Feeding By-Products.

In connection with the advertisement of the Oregon Dairymen's Cooperative League elsewhere published, the following notes in relation to the sale of skim milk, whey and buttermilk in large quantities by the League, will be found of interest:

"We find in many of our factories the old practice of selling or returning a part of the skim milk, whey or buttermilk, and wasting the rest. We are endeavoring to eliminate this condition and turn all by-products of our factories into money for the benefit of the producers. This can only be done advantageously by selling all of this product to one person, or a group of persons, at each factory, on a sufficiently long term contract as to enable them to build a stock feeding industry, which will justify a reasonable price for the by-product, with assurance that they are going to have the product continually to operate such an industry with.

"When sold direct to the producers there is usually a small portion of the total by-product sold, usually at an unreasonably low price, and the bulk of the by-product is wasted. It cannot be equitably apportioned when delivered back to the producers. Whey tanks become unsanitary, due to non-removal of the product, and those dairymen who do buy, return the whey in their milk cans which in turn ruins the milk shipped to the factory.

"In letting the contracts for this by-product, we obtain not only higher prices for our by-products, but we obtain a sale for the entire quantity and we get removal of the entire by-product every day, which insures cleanliness around the factory, and the elimination of the handling of whey and other by-products in milk cans, thus getting better cheese and butter.

"This is a fine opportunity for any one who is interested in feeding hogs, to establish a profitable business. If whey, skim milk or buttermilk is fed as an entire diet, the results are not so successful as they are where creamery by-products are used as the basis of a balanced ration.

"Anyone considering the purchase of these by-products may obtain from any of our factories, or Zone office, a copy of the contracts and also an estimate of the amount of product which they would receive the year round. We believe this is a step in the right direction and we would like to see a permanent stock feeding industry built up in the vicinity of each of our factories."

Final Games at Coquille.

The Coquille High School basketball team closed its season here last Friday night with another lost game, Bandon being the victor by a 25 to 18 score. The first half was very evenly contested, resulting in an 11 to 11 tie, but instead of the Coquille team growing more confident and playing better ball as the game progressed, it was Bandon which improved and was never stopped in the last frame. It was a fast game and only once was a noticeable attempt at a personal foul attempted, and that was on a Bandon player's part, when he tried to strike Albert Oerding with his knee. Umpire John Oerding ordered the offender out of the game but Bandon refused to go on if he was taken out and after a consultation between the school officials and coach it was decided to overlook the foul and permit the game to proceed.

The girls' game resulted in a 6 to 3 victory for Coquille after a hard fought contest.

The last game of the season will be played in North Bend this evening where Coquille boys will meet the team of that city.

Marshfield has won the county championship again as they have been doing with monotonous regularity for several years.

League Meeting at Portland.

Ivy Condon, W. C. Cutler, of Myrtle Point, W. C. Christenson, J. S. Capps, of Langlois, and James Jenkins, of the Coquille valley, returned Tuesday from Portland where they attended a meeting of the directors of the Oregon Dairymen's League, they being the representatives from the Coos and Curry zone.

W. C. Cutler said that he thought the meeting had settled some of the acute problems before them. They arranged to have the November pool closed at once and checks are to be sent out within ten days, he said. He did not know the exact basis on which payment would be made.

He said that the criticism that had been aroused in the payment of the October and September pools because of the high "overhead" would be eliminated in the future. There was a smaller volume of business in these months, necessarily the percentage for "overhead" would be higher. Under a new plan adopted, the "ever-lead," or cost of doing business, will be distributed over the entire year instead of being paid out of each month, and thus enable the "fat months" to aid in taking care of the "lean ones."—Coos Bay Times.
