YORK STATION GOSSIP

Schroeder & Aasen's Mill
Mgr. Chas. Schroeder took her departure last Sunday for Orange, Calif., for an extended visit with her people. She was accompanied as far as Marshfield by Mr. Schroeder, who returned to this place on Monday afternoon's train.

Allison, "Hobby" Roberts, of Myrtle Point, was a visitor at this camp last Tuesday.

Two new employees at the mill the past week are Raymond Endicott and Henry Carver, both of Myrtle Point.

Joe Yarbrough's wife, baby and mother arrived here on last Sunday afternoon's train. Joe's latest song is entitled: "Patrick, mind the baby," which is part of the initiatory degree.

W. W. Endicott, the village smith, butchered two fine, fat hogs last Sunday. Billie says, "If it's anything I like better than one piece of well cooked pork, it's two pieces."

Hank Fredenberg's smiling face has been missing at the dining table for several days; he was warned to be careful how he used Maher & Grosh's sharp cutlery. Law me, if folks would only listen to advice.

There will be a jolly good time dance at the 4 L hall at this place, including light refreshments. Music by the Miller-James-Bender trio, just off Pantages circuit. Floor managers will be as follows: Thomas Jefferson Gurney and Early-Late Steele. Vernie Hazen, of Grady's creek, will be official announcer for the evening.

Hat checker, Harry Sharkey.
John Hagensen, our head surveyor, says he is learning to like "Sour Kraut." They all find out sooner or later what's good for them.

Some eight or nine from this camp attended the Macy-Baird stock company show at Myrtle Point last Sunday night. The company played to a packed house.

The weather was rather variegated last Tuesday. In the morning Jack Frost, in the afternoon rain—and then more rain.

I say! Do you hear the rain, Mr. Candle? I'll say if he heard all the rain racket in the past five months, he must have an awful earache.

John Aasen, of Coquille, was here on business last Friday and Saturday.

The minimum wage at this plant, beginning Jan. 20th, will be $4.00 for eight hours, per notice just posted. This is said to be in excess of scale paid by other mills.

Frank Snow had business in Coquille Monday.

Those who travel the road from McKinley to Coquille say it has never been so bad for years. It has been found necessary for our truck driver to carry a set of road tools to build the road as he goes along.

Want Sky for the Limit

Auto truck owners at the Bay are protesting against the order of the County Court, which we published last week, limiting their loads to a ton and a half on county highways. They say it discriminates against large trucks. Of course it does, as any road limit to save our newly paved highways from destruction must. Did they expect an order discriminating
