A story with a moral and a picture with a punch. The story has all the pictures and comedy of life as it is, which is faithfully portrayed in a manner that will allow the exhibiting of this production to a Sunday School class, without offense, and which at the same time has retained the "kick" which will satisfy the most rabid fan. It's a picture with a "kick," but no kickers.

Celebrating Golden Wedding

A very pleasant picnic was held at the grove at Fairview last Sunday, September 4, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barker, who have sold their home and are moving to Myrtle Point. The gathering was in the nature of a farewell party, and also a celebration in anticipation of their golden wedding anniversary, which will occur September 14.

About sixty friends and relatives were present—mostly every family in the neighborhood being represented—and a homelike feast of good things was spread before the guests. A beautifully decorated bride's cake was placed before the honored couple, who have spent nearly the whole of their married life in this little valley.

After dinner a social time was spent in visiting and in informal singing. Then Mr. Barker was called upon to give some of his early experiences in Coos county.

In response, he said that he first came down in the fall of 1870 over the Bywater trail to see a certain young lady, (Miss Mary Caroline Norris). There was only a trail from the main road at Fairview, then known as Burton Prairie, up to the Norris farm, which has been the Barker home for the last twenty years. The next year he persuaded Miss Norris to promise to go back with him to Douglas county to live. They were married in the fall of 1871 and made their home near Roseburg for a short time, but later returned to Fairview to carve a pioneer home in the forest of the North Fork. A number of years later they bought the old Norris farm, where they have lived ever since.

Mrs. Barker's parents came from the Willamette Valley in 1860. Before her marriage Mrs. Barker taught several terms of school in the county, being the very first teacher in the Marshfield school.

Mr. and Mrs. Barker have reared a family of seven sons and one daughter, whose homes are scattered over the county.

For forty-one years Mr. and Mrs. Barker have sent from their home each year one or more children, either their own or their grand children, to the Fairview school of which Mr. Barker was a director for many years. They have always taken an active interest in the affairs of the community and their presence will be missed by their old neighbors.

Another Golden Wedding

Last Saturday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. E. M. Olson, at Fat Elk, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Shields, of Bancroft, celebrated their golden wedding with 75 relatives, friends and neighbors in attendance. The happy event was enlivened with a program and a big dinner. Of their nine living children, seven were present for the occasion, all but one of their children living in Coos county, the other in Klamath Falls. They all so have 20 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

September 2, 1871, John C. Shields and Sarah Lavina Rice were married in St. Peter, Minn., he at the age of 19, while she was 14 years old. In 1873 they moved to Texas but went back to Minnesota in 1874. In 1876 they left Omaha over the old Oregon trail, in a wagon train of 77 stopping at Boise, Idaho, for a year. In 1877 they moved to Calif., Wash., and five days after their arrival there he enlisted for the Nez Perce Indian war. In 1891 they came to Coos county and have resided here ever since except for a year spent in Alberta; and Mr. Shields is not an Alberta booster, either.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Shields are in good health and appear to be good for many more anniversaries. Mr. Rice, Mrs. Shields' father, resides with them at Bancroft. He is now past 87 years.

Four Score and Seven

Last Tuesday was the day for the regular monthly meeting and dinner of the Woman's Relief Corps, at which time they entertain the old soldiers of the G. A. R. and their families. The meeting this week had a deeper significance, however, for it was also in honor of the birthday of Comrade D. P. Strang, who last Thursday attained the age of four score and seven, and is still as hale and hearty as many men twenty years his junior.

The dinner was held in the myrtle grove and at least 50 of the Corps, old soldiers and their families were present. Cutting the special birthday cake was one of the features of the splendid dinner served. Another feature was the recitation by Mrs. L. C. Newman.

The Sentinel joins with his many friends in congratulating Mr. Strang and in wishing him many more such happy events.

Companionship, not superiority of one over the other, is proven to be one of the worth while things of life in Lois Weber's "WHAT'S WORTH WHILE" at the Liberty Sept. 14 and 15. Program on page three.

100 Phenacene Shipped Here

Lois Leaver received word from Deputy Game Warden McClelland Tuesday that 100 Chinese Phenacene were being sent from the state game commission here to be released in the Coquille valley. These birds will be distributed at various points between here and Myrtle Point and in the Fairview valley.

This action comes as a result of the publication of Game Warden Burghoff's letter, published in the Sentinel a couple of weeks ago, in which the latter stated that Chinese Phenacene and Bob-white quail did not thrive in the coast country because of the wet springs and predatory animals. Mr. Leaver took it up with Mr. Burghoff by letter, and the game warden replied that he did not have reference to the Coquille valley, as he was aware that phenacene thrived here. The shipment of the birds quickly followed. They are well developed and will be released on the higher land back from the river for their better protection when the winter freshets come.

Coquille Loses Two Games

Coquille lost both Sunday and Monday in the ball games over at North Bend. On Sunday Harry Cording pitched for Coquille, with Peterson on the mound for the Bay team. The score was 9 to 6. North Bend out-hit Coquille, 13 to 9. On Labor Day Berg opposed Lefty Schroeder. North Bend touched the former up for nine hits and seven runs, while Lefty shut the locals out with two hits. Coquille made eleven errors in the two games as against North Bend's nine.

Marriage Licenses

Sept. 2—Benjamin Chas. Roberts, of Lakeview, and Elizabeth Yarna McCulloch, of North Bend. They were married the same day by Justice E. H. Jochak at his office, in Marshfield.

Sept. 7—George Wright Galvin and Ella V. Akor, both of North Bend.

Probate Court News

September 6, John F. Hall filed a petition for the administration of the estate of Jno. A. Davis, deceased, who left real property valued at $100 and personal estimated at $4,000. Margaret J. Davis, of North Bend, was appointed executrix and L. M. Wier, J. W. Davis and John F. Hall, appraisers. The widow and son are the two heirs.

Since Lois Weber told us how "To Please One Woman," she comes forth with an explicit explanation of "WHAT'S WORTH WHILE?" At the Liberty Sept. 13 and 14. Program on page three.
