"ATONEMENT"

A Pioneer Attraction

Story of the joys that were and the sorrows that might have been. To live, to love, to feel the treasures of life slipping from our foolish grip—that is anguish; but to live to love, to hold within our hands the reins of our life is joy. "Atonement" shows both the anguish and the joys of life.

"THE CONQUERING POWER"

With Alice Terry and Rudolph Valentino

Adapted to the screen by June Mathis from the story by Balzac. A sentimental story and a flawless picture. It is not another "Four Horsemen" but classed among the best of last year. Mr. Ingram, the producer, Alice Terry and Rudolph Valentino of the "Four Horsemen" have not lost any of their glory in this picture, but have set a still higher standard. Certainly no better feature of the season has appeared at this Theatre. See it!

Rob North Bend Attorney

While A. H. Derbyshire and family, of North Bend, were away from home last night some thief took advantage of their absence and made a comfortable cleaning of the interior. Many good and necessary articles were taken, among them a silk dress belonging to Mrs. Derbyshire, a toilet set, also hers, underclothes and other things, amounting, as Mr. Derbyshire estimates to over $100. Money, which was in an easy place to find, was overlooked. The burglar climbed through a window of the home, when he could have entered the door, which was not locked.

Mr. and Mrs. Derbyshire found burned matches in most of the rooms in their home, indicating the thief had not intended to overlook anything. —Daily News.

Johnson's Mill

I am just bound to write and tell everyone of the beautiful weather we are having. It is just like spring and makes me want to plant garden.

Mr. and Mrs. Plenep and son, Ralph, of Albany, came down and spent the holidays with relatives and friends. Mrs. Plenep is a sister of Mrs. W. D. Newton.

Charles Newton's little girl, who had typhoid fever, is about well again. Ben Knife and family have moved to this place. They now live in the Clinton house.

Rame Beckham and Mrs. E. M. Beckham, of Myrtle Point, visited E. B. Finley's one day this week.

Misses Fay and Myrtle Newton, who are in college at Philomath, spent the holidays with home folks and returned to school on New Year's day.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cleghorn, of Portland, are here visiting R. B. Knife's family. They expect to leave for Salem soon to look for a location.

Miss Bessie Finley, who spent two weeks' vacation at home during the holidays, returned to her school last Sunday.

Mrs. Hazel Shores, of East Fork, spent a night last week at the Finley home.

Little Lauren Knife is now in school at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barker, of Coquille, spent Saturday and Sunday at the Knife home.

Rev. Mr. Shumard filled his regular appointment at this place Sunday.

Mr. George Newton left Tuesday for Portland. He will take a mechanical course at that place.

Rev. Mr. Garrett came down on the train Sunday morning, walked up to Fishtrap, preached at that place, came back to Finley's, ate dinner and caught the 3 o'clock train back to Myrtle Point.

Mrs. J. E. Stone, of Coquille, spent the day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Finley last Tuesday.

Rawleigh Newton, of Klamath Falls, came home and spent the holidays with home folks, returning Tuesday. He has a position with a lumber company there.

E. B. Finley just received a letter from C. M. Irvine, of Fitzgerald, Canada. He is a brother of R. H. Irvine, of Coquille. The letter was dated December 15. Mack says he is in the Land of the Frozen Sun, on the Slave River. The ice is already 29 inches thick, and the inhabitants say cold weather has not set in yet. He says there are two trappers to every rat. The nearest settlement is Peace River Crossing, and that is 680 miles away. It is over 1200 miles to the Arctic. Of course, there are trading posts about every 100 miles and they all want to sell something and everything is cheap. Bacon is a dollar a pound; a 3-lb. pail of lard is $3.50; Sugar $60 per 100; flour $12.50 per sack. He adds, "I will not tell you what tobacco is worth for I know you would laugh." Slave River, is about the size of the Columbia, but a more rapid stream. It froze over Oct. 26 and will stay frozen until June 1st.

Meat is plentiful there, such as bear, moose and caribou. Lots of buffalo, too, but they are protected.

Last fall the geese and ducks were plentiful and they have some that they killed early in October frozen up solid. The Indians laughed at his fishing tackle, for they seldom catch a fish under 25 pounds—from that to 60 pounds. He says it is too tame there for them and they aim on going on to the Territory next year.

The sun rises about 10:30 or almost rises and goes down in the same place. They made a scow and put oars on it and went down the river. They were on the river nineteen days; but he did not get tired watching the Northern Lights play in the sky.

They are never twice the same, always changing. They are caused by the electricity in the air and you can hear it sizzle and fizz as they dart back and forth across the skies.

They have to light their glim about three p. m., but they have about two and a half hours twilight. Mack says if he is bound to have him a dog team next winter. They have two mails in winter and three in summer. Think they will do pretty well there, for the spring catch is always the best and they have over $600.00 now. He has not had a letter from any one since he left Coquille.

Probate Court Items

A petition was filed in the Probate Court last Friday for the adoption of the infant Archibald Richard Kingsley by Archie O. and Bonnie Walker.

The next day one was filed for the adoption of Madge Wilson by W. T. and Edith A. Irish.

Some Errors Corrected

Last week the Sentinel copied an item about the leper Mitrou, at the county farm, from the Coos Bay Harbor, of which the following is the concluding paragraph:

Mr. Mitrou was discovered to have leprosy about a year ago, and was then isolated on the poor farm. Every evening and morning he is required to lower and raise the American flag so that the superintendent of the poor farm knows that he is there. About twice a week food is brought to the leper and left near his cabin from where he gets it.

Mr. F. R. Ellis, the superintendent at the farm says this is all wrong. He adds that instead of being fed about twice a week, Mitrou receives his food every day and sometimes twice and three times. He adds that Mitrou is fed better than any of the rest of the people at the farm. For instance, during the past month the bill for the county farm at the butcher shop was between six and seven dollars and every cent of it was for Mitrou. The rest of the people there ate ham and bacon and the products of the farm, but when ham was offered to Mitrou he always threw it away, whether from religious or sanitary scruples we do not know. But he is the pet of the farm so far as his meat diet is concerned.

In the item referred to, the Harbor also tells about blankets having been sent to Mitrou by the Marshfield Red Cross. Mr. Ellis says if such was the case he knew nothing of it; but that Mitrou always told him he was amply supplied with bedding and was comfortable.

Mr. Ellis has talked with Mr. McDaniels about this baseless article, and that the latter will be glad to make the corrections asked. He explained that the item was clipped from another paper; but he failed to give credit. The Sentinel has learned that it is usually the case that items in the bay dailies about Coquille valley matters are badly mixed, and that it is necessary to verify them, if possible, or if not, to give full credit if we use them. Usually when we do check them up, we find it necessary to write an entirely new article.

Rights of Way Secured

The committee of Marshfield men who have been engaged in securing the right-of-way for the new unit of the Coos river highway have all deeds in hand for the distance between Catching inlet and the forks of the river, with one exception, that where the road crosses the Hauschilde ranch.

Fines Collected at Bandon

The total amount of fines collected by the City of Bandon police department during the ten months since March 1, 1921, is $1010. Of this amount $810 was on liquor charges, $52.50 was for back fines, and the balance water and automobile fines. This is a decided increase over collections in that line during previous years. —Western World.
