EAST FORK NOTES

George Black, Mrs. Black and the little Blacks, of Marshfield, Fred Weaver, Mrs. Weaver and the little Weavers, of Coos River, came up for a camping trip on the East Fork Saturday night and returned Monday.

Mr. Langworthy and son, of Marshfield, were also enjoying with Lloyd Leatherman and the Howe boys the scenery of the East Fork and the fishing game.

Keith Leslie and Hugh Harlocker camped at the club grounds and fished.

Inez Easton, who attended the Benkle-Walker business college in Portland for a few weeks this summer, is teaching in the high school at Pilot Rock. May, a little girl in whom Inez became interested when in Portland, has a home at Mountain Glade ranch. She got here Saturday.

Inez telegraphed her mother Tuesday night to meet them at Eugene Thursday. The Myrtle Point telegraph operator mailed the dispatch and it came in the mail Saturday.

Inez had to come on to Coquille, she phoned her mother Friday morning to come to Coquille. She caught a stage, met Inez and May at the Coquille rest room. Inez took the night train for Portland and had to be at Pilot Rock, Eastern Oregon, by Monday morning.

Lanier University must be some university when the "colonel," who is the big Ike of the Ku Kluxers, can be chosen to be its president. The bolsheviks and the Ku Kluxers are great for pretenses of the more holy than thou kind; their holiness is all drawn from the depths of the pit and their ability as "educators" is that of a slugger and murderer. If Lanier University would import some bolsheviks from Russia for professors, they and the Ku Klux president would make a great team for getting their inspiration from the depths of the pit.

Good morning Mr. Normalcy, a question if you please. Why do you crawl? If it is all right to make a "scrap of paper" of the treaty of the Panama Canal with England, why do you ask congress to delay the scrapping; is it because you are debating at the forks of the road where the sign boards read to honor and dishonor?

building is here and has started his work. Forms for the foundation were built and concrete poured for a portion of the structure before the excavation was completed.

Mr. Huls states that while he has 200 working days in which to complete the contract it will be his ambition to get the building up and completed just as quickly as possible. He plans to have it under cover before the rains set in, after which he can carry on the finishing work during any sort of weather.—Coos Bay Harbor.
