

What's Available NOW On

"Sneakerella" (May 13)

This modern twist on the classic tale is set in the avant-garde street-sneaker subculture of New York City and follows El (Chosen Jacobs, "Castle Rock"), an aspiring sneaker designer from Queens who must hide his talent from his overburdened stepfather and mean stepbrothers before finding salvation in Kira King (Lexi Underwood), the daughter of a basketball star. (ORIGINAL)

"The Simpsons: When Billie Met Lisa" (Available now)

The Billie of the title of this animated short is none other than chart-topping artist Billie Eilish, who invites Lisa Simpson to the studio to jam with her and her brother Finneas O'Connell after discovering her as she was searching for a quiet place to practice her saxophone. (ORIGINAL)

"30 for 30: Fernando Nation" (Available now)

He may not fit the image of the blond-haired, blue-eyed kid from central casting, but Los Angeles Dodger rookie Fernando Valenzuela's performance in 1981 certainly qualified him for the role of hero. Filmmaker Cruz Angeles tells the story of the pudgy Mexican lefty who pitched the Dodgers to a title and helped revitalize a neighborhood torn apart by the building of Dodger Stadium in the 1960s.

"Expedition China" (Available now)

From DisneyNature and the makers of the 2016 film "Born in China" comes this feature-length documentary that brings viewers to the Central Asian nation to follow a team of adventurers as they explore the world's most remote wildlands within the Chinese frontier. Actress Maggie Q ("Pivoting") serves as narrator.
