

GO!
EASTERN OREGON

contact us

Lisa Britton

Go! Editor

editor@goeasternoregon.com

541-406-5274

Sarah Smith

Calendar Coordinator

calendar@goeasternoregon.com

SUBMIT NEWS

Submit your event information by Monday for publication the following week (two weeks in advance is even better!).

Go! Magazine is published Wednesdays in the Hermiston Herald, Wallowa County Chieftain and Blue Mountain Eagle. It publishes Thursdays in The Observer, Baker City Herald and East Oregonian.

ADVERTISING AND SUBSCRIPTIONS

Baker City Herald

541-523-3673

The Observer

541-963-3161

East Oregonian

541-276-2211

Wallowa County Chieftain

541-426-4567

Blue Mountain Eagle

541-575-0710

Hermiston Herald

541-567-6457

What We're Into 'The Bear' on FX

I blew through FX's latest hit show "The Bear" on Hulu in just a few days. This chaotic, yet deeply feeling show set in the albeit dingy Original Beef of Chicagoland restaurant is — to me — a gleaming success. If the words "behind," "eighty-six," "hands" and "all day" mean anything to you, give this show a try.

While the series captures the overwhelming aspect of restaurant work, it also beautifully depicts the artistic vision and drive of those behind the line. In the chaos of the kitchen, the show's characters grapple with their own, very real challenges.

Jeremy Allen White — best known for his long-running role on the showtime hit, "Shameless" — plays a chef named Carmy, who has come home to save his family's restaurant after the death by suicide of his brother Michael (played in flashbacks by Jon Bernthal).

Carmy and his ambitious new sous-chef Sydney (Ayo Edebiri) scramble to bring order to the kitchen. The Beef's seemingly disparate kitchen staff can't catch a break, from exploding toilets to piling debt.

The pacing, cinematography and sound design of the show coalesce to create a cacophonous yet simultaneously melodic viewing experience — from quiet, calculated shots of a chocolate cake being prepared to the chaotic, flashing moments of kitchen mayhem. You feel as if you too should be getting to work, chopping onions or scrubbing down.

Having worked in the service industry, "The Bear" brought a very familiar stress bubbling to the surface. Still, dynamism and vulnerability of the show's characters kept the show refreshingly grounded and earnest. If nothing else, this show will make your mouth water, so don't watch on an empty stomach.

Frank Ockenfels/FX

— Shannon Golden, reporter,
The Observer

New releases

Bella Poarch, 'Dolls'

In theory this should work. With her massive TikTok following, Bella Poarch needed to strike while the iron is hot and release a studio EP. "Dolls" is it.

Now comes the tricky part. Will enough of Poarch's 91 million TikTok followers and pop music fans appreciate her six-track effort, or merely see it as a fame grab piggybacking on her curious ascent to the top of the social media heap?

"Dolls" is heavy on production, with Poarch offering little more than breathy coos above a mundane pop backdrop. Songs like "Build A Bitch" and "Dolls" have a decent message about self-identity, but they are delivered in fleeting and furtive fashion, with Poarch rushing clutches of lyrics past us instead of, well, singing.

— The Associated Press

ENRIQUE CHAGOYA

From the Collections of Jordan D. Schnitzer and His Family Foundation

The Thingly Thingness of Things, edition 14/30, 2013, Lithograph, 22 1/4 x 30 in.,

FREE ADMISSION

THROUGH
OCT. 6PENDLETON CENTER
for the ARTSGO!
GoEasternOregon.cominside every Thursdayarts events entertainment