that might not be completely satisfying. You can make adjustments!

ARIES (March 21-April 19) -- Your attitude may not be conducive to healthy interaction and cooperation today -- but that may not be a decision to make. Get it together!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) -- You have much that someone values, but you're not about to give it away. It's time to negotiate; you can begin by naming a fair price.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) -- You can pass up anything that is not quite to your taste today -- but take care, because you may be missing the chance to try something new.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) -- You have been working on an alternative to today's "requirements," and the time has come for you to suggest your changes to someone in charge.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) -- Once you've made the first move today, it will be difficult to stop -- or even slow down, perhaps. You must be sure you're ready to go!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) -- You can say much without saying anything at all today, as the people you are communicating with know how to interpret your silences.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) -- Focus on the details today, and don't let yourself miss anything that might have an effect on the outcome of your day. A friend calls to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) -- You may be asking for more than someone can give you today -- but that doesn't mean it won't come your way if you do the right things in order.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) -- Arrangements may not hold up to scrutiny today, as you try to reconcile timing with availability. You can dispense valuable advice!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) -- You may be so concerned with questions of "right" and "wrong" today that you have virtually paralyzed yourself. Get out and get moving!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) -- Certain complicated problems are like the proverbial putty in your hands today. Your way of solving them should win you a lot of praise.
