

THE GREAT ESCAPE

TRAILING THE COWBOY
 Another of those comedies that will make you forget your troubles.

THE GREAT REDNECK
 A picture tells the gripping story of a cowboy who was captured through a mistake on a frontier trail. We want to see that picture because you will see it in the picture. A story of the Great West, with wild horse wars of frontier romance, and leads back to a period when Western picture were not the poorest phase in which a condemned man might have to "work out" his sentence. A picture in which the Critics have failed to find a flaw.

THE SCARE CROW
 Another of those comedies that will make you forget your troubles.

THE BIG ADVENTURE
 A Universal Picture
 This kid is a real picture star of the age of five. In this play he is a wall and his best friend in his day, Mickey. This is the greatest kid and dog picture ever made. Big Hank Finn and Tom Sawyer and your own kid days all rolled into one. Chuckle—Tinkle—Laugh—Tears—Love—Drama. Everything that makes a good picture. Don't miss this play and his dog in this week for Greatness. Did you ever think of this? "Sawyer, turn backward, or there is try fight! Mickey and a child again—just for tonight!"

CINDERELLA'S TWIN
 A Metro Picture
 A fascinating picture with the Cinderella motive—and much more.

"CASE CUSTOMERS"
 A Metro Picture
 From scullery to palace—and all because she built air castles when washing dishes.

CHILDHOOD AND AGE

Where Car Is It?
 Yesterday Deputy Sheriff Malheur was trying to figure out the owner of an automobile which was placed in Graham's Garage this week for repairs by W. C. Coons. On the state auto license registry a Mitchell car bearing tag No. 22222 is listed as belonging to E. W. Brown, of Newburg. The register number listed is 70222. When contacted by Mr. Malheur he found the car here had the correct registry number but that the engine number had been changed over with the figure 70222.

A few days ago Malheur stopped an attachment on the car for $25.00 and costs on complaint of Henry Brown, of Myrtle Point, who had put

Meeting of School Board

The board of directors of School District No. 9 met at the First National Bank Wednesday evening and allowed a number of bills which had accumulated since their last meeting.

The clerk was authorized to secure bids for necessary school supplies. They have also elsewhere in this issue advertised for bids for the construction of a concrete sidewalk along the Tenth street side of the new school building, for concrete steps leading from the street to the grounds, and on the grounds as needed.

Supt. Parr was authorized to purchase an office desk and chair for the superintendent's office.

The clerk's salary for the coming year was fixed at $2000 per annum, the same that it has been for the past year.

Battle of the Argonne

The Marshfield American Legion is advertising the Battle of the Argonne to be held at the fair grounds over there the night of Aug. 28th, in connection with the R. F. O. E. convocation. The material for this event is furnished by the U. S. army and the over-alls soldiers and Marshfield National Guard company will participate in the event.

The parade will be held at 10 a. m. in Spworth League driveway leading to the school building.

The naval march on the Duaneville will also be featured, after which will be a ball, exhibition of fireworks and an picnic will close the program.

It's the playing up money in the street to get the Oregon Farmer out for a year or a pair of only 15 cents when subscribing for the Standard.

Death of Mrs. W. A. Toys

Mrs. W. A. Toys, wife of Dr. Toys, of Marshfield, died Tuesday morning at 11:30 a. m. at her home, where she had been visiting a sister. Dr. Toys had been called south on account of her illness, and she had undergone an operation at San Francisco, from which she was thought to be recovering but a change for the worse developed and she passed away.

The funeral was held at 2 p. m. at her home, her former home. She was one of the most highly esteemed women of Marshfield and her death is a sad blow to her friends and acquaintances.

To Replace With a New Car

A representative of the insurance company, in which Henry Beuhner has his automobile insured against accident, was here Tuesday and informed Melvin Hollenback that his company would replace with a new car the one damaged on the highway a couple of weeks ago. He said this was the second car they had had to replace on account of Beuhner's reckless driving. This does not mean, however, that the charge against Beuhner in Justice Stanley's court is to be dropped.

Funeral of Mrs. Burkholder

The funeral of Mrs. Frank Burkholder, at the residence last Sunday afternoon, was very largely attended. Rev. L. M. Anderson, of Myrtle Point, conducted the services at the home, while those at the cemetery were in charge of the Pythian Sisters. Mesdames C. T. Shook, F. G. Leake, Geo. E. Johnson and Mrs. June Willey formed the quartet which furnished the vocal music.

Coquille Methodist Church

Rev. H. S. Shangle, of Milton, Ore., will preach at the evening service and at the close of the service Rev. Mr. Foster will hold the fourth Quarterly Conference. Preaching at 11 a. m. by the pastor. Sunday School at 10 a. m. Spworth League devotional meeting at 7 a. m.

A. E. Pennington, Pastor.

It only costs 15 cents more to get the Oregon Farmer when subscribing for the Standard, and overpay agrees it is the biggest 15 cents' worth of reading they ever saw. The Farmer is issued weekly.

Why not send the Standard to some nature friend?

Pioneers Brought Game of Quota. Quota came to the American colonies with the first of the hardy pioneers from the rural regions of England, and especially those who came from the backcountry of England and Scotland. Before the days of gunpowder quota was a popular in England that the subjects of kings began to neglect the practice of archery, and King Edward III and King Richard II prohibited the playing of quota that men and youths should put in more time on archery. A four-legged and bitter-tempered old reformer named Ascham wrote a book in 1547, and among other things set down in his musty pages is that "Quota be too vile for scholars." He probably meant that it was a game to be played only by common people.

How's Fats Economy. An important point in a roof is the use of a proper nail. Many builders nowadays lay a shingle roof with ordinary steel wire nails, instead of 3 1/2 or 4d galvanized cut iron nails, writes Arthur Newton Pack in the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. The steel wire nails are much easier for the carpenter to hold in his mouth, as well as somewhat cheaper, and more readily obtained, but they rust very quickly under the influence of the wood acids. As time passes these nails thus permit the shingle to buckle and warp, and in event of fire the loosened pieces readily fly off and become a menace to neighboring property. Why use a 25-year shingle with a five-year nail!

Indian Anesthetic. While Indians have no anesthetics, properly speaking, their constant use of "cocoo" creates insensibility. They always apply this plant to wounds, bruises and contusions for healing purposes, and, as it certainly tends to deaden pain if not to eliminate it, they unconsciously employ an anesthetic. It is extremely difficult to obtain information from Indians regarding trephining, either merely because of their dislike of white men and their dread of interference and punishment, or because they associate "magic" with the practice and therefore think it must be protected by profound secrecy.

Barometer Reading. Generally speaking, a falling barometer indicates rain; a rising barometer, fair weather. A steady barometer forecasts a continuance of the weather at the time; when low, this is generally broken or bad, and when high, fair. A sudden fall usually precedes a storm, and the violence of the wind is in proportion to the barometric gradient. An unsteady barometer indicates unsettled weather, gradual changes indicate the approach of some permanent condition. However, the connection between changes of weather and the pressure of the atmosphere is by no means well understood.
