Benjamin Franklin

This two-part, four-hour documentary from Ken Burns, which concludes Tuesday, explores the life and work of one of the most consequential figures in U.S. history. While some have celebrated Benjamin Franklin's life as quintessentially American, the man himself was anything but typical, and he led many of the 18th century's most revolutionary changes in science, technology and government. The premiere, "Join or Die (1706-1774)," reviews Franklin's early success and explores how he sought to keep England and America together even as politics was tearing his family apart.

11 p.m. on USA
Mud, Sweat & Beards

Wilderness experts and real-life BFFs Donny Dust and Ray Livingston take on Mother Nature in this new four-part adventure series, which finds the pair traveling to some of the most remote locations on Earth to do what they love best: building primitive paradises. Dust and Livingston spend 10 days in each location, where they undertake such tasks as building elaborate shelters and tracking down natural food sources, while enduring extreme weather, hunger and predators. To them, it adds up to a fun vacation. First up: the Alaskan wilderness.
