A subscriber at Canby in remitting for the Sentinel and Oregon Farmer for another year, says they are "decidedly the best county and farmers' papers in the state." Thanks for the compliment. Our ambition is to make the Sentinel an even better paper than it is.

Barriers Down Early

Chris Terres, who was distributing bottles of the lactical fluid by wheelbarrow to his customers here this morning, says he has notice that the bars will be down at Cunningham at 6:00 o'clock tomorrow morning, after which the people out on the Marshfield road will no longer be living in a foreign country, but will have open, free and unlimited access to Coquille streets.

The Rebekahs and Odd Fellows of the local lodges formed a Three Link Club Wednesday evening, which will meet once a month. Its object is to give an entertainment every four weeks. Jack A. E. church of that city. Delegates are expected there from widely separated localities and a big attendance is expected besides from local Leagues on the Bay. Little will be taking place on Friday, excepting welcoming the delegates and getting them placed for the following two days.

Cars, Floats and Crowds

Yesterday's Coos Bay Times has this to say about the number of cars, the floats and the crowds that are coming over here from Marshfield tomorrow:

According to estimates by various Marshfield men who have been taking an active interest in the Coquille highway celebration Saturday, between 1200 and 1500 people from Coos Bay will be in attendance. The estimate on the number of private autos going from here to Coquille if the weather is reasonably fair is between 350 and 500.

Elmer Russell, who was here today, said he was at Bandon yesterday and he was informed there that more than 300 Bandon residents would attend. Myrtle Point is expected to furnish more than that many more and the outlying districts will be strongly represented.

Agent H. J. Mohr has not ascertained yet whether special train service will be provided.

This afternoon estimates of the number of cars going to Coquille Saturday were as high as 500.

This revived the old question of how many cars are owned on the Bay. According to the last available reports, there are 2,000 motor vehicles in Coos county and local auto dealers estimated that one-third of them are owned in Marshfield and North Bend.

Joe Williams of the special float committee stated at noon that Marshfield would have at least fifteen floats in the parade. Besides the municipal float which is under construction, Allen & Lewis, the Coos Bay Service Station, Going & Harvey, Isle Music Co., Noble theatre, Bateman garage, Marshfield Auto Co., Kerr, Gifford Co., Coos Bay Iron Works, the Hub, Lyons & Rooney and Pacific Fruit Co. have signed up.

Mr. Williams and a number of others have volunteered personal aid to the Coquille committee during the ceremonies Saturday.

Hillstrom Brothers, who are arranging to put on an auto truck line between Coos Bay and Myrtle Point, starting next Monday, have notified the Coquille committee that they will have two floats in the parade Saturday.

No Apology Intended

No, the Sentinel is not up to correct pitch this week—that is, to those subscribers outside the county, who have not been getting the Highway Celebration daily we have been publishing. But subscribers here in the county are getting five papers for one this week, in receiving all four of the dailies we have issued. To those who did not get these dailies we have simply to say that we won't treat them to so slim a repast again—at least not until Coquille is years older and we are called on to celebrate the completion of the highway from Portland to San Francisco by way of Roseburg, Myrtle Point, Coquille, Bandon, Gold Beach and Eureka.

Pure Bred Jersey Sale

Coquille Saturday, May 14
A big consignment sale of forty head of pure bred Jerseys will be held at Coquille Saturday, May 14, by a number of the Coos county breeders.

Col. J. W. Hughes, auctioneer; J. L. Smith, Sale Manager.
Following is a list of the breeders and number of animals consigned by each: V. H. Berkey, of Lee, his entire herd of 25 head; J. J. Morris, of Bandon, entire herd of 7 head; Victor Stauff, of Cooson, 3; I. Nordstrom, of Bandon, 1; Noah Black, of Reedsport, 2.

These animals are all very well bred, mostly Golden Glow Chief and St. Mawes blood, showing good records of production. They are also tested for T. B. and abortion.

Here is an excellent chance for any dairyman to buy some mighty good foundation stuff for his herd, with plenty of time and terms to pay for it. Sale list will be issued soon. If you want one, write or call J. L. Smith, Coquille.

Washing Boats

A yesterday's press dispatch from New York City says that police reserves had to be called out to hold back crowds that gathered when 600 gallons of real beer, seized by the police, were poured down a sewer.

Men and women carrying pitchers, basins and even cups, tried to break through the lines, but were driven back.

This reminds us of the time 25 or more years ago in our county seat town that we saw carloads of booze, which had been accumulated in the court house basement, piled up in the street in front of it for smashing. The bottles, kegs, barrels and cases there made a pile over a hundred feet long, ten or fifteen feet wide and about ten feet high. Of course, the laborers who broke the bottles, casks and demijohns took their toll at the fountain head. But we remember seeing an old plantation dandy dipping up some of the mixed drink with a tin cup from the gutter two blocks below.

Like a Run on the Bank

We told one of our bankers the morning we started on our daily stint of four days that we were exactly in the position of a bank on that day. If all its depositors took a notion to withdraw their entire deposits in one day, the bank would, of course, go broke; so if all the advertisers who had made contracts with us to furnish 400 and odd inches of advertising for the daily issue for four days should ask us to have their advertisements changed every day we would go broke, too, and fall down on our agreement to issue a daily paper. Fortunately all did not, but before the four days were over the advertiser who didn't ask for a change began to look like a life saver to us. Usually we like to see advertisers take interest enough in their announcements to want to change them each issue—but this time it was different.

Smith Mill Starting

At the close of the call for men to start the main Smith sawmill at Bunker Hill, the company had signed up approximately 450 men, and Wednesday the officials of the company were segregating them and making assignments of the force to the various departments where they will serve, commencing next Monday morning. The base pay, that is, the minimum, is said to be $3 a day, with skilled labor to be paid proportionately. The company, as was announced last week, expects that the East-side mill will not be idle more than two weeks, when both mills will be running at their former speed.—Marshfield Daily News.

The Flowering Highway

Along the highway toward Coquille, people who travel that way and tarry long enough to take in nature's offerings, are finding the beautiful rhododendrons blooming in profusion. Many have been bringing in generous quantities of the native flower in the past few days, and many a home is decorated with them. Toward the coast flowers are blooming in as yet stony numbers, but there is always a later crop down that way, which makes the season a lengthy one.—Daily News.

Haga-Church

A wedding of much interest to Coquille people occurred at the Methodist Church Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, the Rev. A. B. Pendleton officiating. The contracting parties were Mr. Orvil Haga and Miss Elizabeth Church. Miss Lundy Church, sister of the bride, acted as bride's maid and Mr. Anell Haga, brother of the groom, stood as best man.

Mr. Haga has a responsible position with the Standard Oil company in this city. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Church, and one of Coquille's most popular young ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Haga left for Eugene on the afternoon train. After a short visit there they will be at home to their friends at their home on Knowlton Heights.

Safety First

Short skirts are believed by John H. Truitt, United Railways supervisor of safety in Baltimore, to help materially in lessening the number of accidents to women and girls alighting and boarding trolley cars.

While the awkward long skirts of bygone days have generally disappeared, high heels still rank as a fertile cause of accidents.

Truitt was disinclined to discuss the angle that pretty misses and matrons by gracefully boarding cars, clad in the aforementioned short skirts serve to keep men from boarding in a rush. His way of viewing the short skirt was in its cold relation to safety, and no amount of intriguing could induce him to speak of it otherwise.
