Winchester Flashlights

There are several distinctive features about flashlights which bear the name of "Winchester." The lights are the result of a large amount of engineering study aimed at making them as perfect as a flashlight can be made, and at the same time more convenient and more satisfactory to handle.

Winchester Flashlight Switch is a great improvement over the regular flashlight switch. All threads of the Winchester flashlight cases are made of coarser pitch than is customary. This makes it much easier to put the parts together, as a person must do when they change batteries and sometimes on other occasions. There are several other features that Winchester flashlight users are enjoying over the old flashlight.

Come in and let us show you this new flashlight and see for yourself the new improvements this light carries.

MYRTLE POINT ITEMS.

G. W. Shelley, of North Bend, was over to Myrtle Point on business Tuesday.

Mrs. Fliccroft, of Fairview, was brought to town Tuesday and taken to Pemberton's Hospital, where she was operated on Wednesday by Dr. Low, of Coquille.

C. F. Waterman, of Bancroft, swore out a warrant Wednesday for the arrest of J. O. Stemmler for embezzlement.

T. H. Sedar, the tribe of Ben-Hur organizer, has succeeded in securing over thirty of some of the best people in town to join the order and expects to organize in a very short time. Meanwhile he will divide his time between here and Coquille as that is the next place where he expects to institute a court.

Mrs. J. C. Gibson, who was operated on at Dr. Clark's Sanitarium last week, is improving rapidly and expects to be out soon.

Mrs. R. A. Annin, of this city, left Saturday for Astoria, where she will attend the state convention of the Royal Neighbor lodge. She expects to visit relatives in the Willamette Valley before returning home.

Mang T. Aasen, of this city, made a business trip to Coquille Wednesday.

Russell C. Dement, of this city, made a business trip to Marshfield Tuesday.

The Macey-Baird company are putting on their plays at Myrtle Point again this week. They were scheduled to be at Marshfield this week but due to the fact that they are fixing over the Noble Theatre there they were unable to go. They are playing to full houses each night and are enjoyed very much by all.

John Aasen, of Coquille, was up here Monday taking after his interests in this locality.

Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Arrington, of North Bend, spent the week end in Myrtle Point visiting old friends and relatives.

J. O. Stemmler Falls

J. O. Stemmler, well known lawyer and millman of Myrtle Point, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. The papers reached A. H. Derbyshire, referee in bankruptcy, at North Bend Wednesday and March 28th has been fixed as the date of the first hearing of creditors.

Mr. Stemmler lists liabilities totalling $16,548.42 and assets totalling $16,480.30. He claims total exemption of $370.50 which includes his law library valued at $330.50.

His creditors are mostly Myrtle Point people and firms. They include B. C. Shull, Olive Shull, Mary Alice Luttrell, W. D. Hale, Carl O. Peterson, Catherine Stemmler, Geo. Bryant, K. Leep, Dr. L. G. Johnson and the Title Co.

Mr. Stemmler was manager of the Myrtle Point Mill & Lumber Co., which became involved last fall.—Times.

It seems a pity that a man whose assets will come so near covering his liabilities, and especially a man of Mr. Stemmler's standing in the community, should not be able to make some arrangement to satisfy his creditors without resorting to the bankruptcy court.

East Fork Notes

Wild currants have been in blossom for two weeks or more. The dandelions, yellow violets and pepper plants have been smiling for a longer time. Peach trees are in blossom, sheep sheared, cows eating grass and the song of spring is in the air.

Mr. and Mrs. James McDaniel, of Oregon City, are visiting Mrs. McDaniel's mother, Mrs. Aldrich, and her aunts, Mrs. Messer and Mrs. Ranney, of Brewster Valley. They came on the stage Monday.

Arthur Brown, of McKinley, was a passenger on the stage Monday bound for Brewster Valley.

Julius Benham went to Coquille Monday with team and wagon. An automobile is a poor freight wagon as the roads are now.

Frank and Rufus Howe may do some logging on the Howe place this summer.

Items From Arago.

Miss Radabaugh's room gave a very good entertainment last Friday afternoon and many of the parents attended.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Robison spent the week end at Myrtle Point and Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Carl, accompanied by Mrs. F. Lett and Miss B. Lane, went to Myrtle Point last Saturday night to see a play from the home talent of North Bend.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Schroeder and little son, J. H. Junior, spent a few days the first of the week visiting relatives at Arago.

Mrs. R. M. Bunn and children were visiting in Myrtle Point last week.

Southern Oregon Wants $32,000

In the Supreme court at Salem today the case of the Southern Oregon company against Coos county is to come on for hearing. For years that company had money deposited with County Treasurer Dimmick to apply in payment of its taxes as soon as it should be decided whether the United States or the company had the best claim to the lands. Finally the government compromised with the company and took back the lands. The money on deposit here then had to be returned to the company. Meantime the county had received a big sum from the banks as interest on these funds, and the company is now suing for some $32,000 on that account. If it is decided that the county has to pay interest on the money deposited with it to pay taxes when they become due, we shall certainly be surprised; but then $32,000 is worth fighting for.

Astoria Bridge Queers Bill

Why Senator Hall's original Roosevelt highway bill, which went through the senate almost unanimously, failed to become a law, is probably easily explainable. As soon as the Portland people found that the plan contemplated the bridging of the lower Columbia at Astoria, and that their city would be left a hundred miles off the main line of the coast highway, there was nothing more doing, so far as they and their representatives were concerned. The result was that the bill was so entirely different a proposition by the time it was passed, that its own father would never have recognized it as the same bantling.

Will Try Out Broccoli

Messrs. Blake and Legrande, who purchased the four-acre tract north of the cannery, will make a demonstration this season with an acre or more of broccoli under the direction of the county agent and with the assistance of the Oregon Agricultural college. They will keep a record of costs and receipts and endeavor to prove the adaptability of this section to broccoli culture.—Myrtle Point American.

The Myrtle Point Council has got cold feet in regard to the proposed bond issue for improving the city water works there. It has had its ears to the ground and the rumblings it hears are not regarded as favorable.
