"Students will learn about the art cultures of a different country or region each week," said Ryan McKnab, youth program director. "They will learn about what makes the countries unique."

Art lessons will include art styles, famous artists, famous artwork, landscapes of the country, famous architecture, sports of the country, flag symbolism, cartooning, foods/cooking of the region and fiber arts. The program will cover France, India, Caribbean, East Coast America, Baltic Nations, East Asia, Great Britain, Brazil, Australia, Rural America, South Africa and Egypt.

"We also will be collaborating with the local school district to weave in summer school for some kids," McKnab said. "We also have teamed up with a yoga leader and a tumbling instructor."

He said the summer program will include trips to the park each week and special events planned by the John Day Canyon City Parks and Recreation District.
